ARCTIC JUSTICE

PACKS!

ARCTIC JUSTICE WAS ONE OF 2019'S MOST AWESOME ANIMATED MOVIES. FROM MARCH 25 YOU CAN TAKE THE FUN HOME ON DVD AND DIGITAL!

Swiftly the Arctic fox works in the mail room of the Arctic Blast Delivery Service but dreams of one day becoming a Top Dog (the Arctic's star husky couriers).

To prove himself worthy of the Top Dog role, Swiftly secretly grabs one of the sleds and delivers a package to a mysterious location. He stumbles upon a secret fortress where he comes face to face with Otto Von Walrus, a blubbery evil genius with plans to destroy the world. Now, Swiftly has to enlist the help of his friends to band together to stop Von Walrus' sinister plans and save the day.

HI KRASH

I loooovveee your mag so much! Please print this in your mag. I love GameSta, KRASH Klash and Shame Shack. My sister has different mags, but KRASH is better. I will faint if you put it in. Well keep up the hard work. See ya!

JAROD

HI KRASH!!!

I love your mags they are DA BOMB! I bought your subscription and I am soooooo happy when it comes in the post. I love Shame Shack, Speak Up and WWE. My faves are The Rock and John Cena

LACHLAN

WHASUP KRASH

I am Lucian (pronounced looshen). I'm new to your mags, but I am not new to how amazing your mags are. I am soooooooooo thankful that you make the mags. And who will win Avengers vs Justice League? I think Avengers all the way! Anyway, peace out KRASH Heads.

LUCIAN

HI KRASH

You are the best and I have already collected 13 of your mags! I have a subscription and read every single word in the mag lots of times. I love to play soccer and I enjoyed issue 188 because it talked about the longest football drop kick was 75.35 metres! My fave parts are Speak Up, Shame Shake and Rib Ticklers. I have a joke for you. Q: Why did the scarecrow win an award? A: Because it was out standing in the field! I hope you never stop publishing! CYA!

JZ

BAT SPIT COFFEE

Within the rich volcanic soils of central Madagascar's Itasy province, grows a coffee with a rare twist - bat saliva. The specialty bourbon pointu coffee costs just over $100 per pound making it more than 50 times the price of regular-grade coffee. Reports explain that when the wild bats chew on the ripe coffee berries, a reaction occurs between the animals' digestive fluids and outside air giving the coffee a uniquely smooth flavour. One customer, Van der Vaeken, said that with "normal coffee, after two minutes, you forget the taste - but this coffee stays a very long time in your mouth. It's not acidic... it's very good." The rare bat spit coffee was the brainchild of farmer and agricultural entrepreneur, Jacques Ramarlah, who now works with 90 other farmers in the region to process and market the unique product.

BUS CATCHING CANINE

A black Labrador cross Mastiff dog has proved to be both adorable and independent after it was revealed that she rides the bus by herself. The clever bus-catching canine, named Eclipse, leaves her Seattle home at the same time each day and travels to the park on the local bus. After a few hours of playtime with her doggy friends, Eclipse then visits the bus stop for her trip home. Owner, Jeff, originally accompanied Eclipse to the park, but, one day, when he took too long to get ready, the dog hopped onto the bus herself. Over time, Jeff realised his special pet knew the exact route to the park and after a few trips, Eclipse was trusted to travel alone. Eclipse is known to the local bus drivers who all welcome her on board with one social media video generating over 290,000 shares of the dog's bus journey.

★ Million Dollar ★

TUNA

The head chef of a Japanese sushi restaurant chain has celebrated his winning bid of 193.2 million yen or $2.6 million for a whopping 276-kilogram piece of tuna. In the first auction of this year at Tokyo's Toyosu fish market, Kiyoshi Kimura, otherwise known as 'Sushi king', paid the second highest-price on record for a single fish. Kimura runs the sushi chain "Sushizanmai" in Tokyo and explained, "Yes, this is expensive, isn't it? I want our customers to eat very tasty ones this year." A regular at the annual auction, Kimura was also the successful bidder on record for the most expensive bluefin tuna when he paid more than $4.5 million the year prior. According to the Japan Times, prices for other fish, such as, yellowtail and bonito from Toyama Prefecture have also soared this year.

