Batwoman

E4 HD

There'll be a new caped crusader in town when Batwoman brings her crime-fighting skills to E4 later this month. The latest series from producer Greg Berlanti – the man behind Supergirl, Arrow and The Flash – stars Ruby Rose as Kate Kane, AKA Batwoman, the first LGBTQ superhero to have their own TV show.

Kate is the cousin of Batman's alter ego Bruce Wayne, and the action follows her return home to Gotham. Since Batman's disappearance three years earlier, criminals have been running amok and Kate quickly suits up to dedicate herself to defending the city. As the series progresses, Batwoman will face a rogues' gallery of foes, including supervillain Alice (Rachel Skarsten).

'Batwoman is kind of like Batman,' explains Australian-born Rose, who starred in Orange Is the New Black. 'She's no-nonsense and very stern. She's cheeky but she doesn't speak a lot.'

Dougray Scott co-stars as Kate's ex-military father Jacob, who has a grudge against Batman. 'Kate has been through a lot,' adds Rose, 33. 'Her sister died, her mum died, her dad doesn't want her, and she was kicked out of the military. There's not a lot of room for happiness, but she's got a purpose as Batwoman.'

A motley crew!

A host of celebrities compete in a gruelling rowing race for Sport Relief

NEW FUNDRAISER

The Heat Is On: Sport Relief

Wednesday, BBC1 HD, 8pm

Sport Relief

Friday, BBC1 HD & BBC2 HD, from 7pm

Sport Relief is back this week for more fun and fundraising. The BBC's biennial charity telethon airs this Friday with sketches and appeal films aimed at tackling mental-health issues, domestic abuse, homelessness and child poverty.

One of the centrepieces is Clash of the Channels, in which celebrities take to the water at Salford Quays for an epic rowing race between the BBC, ITV, C4 and Sky.

Among those taking part are This Morning's Dr Ranj Singh on Team ITV, Made in Chelsea's Jamie Laing for C4 and newsreader Dermot Murnaghan for Sky, while Breakfast's Louise Minchin is in the BBC boat.

Minchin admits that learning to row has been 'a sharp learning curve', despite advice from her Breakfast co-host Dan Walker, who helped row the BBC team to victory for Sport Relief in 2018.

'I've got huge respect for rowers, because it's really technical,' she says. 'If you get it wrong, everybody in the boat is affected. I've been told the team that wins is the one that doesn't make mistakes. But if I fall in, we'll probably raise more money!'

The race is not Minchin's only contribution to Sport Relief this year. She joins Rob Rinder, Frankie Bridge, Samantha Womack, Nick Grimshaw, Krishnan Guru-Murthy, Karim Zeroual and Dr Zoe Williams on a trek through the Namib Desert.

The trip was arranged after a planned ice triathlon in Mongolia was cancelled due to the coronavirus threat.

In The Heat Is On: Sport Relief, on Wednesday, cameras follow Minchin and the team as they travel 100 miles on foot, by bike and even skis, from the source of the Kuseb River towards Namibia's Skeleton Coast, all in intense heat.

SOARING TEMPERATURES

'I've done triathlons in extreme environments and marathons after cycling 180km, but this is beyond anything I've done before,' says Minchin.

NEW COOKERY

The Great Celebrity Bake Off for Stand Up To Cancer

Tuesday, C4 HD, 8pm

The legendary 'tent of dreams' is welcoming more famous faces for this year's The Great Celebrity Bake Off for Stand Up To Cancer on C4.

Hosted by Noel Fielding and Sandi Toksvig, 20 celebrities will offer up their best bakes to impress judges Paul Hollywood and Prue Leith and win the Star Baker apron.

'Many of this year's bakers haven't much baking experience, so there are mixed results,' reveals Hollywood, 54. 'But they surprise themselves with what they produce and some excel.'

SURPRISING SCENES

The first episode of the five-part series sees broadcaster Louis Theroux, comics Jenny Eclair and Russell Howard and Love Island star Ovie Soko make giant biscuits in the Signature challenge and a choux sculpture depicting their perfect day for the Showstopper.

'We had biscuits that look like a pizza and even a scene depicting one celebrity swimming with pigs!' smiles Hollywood.

The teams in training

‘There’s a mental challenge, too. But I have ways of coping.’

However she fares, Minchin is proud to be doing her bit.

‘I know that Sport Relief money makes a difference,’ she says. ‘This year, we’re focusing on mental health, and if we help one person when they’re in a bad way, that’s a reason to do this.’