RAINING REPTILES

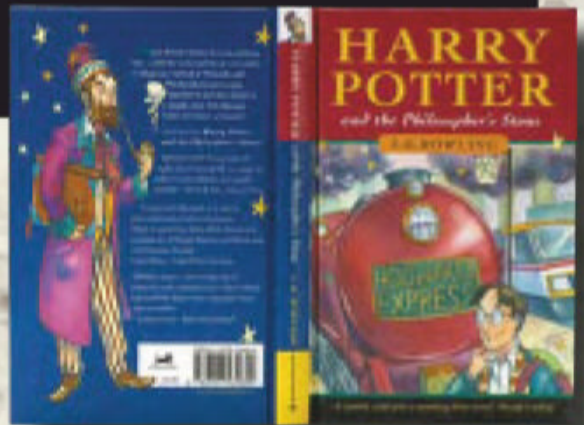

Images and videos of frozen iguanas falling from trees have surfaced across social media following plunging temperatures in Florida. The cold-blooded lizards have been found lying on local pavements with the National Weather Service in Miami releasing a warning to residents, saying, "This isn't something we usually forecast, but don't be surprised if you see iguanas falling from trees tonight... but they are not dead." It is believed that the decrease in temperature results in the reptiles to stiffen-up and lose their grip on tree branches. In good news, the iguanas become normal again once they warm up. Local news station chief, Frank Guzman, shared a video of one frozen iguana gradually becoming animated again before scurrying off.

COSTLY POTTER

A rare edition of a Harry Potter book has sold for over $50,000. The hardback copy of J.K. Rowling's 'Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone' was one of 500 books originally published by Bloomsbury in June, 1997. The original owner revealed the novel was left on a shelf for 20 years before they decided to have it valued last year. The rare discovery was sold by Hansons Auctioneers, with the winning bid going to a passionate and unnamed UK collector. The 500 editions feature some unique errors, including the word "philosopher" being spelt incorrectly on the back cover and the word "wand" appearing twice in a list of Harry's spell equipment on page 53. The author's name is referred to as Joanne Rowling - in later editions, this was changed to J.K. Rowling.

Jim Spencer, head of books at Hansons, said, "Every book valuer dreams of finding one of these... I can't imagine a better copy can be found."

★ Super Senior ★

SHARK

Researchers were shocked following the discovery of a huge, fossilised shark head within the walls of a Kentucky cave. Believed to be up to 330-million-years-old, the shark fossil was found in Mammoth Cave National Park and was identified to belong to a species called Saivodus striatus. According to John-Paul Hodnett, palaeontologist and program coordinator at

Dinosaur Park in Maryland, the find "was amazing because just from the shape of the jaw we'll be able to find out more about how this species lived and we'll be able to fit it in the shark family tree more accurately."

Hodnett suggested that shark skeletons are rarely preserved as they are made of cartilage which does not fossilise as well as bone and is only be found in select locations around the world.

PUZZLING

★ Pizza ★

Fruit on pizza can be a dividing conversation topic and has reached a new level following a Danish restaurant creating a pizza featuring kiwi fruit. The large thin crust pizza was served with traditional tomato sauce, a cheese base and topped with several slices of kiwi fruit. Debates have since taken over the internet with one unhappy user stating, "This makes me unreasonably angry. I can accept pineapple. I'm not a fan but I can understand the appeal." On the opposite side, one adventurous pizza-eater said, "I mean, this particular pizza looks bad, but I kinda want to try the combo". Commenter's also suggested that Denmark is not the only Scandinavian country with a reputation for strange pizza toppings and reminisced about a Swedish banana curry pizza topped with peanuts.

MULTIPLE DIGIT DRAMA

An Indian woman is set to enter the Guinness World Records for having the most digits in the world. Kumari Nayak, from Odisha in India, has an astonishing 12 fingers and 19 toes beating the previous record held by Devendra Suthar who entered the record books in 2014 with 14 fingers and 14 toes. Nayak said, "I was born with this defect and I couldn't be treated as we belonged to a poor family. It has now been 63 years that I have had this condition." Living in a small village, Nayak, is often treated differently, with one resident saying, "I feel so sorry for her that she cannot even afford to get herself treated." Government officials are attempting to spread awareness amongst the neighbourhood to encourage people to "treat her with love and compassion and that she is not a witch."

POOCH PAWTY PLANNER

In what sounds like the ultimate career choice, a woman from London spends her days planning parties for pampered pooches. Animal lover, Niki Sohrabkani, drew inspiration from working as an international events organiser to launch the London Dog Party Company. Sohrabkani now brings to life glamorous events from canine birthday celebrations to pool parties with personalised packages starting from $1,000 for two hours of fun. Alongside a team of five, Sohrabkani has hosted around 30 events across London, New York and Los Angeles which included dog-friendly refreshments and snacks, such as, popcorn. The puppy pawties can also include games, dog fancy dress ups, obstacle courses and themed decorations. Sohrabkani said, "Having spent the last 33 years organising some of the most prestigious events around the world, I wanted to combine my passion for events and love of dogs."

TROLLS VS

STATUS

In the latest flick, Trolls: World Tour, Poppy and her partner, Branch, return for another adventure where they discover the existence of five other Troll tribes outside of their own.

STYLE:

Poppy has pink skin, pink hair and wears a blue dress. Branch has blue-grey skin with blue-black hair and wears a green vest and brown shorts. In Trolls: World Tour each Trolls group has a style representing a different music genre including, Funk, Classical, Techno, Country and Rock.

PERSONALITY:

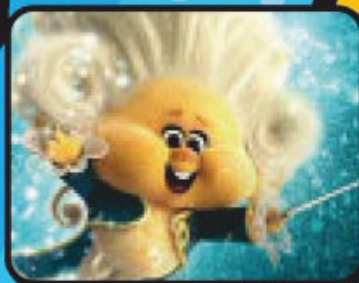

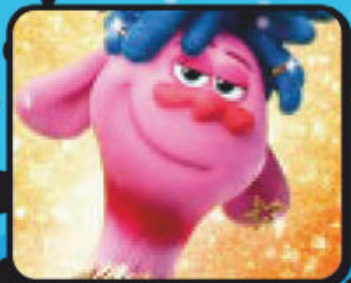

Music-loving Poppy is optimistic, hard-working and an inspiring leader. Branch, however, is strong-willed, pessimistic, serious and always considers the consequences.

FRIENDS:

Although appearing to be complete opposites, Poppy and Branch are the best of friends and always support one another.

SKILLS:

Both Poppy and Branch have strong survival skills and dedication to their tribe of Trolls.

wrestle match - every month!
our predictions then YOU decide!

PETER RABBIT

STATUS

The main character of Beatrix Potter's books, Peter Rabbit, came to life in the movies, Peter Rabbit (2018) and this year's sequel, Peter Rabbit: The Runaway. Peter Rabbit is a rebellious rabbit who torments an English farmer named, Mr McGregor.

STYLE:

A short light-brown-coloured bunny with big, brown eyes, Peter Rabbit finds adventure wearing a signature blue denim jacket featuring gold buttons.

PERSONALITY:

Cheeky, mischievous and a whole lot of attitude, Peter Rabbit always finds a way to sniff his way into trouble.

FRIENDS:

Peter Rabbit has many close friends including Bea, an animal-loving human and wife of Mr McGregor, as well as, his supportive cousin, Benjamin Bunny, and three sisters Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail.