In later heats, we’ll see movie star Richard Dreyfuss, actor James Buckley, tennis ace Johanna Konta and singer James Blunt also try to prove that they know their way around an oven.

‘The first film I saw at the cinema was Jaws with Richard Dreyfuss, so it was a joy meeting him. He’s a legend,’ says Hollywood. ‘And James Buckley made me laugh a lot...’

Johanna Konta and James Blunt

Despite having to taste some of their dodgy culinary concoctions, Hollywood says he greatly admires all those taking part.

‘I have a lot of respect for them,’ he says. ‘They’re raising money for a great cause and it takes guts to walk into that tent. You feel the pressure – it’s not easy. But that’s the beauty of the show.’

Is Corrie's Steve in danger?

RELIEF EFFORT

Friday’s telethon will be hosted by Gary Lineker, Paddy McGuinness, Maya Jama, Emma Willis, Alex Scott, Oti Mabuse, Rylan Clark-Neal and Tom Allen. Here’s what to look out for...

• In a Line of Duty spoof, AC-12’s finest grill a suspected corrupt cop (Jason Isaacs) about the identity of ‘H’. But his inept lawyer (Lee Mack) causes problems.

• Killing Steves, a Killing Eve send-up, sees famous Steves, including Olympian Sir Steve Redgrave and Corrie’s Steve McDonald, targeted by a mysterious blonde assassin.

• Comic Romesh Ranganathan and British tennis ace Sir Andy Murray take part in a mini-golf version of The Open in A Round with Rom.

• AJ and Curtis Pritchard will perform a special live dance routine after sharing moves on social media during the week.

• A Question of Sport Relief features Paddy McGuinness, Chris Kamara, Mel Giedroyc and Tom Davis, while Tom Allen, Johnny Vegas, Phill Jupitus, John Barrowman and Aisling Bea uncover quite interesting sporting facts in a QI special.

CORONATION STREET

Gary’s revenge on love rival Ali leads to tragedy

» Having found out Ali bedded Maria, Gary’s determined to teach his love rival a lesson, and tasks loan shark Sharon with doing the honours. But he’s horrified to see the results of Shazza’s shenanigans – Ali being stretchered into an ambulance after collapsing from a diazepam overdose. Ali, meanwhile, is stunned when he comes around and deduces that Gary – or someone acting on his behalf – spiked his drink.

Ryan thinks the former diazepam addict is in denial and desperately trying to cover up a relapse. But Ali’s convinced Gary is trying to kill him. In a rage, he kidnaps Maria in his car and takes her for a terrifying spin, in which he shares his theory.

Unsurprisingly, the fact that Ali has scared the living daylights out of his fiancée isn’t something that Gary takes lying down.

And in light of his actions, Ali feels there’s nothing left for him on the Street, and leaves. He remains sure that Maria is making a mistake in agreeing to become Mrs Windass. Will he be proved right?

Katherine Kelly on playing Liar's devious detective DI Karen Renton

DRAMA

Liar

Monday, ITV HD, 9pm

Even though chilling rapist Andrew Earlham is dead, his sins are still casting a long shadow in the second run of ITV thriller Liar.

After exposing his crimes, teacher Laura Nielson (Joanne Froggatt), one of his victims, is now the prime suspect for the murder of Andrew (Ioan Gruffudd), and in this week's episode, DI Karen Renton (Katherine Kelly), who is leading the investigation, starts playing dirty to get results.

For Kelly, last seen in Netflix's Criminal, the chance to join the cast was one she couldn't refuse. Liar sees her reunite with the show's writers Harry and Jack Williams, who produced her 2019 ITV thriller Cheat.

Here, Kelly, 40, tells us more about the show...

How does Karen approach the investigation?

She's very good at removing her emotions from a criminal case, because, to her, that clouds how effective she can be. She's trying to get the job done and get to the truth.

Does she really think Laura is guilty? Karen swans in with one goal – to find Andrew's killer – and she becomes a problem for Laura. Karen is an instinctive detective and spends the series trying to prove that her instincts are correct. It's impressive to watch someone so assertive.

How will her investigation into the murder develop? Even though Andrew is dead, he is still ruining people's lives and he's left this ever-perpetuating trail behind him. Like the audience, Karen is trying to work it out because everybody's a suspect. Andrew had so many victims who all have friends and family. And every episode, there's a spotlight put on someone. A lot of people wanted him dead – but who actually did the deed?