SKILLS:

Personality plus is Peter Rabbit's main skill, and his head-strong, adventurous nature.

THE FINAL SCORE

STATUS: Peter Rabbit's storybook legacy scores the status points.

STYLE: Our vote goes to the different styles of each of the Trolls tribes.

PERSONALITY: Poppy and Branch, represent two different personalities working perfectly together.

FRIENDS: Nothing beats family as friends so Peter Rabbit wins this round.

SKILLS: Poppy, Branch and Peter Rabbit all share a sense of survival and adventure, so we call a tie.

DREAMWORKS

TROLLS WORLD TOUR IS IN CINEMAS MARCH 26!

Trolls

WORLD TOUR

Get set for another hair-raising adventure as the Trolls return in the all-new movie, Trolls World Tour!

WHAT'S IT ABOUT?

The loveable duo, Poppy and Branch discover that there are six different Troll tribes scattered over six different lands. Each tribe is devoted to six different styles of music – funk, country, techno, classical, pop and rock. Trouble arises when rockers Queen Barb and King Thrash set out to destroy all other music. Ready to save the day and all the music, Poppy and Branch set out on a daring mission to unite the Trolls and save all the diverse melodies from becoming extinct.

THE GANG

BRANCH

Branch often wonders if he's the only sane individual in a town full of exuberantly happy Trolls. Reclusive and always prepared for danger, Branch must embrace his inner troll if he's ever going to let his true colours shine.

TINY DIAMOND

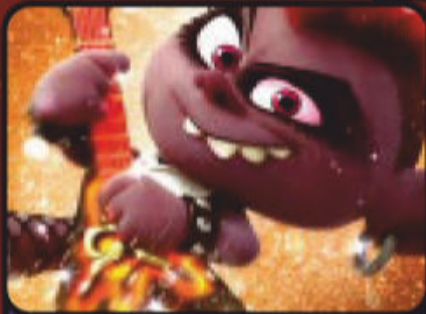

This cutie is Guy Diamond's little son, and the two look very much alike! Father and son have been pretty much inseparable ever since Tiny was born, with Tiny constantly perched on his dad's shoulder, chiming in with well-timed quips and friendly advice whenever the moment strikes him. Instead of singing, Tiny Diamond is a surprisingly nimble rapper, with a wide variety of hip-hop musical influences!

QUEEN POPPY

Relentlessly upbeat, Poppy wields her positivity like a super-power! The heroic leader of the Trolls, Poppy always encourages her friends to believe that, with a song in your heart, you can do anything. Because when it comes to life, why say it when you can sing it?

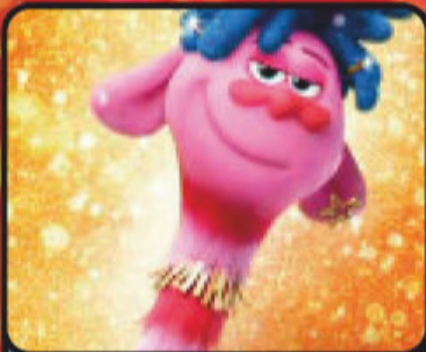

COOPER

This guy is the friendliest member of the Snack Pack, and while he may not be the smartest Troll around, he definitely makes up for it in enthusiasm and with his wicked harmonica solos!

QUEEN BARB

She's tough, sassy and has a no-holds-barred attitude! Barb is the leader of the hard rock Trolls and she's tired of rock music always coming in second best to pop. She actually can't stand pop music, she thinks it's awful. As far as Barb is concerned, it's rock music's time to shine again – and in order to fully ensure her victory, Barb is planning to transform all the Trolls in the kingdom into leather and denim wearing hard rock zombies!

PRINCE D

Ever since he was a young child, Prince Darnell had always felt like he was missing an important part of himself, but he never knew why. But when he was finally old enough, his parents told him about his long lost twin brother. This story left Darnell feeling restless and when he entered his teenage years, he started experimenting with his parents' beloved Funk music and he took on a new, shorter title – from that day forward, the Prince of Vibe City was known as simply, Prince D. Still, Darnell couldn't stop thinking about his twin brother Cooper and then one day, out of the blue, in walks none other than Cooper himself! Prince D is beside himself with joy and more importantly, the royal family of Vibe City has been fully reunited at last!

KING TROLLEX

This guy is the confident, kind, and upbeat leader of the EDM-loving Techno Trolls, a tribe of mermaids who live underwater in a LED-lit digital fortress. The Techno Trolls value peace, love and harmony above all else, and their hearts all beat in sync. As their leader, King Trollex is tasked with keeping everyone partying safely, and of course – the most important duty of all – dropping the beat.

TROLLZART

Wolfgang Amadeus Trollzart is the passionate conductor and leader of the Classical Music Trolls. With curly, white hair, and glittery, golden skin, Trollzart is quite an intimidating sight to behold, and that's just what Barb, the Queen of hard rock discovers when she rolls into Symphonyville and attempts to scare Trollzart into giving up the Classical Troll's precious golden string.

HICKORY

Hickory is a Country Music Troll who mostly likes to keep to himself. But when Hickory sees that the Pop Trolls are in trouble, and he swoops in to save the day. Poppy is instantly taken by Hickory's act of heroism, but Branche is suspicious of his motives, as well as a little jealous of Poppy's and Hickory's connection... is Hickory hiding a secret?

DELTA DAWN

Mayor Delta Dawn is the leader of the Country Music Trolls, a tribe of trolls who live in the middle of the troll heartland called, Lonesome Flats. The trolls in Lonesome Flats are centaur Trolls, which means they're half-horse and half-Troll, and Mayor Delta Dawn is more than willing to get tough with anyone who intends to threaten the Country Music Trolls' traditional way of life.

GUY DIAMOND

Blessed with a load of confidence – but not a stitch of clothing – Guy Diamond knows how to kick off any party. This glitter Troll's upbeat energy always rubs off on whoever is around him, just like the sparkles covering his entire body!

PETER RABBIT 2™

Grab your choc-top and get set for another wild adventure as Peter Rabbit and the gang return with the all-new movie, Peter Rabbit 2.

PETER RABBIT 2 IS IN CINEMAS MARCH 19!

WHAT'S THE STORY?

The loveable rogue, Peter Rabbit is back! Bea, Thomas, and the rabbits have created a family, but despite his best efforts, Peter can't seem to shake his mischievous reputation. Adventuring out of the garden, Peter finds himself in a world where his mischief is appreciated, but when his family risks everything to come looking for him, Peter must figure out what kind of bunny he wants to be.

THE GANG

Peter Rabbit

Peter is trying hard to embrace his new role as something of a leader, maintaining a fragile truce with Thomas McGregor while keeping everything fun.... but as Bea's stories of his adventures gain popularity, he can't shake his rep for mischief – or worse, a “bad seed.” Discouraged, Peter decides to embrace his reputation, running away and putting his family at risk... only to find he has to step up to become the hero that they need.

Bea

Mrs. McGregor has successfully adapted her beautiful paintings into stories of the mischievous Peter Rabbit. But even though she loves Peter for who he is, her stories might be giving others the wrong impression. When Peter runs away, she'll have to come to her senses to save her family.

Thomas

Thomas hasn't loosened up one bit... he's just accepted the things he cannot change, like the fact that he has rabbits in his garden. Though Bea sees him as the father figure to a makeshift family of rabbits, Thomas wants to add a human baby to the mix. But when the rabbits are at risk, everything will come into focus.

Benjamin Bunny

Peter's cousin isn't always eager to join in on the fun, but remains Peter's moral north star. As Peter's trusty best friend, Benjamin provides the clear understanding of judgment that Peter can always count on.