What do you think of Liar's depiction of the impact of sexual assault? The difficulty is that there are no badges or warning signs about someone like Andrew. It's a grey, complex and delicate area. And that's why Liar works so well, because it delves into how detailed and complicated these situations are.

Are you good at working out whodunnits? I tend to stop watching a crime thriller if I think I've worked out who has done it. It has to be smarter than that for me. Harry and Jack Williams are great at keeping you guessing. I found the ending to this surprising but satisfying.

What's next for you?

I'm doing a second series of Criminal and there's more Gentleman Jack that is apparently happening this summer. There's lots of potential in that. It's very satisfying working with writer Sally Wainwright because she's all or nothing. I love that.

TV WEEK

Daisy Haggard and Martin Freeman as Ally and Paul

The parent

Martin Freeman plays a frazzled father in a dark new comedy about having kids

NEW COMEDY

Breeders

Thu, Sky One HD, 10pm & 10.35pm

Most parents would lay their lives down for their children, but few would admit to feeling like killing their kids at times.

It's this paradox that provides the inspiration for Sky One's uncompromising new comedy series Breeders, which pulls no punches as it explores the pressures of starting a family.

Many mums and dads will sympathise with Paul and Ally, who are loving parents but struggle to look after two children under the age of seven while maintaining full-time careers, in this 10-part series, which begins with a double bill.

A Confession's Martin Freeman and Back to Life's Daisy Haggard play the stressed-out couple, and during the opening episode, Paul spends the night fighting his own anger and incredulity at his children's inability to go to sleep.

AWARD-WINNING

Freeman created the irreverent comedy along with the award-winning writers Chris Addison and Simon Blackwell, who can boast such hit comedies as Veep and Peep Show on their CVs.

TV&Satellite Week caught up with Freeman, 48, who has two children with his ex-partner Amanda Abbington, to hear more about the series...

Where did the idea for Breeders originally come from?

The series is based on things that happen to me as a dad. I love comedy, and I particularly love comedy like this, which is trying to be a bit darker and a bit more thought-provoking about life as a parent. That's what gave birth to all of it. We're trying to make something hopefully true, open and relevant – certainly for anyone who has had small children!

Freeman as stressed-out dad Paul

'We want to show parents sometimes can be quite spiky and really not nice'

MARTIN FREEMAN

What can you tell us about the characters of Paul and Ally?

We wanted to make them not rich, not dirt poor, and in a reasonably happy marriage. They haven't got the world against them, so that can't be the reason Paul has these fits of rage. That was the thing with me as a father. Whenever I would get those moods, of course the first thing I would do is go, 'Why am I feeling like this? I've got a really fortunate life.' It's worth exploring.

What does Daisy bring to the role?

I've known Daisy for years and years and years. She's actually a godparent to my kids. We have a very good sparring partnership. She brings a sort of genius to it, actually.

How did friends react when you told them about Breeders?

Some said, 'I'm really glad you're doing that because someone needs to say it.' We want to show parents sometimes can be quite spiky and really not nice. But we don't tend to admit those feelings.

Is the show a more honest portrayal of parenthood, then?

Yes. I just noticed that when people ask new parents, 'How's it going?' they always respond, 'It's just amazing, isn't it?' I think, 'When are we going to cut this nonsense?' Yes, of course, it's amazing. But what doesn't go without saying is how angry you are at times!

But there is an upside, isn't there?

Definitely. In my case, I think parenting has helped make me a better person by highlighting what needed to get better. It's a shock because you have gone through life thinking you're a good person, and then you become a parent and you find out that you aren't necessarily.

TVSW says: Taut real-life crime story

One mother's fight to find her missing daughter turns into a hunt for a serial killer in Netflix's haunting true-crime drama Lost Girls.

Based on Robert Kolker's non-fiction bestseller, the drama follows single mother Mari Gilbert (Oscar-nominated Amy Ryan), who reports her eldest daughter, 24-year-old sex worker Shannan, missing when she fails to show up for a family dinner in 2010.

Detectives soon learn that Shannan made a panicked 911 call while running from a client's house in a gated community on New York's Long Island the night she went missing. The call lasted more than 20 minutes, but when officers arrived – an hour later – she was gone.

A lack of urgency or concern from the police prompts Mari and her other two daughters, Sherre (Thomasin McKenzie) and Sarra (Oona Laurence), to launch their own investigation, which leads to other families of missing women.