Nigel Basil-Jones

Nigel is the charming publisher who knows a good story when he sees it – and there's never been a good story he couldn't make even better. When the self-published tales of Peter Rabbit start to attract a following, Nigel sees a way for the stories to reach an even wider audience... if Bea will just make a few little changes to make the characters more modern.

Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail

Peter's sisters continue to be the complete opposites to Peter and his antics. Fearful Flopsy has a new confidence and sense of individuality. Mopsy is the grounded sibling, grasping desperately to hold everyone together. And Cottontail continues to march to her offbeat drum.

HATCH HORSEPOWER

WHEN IT'S ALL ABOUT POWER – HORSEPOWER!
ALL THE HATCHES HERE COME WITH 300 HORSEPOWER OR MORE, THE ABILITY TO RUMBLE WITH ANY OTHER QUICKS, AND WERE ALL MADE TO BOOST YOU LIFE IN 5 SECONDS – OR LESS!

VOLKSWAGEN GOLF R

With a Haldex 2.0 litre turbocharged engine and power hitting around the 300 pony mark, the Golf R is seriously fast. Hitting 0-100 km/h in 4.6 seconds, the Golf GTI is still the undisputed legend, but with the R, Volkswagen became meaner and madder. New additions include slightly wider air intakes, bigger wheels, and extra blue details up front!

306
HORSEPOWER

HONDA CIVIC TYPE R

Ever since Honda went all turbo with its Type R, this machine has proudly displayed its 300+ horsepower skills to the world, with the latest model being the most important of all. Obviously, its killer looks with massive spoilers and crazy add-ons add to its bragging rights, but this teenage hatch also comes packing stats. The Civic Type R is the fastest FWD car at the famous Nurburgring track, lapping it in 7 minutes 43.80 seconds – nutso!

315
HORSEPOWER

BMW M140i

335
HORSEPOWER

The M140i is the top of the pecking order of BMW 1 series. A fully tricked out M Performance machine, it uses a 3.0 litre inline-six with 335 horsepower and 368 pound-feet of torque. The M140i is the only car in this group to sport a rear wheel drive setup - a unique setup for a hot hatch! With RWD, the excitement element can overload - but only if you're brave and bonkers enough to push its limits!

FORD FOCUS RS

HORSEPOWER

The new Focus is one of the hottest of hatches ever born! It takes some genius Ford Rally Sport ideas and transforms them into a ballistic unit that can accelerate to 100 km/h in 4.7 seconds. With the industry first drift button, Ford went into another stratosphere in offering drivers and owners an experience unlike any other - a drift button! With 350 horsepower, this beast erases the line between hot hatch and rally champions.

MERCEDES-AMG A45

The A45 features a 2.0 litre turbocharged engine developing 382 horsepower and 350 pound-feet of torque, with a specific output of 187.5 horsepower per litre - close to the specific output of the Bugatti Chiron! With an advanced version of the 4Matic all-wheel-drive system and a multitude of technologies, it's a brute of a machine with no boundaries and no apologies for its competitors!

AUDI RS3

HORSEPOWER

With 400 horsepower on tap, a Quattro all-wheel-drive system, and a special suspension, the latest RS3 is possibly the most extreme hot hatch ever. It can hunt down 100 km/h in 3.9 seconds, same as the Porsche Carrera GT. Its top speed is limited to 280 km/h, quicker compared to anything BMW or Mercedes-AMG have thrown out - easily securing its place in hot hatch royalty!

NEWS

STOP BEING A NOOB AND PWN THE CAMPERS KRASH HEADS. IT'S TIME TO ATTEND GAMING SCHOOL.

The second season of Call of Duty Modern Warfare has just started with a new 100 tier battle pass.

Voted Australia's favourite RPG of 2019, The Outer Worlds has just added the Nintendo Switch to its list of formats.

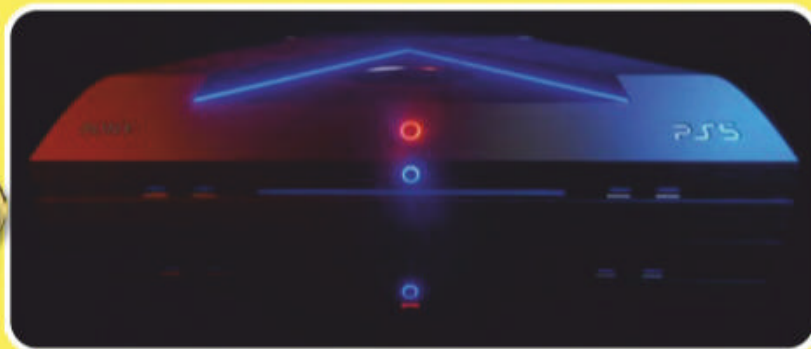

Speaking of the Switch, the console has just passed the 50million sales mark, which is a huge result!

Online PvP battles have finally arrived in popular mobile game, Pokémon Go.

Sony has announced it won't be at E3 this year, skipping the massive games conference for the second time in a row. The news is quite surprising given this is the year the PS5 comes out and the company has a lot to talk about.

WORDS BY CHRIS STEAD

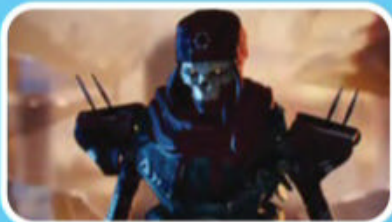

POKÉMON HOME DETAILED

By the time you read this, Pokémon Home should have been released. Compatible with both Switch and mobile games in the Pokémon series, this service allows you to store your captured Pokémon in the cloud. You can then transfer them between different games or trade them with other players. Pretty cool, right? There will be a free plan, which lets you save 30 Pokémon, auto-trade three Pokémon, or put one Pokémon in the GTS trade matching system. The $24/year premium plan allows you to store 6,000 Pokémon, auto-trade 10 Pokémon and put three Pokémon in the GTS trade matching system. It also allows you to gain access to Pokémon captured on a 3DS. If the premium plan is too much, you can pay a monthly rate of $4.

Season 4 has landed in Apex Legends and it's brought with it a new hero character in dead-dude-come-back-to-life, Revenant.

Season 2 of GRID DLC has begun, with the first addition bringing with it the Red Bull Ring track, 33 new events and six new supercars to race.

Nintendo has indicated that it doesn't plan on releasing a new console till at least 2023, so the Switch will be around for many years yet.

Speaking of delays, Iron Man VR for PS4 has also moved back slightly, but only as far as May.

Stunning RPG Ni No Kuni is being turned into a movie and it will be released on Netflix.

Overwatch has passed the 50 million sales mark, confirming it as one of the biggest games of all time.

An Animal Crossing themed Nintendo Switch console will come out alongside the game on the next game in the series, New Horizons, on March 20.

No surprise, but Activision has confirmed there will be another Call of Duty game coming out at the end of 2020.

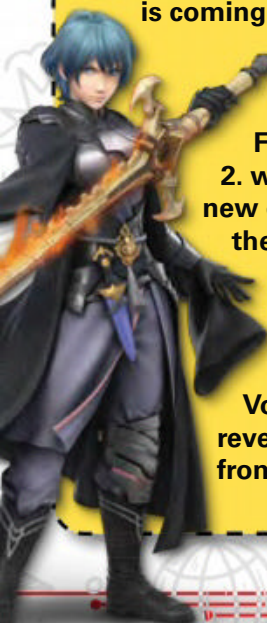

Legendary game maker Atari (best known for Pac-man) is making eight hotels in the USA that are themed to video games. That sounds like an exciting place to stay.

There are now over five million PSVR units sold into the market and Sony has more than 100 million PSN accounts, too.

Microsoft has confirmed that there will be no VR support for the Xbox Series X at launch, which is disappointing. However, there is some chance it may come later in the console's lifetime.