SHOCKING DISCOVERY

It's only when a series of bodies are discovered along a stretch of beach on Long Island that the local law enforcement, which includes Gabriel Byrne's police commissioner, listen to Mari's claims that a serial killer is on the loose.

'I remember the story in the news at the time,' says Ryan, 51, who's starred in Birdman, The Wire and Bridge of Spies. 'The film focuses on Mari as she searches for her daughter and is met with a ton of resistance from the police department.'

'However, it just drives her forward. She's like a dog with a bone and doesn't take no for an answer. She's a powerful character, and when she is ignored, she just gets louder.'

With authorities and the media labelling the dead women prostitutes, Mari battles against police bias and judgment in her quest for their murders to be taken seriously.

'There is this dismissal of women in a lower economic class, that if they're sex workers, they must have problems at home and don't want to be found,' says Ryan.

'They're not treated as humans, as sisters, mothers, daughters or wives. They are simply called prostitutes and hookers. It's also the dismissive attitude of, "They're poor – who cares?" It's infuriating.'

The so-called Long Island Serial Killer is believed to have murdered up to 16 people, mostly young women, over a period of nearly 20 years. But the case still remains unsolved.

Tragically, Mari was stabbed to death in 2016 – by her daughter, Sarra, who suffers from schizophrenia.

'The tragedy continued for the Gilberts,' says Ryan. 'But my biggest hope is that this film will make audiences interested in the story and create some buzz. Who knows, maybe the families of the dead women will finally get some justice.'

NEW REALITY

Race Across the World

Sun, BBC2 HD, 8pm (Wales, 8.50pm)

Last year's series of Race Across the World followed five teams of two as they raced from London to Singapore, without using smartphones, credit cards or air travel, in pursuit of a £20,000 prize.

This week, the reality-cum-travel show returns for a second series in which five new pairs will cover over 10,000km from Mexico City to Ushuaia, Argentina, the most southerly city in the world. The same rules apply, and they'll each have a budget of £1,453, the equivalent of a one-way airfare.

TV & Satellite Week caught up with Jo, 54, a physiotherapist from Manchester, and her son and teammate Sam, 19, who has ADHD, to find out how they got on...

Why did you want to take part?

Jo: I wanted to challenge myself and regain my zest for life. But I also knew Sam wanted to travel.

Sam: I've always wanted an adventure, and thought it would be fun to do it with Mum.

Were you good travel buddies?

Sam: We have a mega-strong relationship, but we did disagree and argue. We were non-stop for 20 hours every day and being filmed the whole time. It's stressful. Sam: It's hard when you don't know when you'll next eat, or if you've just missed a bus. I had a few meltdowns, which will probably look bizarre on TV!

What did you have the most trouble with?

Sam: The budget, because I love food and I struggled with having to restrict the amount I was eating.

Jo: The rest of us lost about a stone and Sam put on a stone and a half, so he didn't struggle that much!

Jo and Sam on the road

Did you ever want to quit?

Jo: Sam said he wanted to quit at least once an hour, especially when I tried to download some music on an MP3 player and he ended up with only five Christmas songs.

How did you manage without your mobile phones?

Sam: I actually didn't want mine back after the trip.

Jo: It forced us to interact with people more, so I think a phone would have spoiled the journey.

The BBC is planning a celebrity edition. Do you have any advice for the stars taking part?

Sam: I'd say, just deal with it. But they'd better not get a bigger budget than us!

How to Beat... Ageing

Thursday, C4 HD, 8pm

Presented by Kate Quilton and Dr Javid Abdelmoneim, the first in a new health series sees eight volunteers across a wide age range attempt to change their lifestyles over five weeks in a bid to reduce their 'biological age' – which for 51-year-old hotel manager Andy is a worrying 82.

DID YOU KNOW?

With UK landfill sites predicted to be full by 2022, we need to be recycling at least half of our household waste. Recycling: Is It a Con? (Wednesday, Channel 5 HD, 8pm) asks whether our efforts are being undermined by manufacturers and local councils.

A weighty issue

Miriam Margolyes explores our attitudes to obesity and body positivity

NEW FACTUAL

Miriam's Big Fat Adventure

Monday & Tuesday, BBC2 HD, 9pm

As anyone who's watched The Real Marigold Hotel knows, Miriam Margolyes loves life. But, perhaps surprisingly, the upbeat actor loathes her body. The 78-year-old, who refuses to shy away from the word 'fat', says she's been fat for as long as she can remember.

'I'm happy with my face, but I'm disgusted by my body,' she says. 'I've been on diets all my life. If I could migrate my personality and my face on to another body, I'd be delighted. Whose body? Claudia Winkleman's!'

But now Margolyes has decided to do something about it, and, at the same time, discover why the UK population is more overweight than it's ever been.

In the two-part documentary Miriam's Big Fat Adventure, she meets those on a mission to shed their excess pounds. She begins at Team Bootcamp, a health farm in Shropshire, where obesity is tackled using a military-inspired fitness regime, and asks why the campers' weight got so out of control. Among them are Georgia, 30, who put on 10st through binge eating, and Will, 20, who weighs 28st. Both are unhappy with how they feel physically and mentally, and are determined to do something about it.

As well as those trying to lose weight, Margolyes meets body activist and plus-size model Trina, who believes that being slim isn't the only way to be happy. Trina visits schools to promote body confidence among young girls, and runs a dance class for larger ladies to boost their self-esteem.

'To be fat and happy goes against everything I thought was possible,' says Margolyes. 'But there's a defiance from these women. They have said to themselves and the world: "Yes, I am fat, and I am loving it." They've made me realise I might be wasting my life loathing my body, when there was another way to be happy.'

The Lion King

Disney remakes the pride of its 1990s animated classics

ANIMATED ADVENTURE

Friday, Sky Premiere HD,
12.50pm & 8pm

Disney's remake of its beloved animated musical adventure about an orphaned lion cub's quest to claim his rightful crown follows the studio's 1994 classic scene for scene, emotional beat for beat, and very nearly shot for shot.

Yet the new movie's stunning CGI can't match its animated predecessor's expressive magic – nor, indeed, the audience-friendly anthropomorphism of a David Attenborough documentary.

Get past the film's look, however, and the story still proves gripping, and the Elton John-Tim Rice tunes as catchy as ever. The tale's princely hero is lion cub Simba (voiced by JD McCrary and Donald Glover), whose destiny is to succeed his wise father Mufasa (voiced by original star James Earl Jones) as ruler of Pride Rock. But Simba's scheming uncle Scar (Chiwetel Ejiofor) has his own designs on the throne and not only engineers Mufasa's death in a thrillingly staged stampede of wildebeest, but leaves Simba feeling responsible.

Guilt-stricken, Simba heads into exile and falls in with carefree meerkat Timon and warthog Pumbaa (Billy Eichner and Seth Rogen providing the film's comic relief). Years later, however, he meets his childhood friend Nala (Beyoncé), who urges him to return home and claim his throne.

The story still exerts an almost mythical pull. But in this new telling, the photorealistic rendering of fur and hair can't help but jar with the tale's cosy Circle-of-Life version of the food chain. 2019, PG, 118MIN

Action movie icon Jean-Claude Van Damme reins in his usual martial-arts moves for a melodramatic crime thriller set in a gang-ridden district of Washington DC, where his Afghan war vet comes to the aid of two boys who have fallen into the clutches of a ruthless druglord (David Castaneda).

HORROR THRILLER

I'll Take Your Dead

Thursday, Sky Premiere HD,

'I see dead people all the time,' says 12-year-old Gloria (Ava Preston) in an echo of Haley Joel Osment's young boy in The Sixth Sense. She means this quite literally.

Her widowed father (Aidan Devine) reluctantly disposes of dead bodies at the family's remote farmhouse on behalf of gangs from the nearby city and has earned himself the shudder-inducing nickname the Candy Butcher. Then a young woman (Jess Salgueiro) from the latest batch of corpses turns out to be not quite dead...

Skilfully blending elements of tense crime thriller, sensitive family drama and grisly supernatural horror (yes, there are also ghosts), Canadian director Chad Archibald's slow-burning movie proves to be an under-the-radar gem: gripping, emotionally involving and very well acted. 2019, 15, 83MIN

Hollywood's go-to-guy when a script calls for a buttoned-up wimp, Jesse Eisenberg is perfectly cast as the timid protagonist of a weird, deadpan satire on toxic masculinity, in which his shy and fearful accountant signs up for karate classes.

Writer-director Riley Stearns plays things so straight-faced in depicting his film's odd, testosterone-fuelled world (all male save for Imogen Poots' fervent brown belt Anna), it is hard to decide whether the comedy is actually funny. 2018, 15, 104MIN

What if that adopted earthling Clark Kent had used his powers not for benign purposes but for evil? That's the subversive premise for this dark take on the superhero genre. Jackson A Dunn plays an extra-terrestrial child taken in by a couple in Kansas who begins to discover and flex his paranormal powers. For stout-stomached viewers, Brightburn is an alternative to cinema's usual comic-book adventure fare. Also on Thursday & Friday. 2019, 15, 90MIN

This oddly intriguing movie revisits a literary scandal from the early 2000s when ambitious writer Laura Albert got her boyfriend's sister Savannah to pose in public as her authorial alter ego – a street-hustling teenage boy called JT LeRoy. This truly bizarre tale boasts striking performances from Laura Dern as the charismatic manipulative Albert, and Kristen Stewart as the androgynous, ambivalent Savannah. 2018, 15, 108MIN

Previously brought to the screen by Disney as a memorable animated feature in 1961, this live-action adaptation of author Dodie Smith's beloved children's book doesn't quite have the magic of the original, but still has much to recommend it, not least Glenn Close's turn as Cruella De Vil. There is an element of raucous modern humour in the rather quaint tale, but it still remains remarkably faithful to the source novel. 1996, U, 102MIN

This action movie about martial arts icon Bruce Lee is a breezily enjoyable affair. It revolves around Lee's most legendary fight, his clash with Shaolin master Wong Jack Man in 1964. The film-makers have created a fictional framework for the contest with the 23-year-old Lee (played by Hong Kong actor Philip Wan-Lung Ng) teaching martial arts in San Francisco when the revered Wong (a quietly charismatic Xia Yu) arrives in the city. The film's lively inventions pay off when we reach the epic showdown. 2017, 12, 95MIN

Swaggering bank-robbing magicians the Four Horsemen are back for a sequel to 2013's flashy heist thriller (Film4, Monday) that finds the quartet – Jesse Eisenberg's illusionist, Woody Harrelson's hypnotist, Dave Franco's cardsharp and new recruit Lizzy Caplan – coerced by Daniel Radcliffe's dodgy tech tycoon into pulling off the theft of a new data-mining device. ### LIVE FOOTBALL

*Tuesday & Wednesday,
BT Sport 2 HD & BT Sport 3 HD*

The fates of European champions Liverpool and last season's losing finalists, Tottenham Hotspur, hang in the balance as they play the second legs of their Champions League round-of-16 ties this week.

After 1-0 defeats in their first legs, both sides will need victories to secure a place in the quarter-finals. Here, we assess their chances...

RB Leipzig v Tottenham Hotspur

Tuesday, BT Sport 2 HD, kick-off 8pm

Tottenham were toothless without strikers Harry Kane and Son Heung-min as they went down 1-0 in the first leg last month, and José Mourinho's side could struggle for firepower again against the Bundesliga high-fliers. A superb display from goalkeeper Hugo Lloris, who was only beaten by Timo Werner's penalty, has given a Spurs a glimmer of hope for the second leg, but they will need improved performances from Lucas Moura and new Dutch signing Steven Bergwijn in attack.

Liverpool v Atlético Madrid

Wednesday, BT Sport 2 HD, kick-off 8pm

Jürgen Klopp has said he will summon the 'power of Anfield' as the Reds seek to overturn a 1-0 loss from the first leg in Madrid.

Saúl Ñíguez's strike was enough to give the Spanish side the advantage over the champions, who couldn't muster a shot on target – only the second time that's happened since Klopp took charge in 2015. Diego Simeone will need another sterling defensive display from the likes of Stefan Savic and Felipe at Anfield, where Liverpool are unbeaten in Europe since 2014.

• The Europa League round-of-16 first-leg ties take place on Thursday, though the draw had yet to be made before TV&Satellite Week went to press.

Paris Saint-Germain v Borussia Dortmund

Killing Eve

FIRST LOOK

Jodie Comer and Sandra Oh
return in the darkly comic thriller

Check out these new shots from the third run of award-winning drama Killing Eve, due to start airing on BBC1 later this year.

The series will further explore the twisted relationship between charismatic assassin Villanelle (Jodie Comer) and secret agent Eve (Sandra Oh), who has been on Villanelle's tail but has become dangerously fascinated by her.

Following the shock ending to the last series, which saw Villanelle shoot Eve, the action picks up six months on. Eve appears to have survived and is working in a kitchen while Villanelle has started a new life in Barcelona, plus a wedding is also on the cards.

'Villanelle is trying to find her own way and make her own rules and she has to prove she's ready and capable,' says Comer.

Penned by Suzanne Heathcote, the series will see Dame Harriet Walter, Steve Pemberton and Danny Sapani join the cast.