A second season of characters is coming to Super Smash Bros. Ultimate as DLC. The Fighters Pass Vol 2. will earn you six new characters over the course of the next year. The news comes as the last character from Vol 1. has been revealed; Byleth from Fire Emblem.

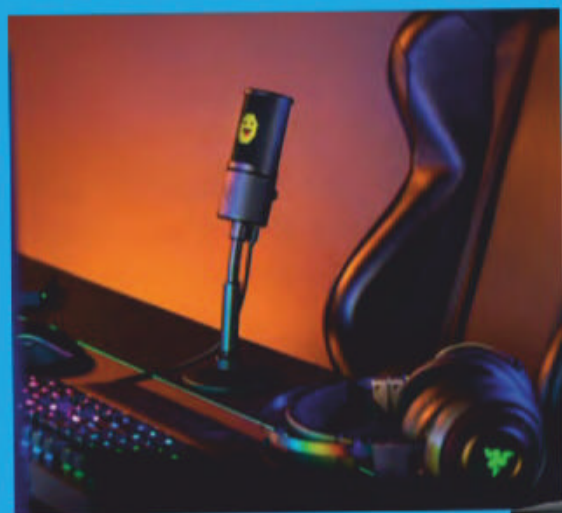

Devastating news Krash Heads with the awesome looking Marvel's Avengers video game delayed from May right back to September 4. So many doh's!

TECH HEAD

Getting our nerd on with the latest and greatest gadgets.

Razer Seiren Emote

If you've ever watched a YouTuber or Twitch streamer playing and talking about a game you've probably thought; "I wonder if I could do that." Well you can! But you do need the right equipment otherwise your video is going to be lame. With that in mind, Razer has come out with a microphone that is shoutcaster-grade, which means it could be used in professional competitions. It works by picking out your voice and making it crystal clear, while pulling back the game noise or anything else that's not human (like your chair squeaking). Plus, it has 100 emoticons that flash up on the mic itself, so you can add extra flair to what you are saying.

Logitech G560

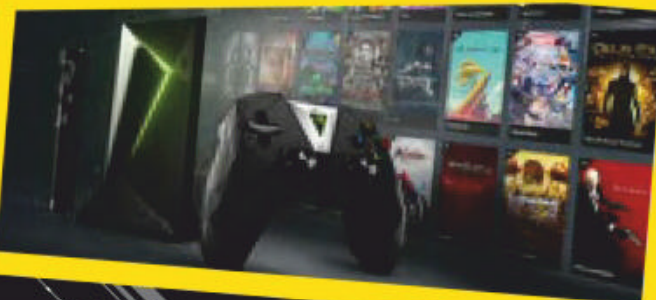

Already well known for its PC speakers, with the G560 Logitech has gone one step further and built a system specifically for gamers. The sound quality is solid, with the left and right speakers well balanced to create nice stereo and middle sound, as well as sub-woofer that isn't short on bass. The volume controls are a little off, so it's not such a great speaker if you need to keep the sound low. However, if you're a gamer who can play loud, it comes with DTS surround sound support and best of all, RGB lighting. This is basically coloured lighting under the speakers that changes based on what you're playing or listening to. It adds heaps of atmosphere to your gaming.

GeForce Now

The next big thing in streaming is Netflix, but for games. This is where you're streaming a game from hardware on the other side of the internet. This means your device does not need to be that powerful, allowing you to play big games on simple things like your phone or TV (without a console). There are a few companies trying to be the leader in this space, such as Google Stadia and Microsoft xCloud.

Now graphics card creator Nvidia has got in on the act with the GeForce Now service. It allows you to stream games from your Steam PC library and its already out overseas. The big question is; when will it come to Australia?

GAMESTO THE big QUESTION

WHAT IS THE AUTO BATTLER GENRE?

Gaming is always progressing and moving forward and as a result, there's always new genres emerging. Some of them don't become popular, but others go totally viral. Look at the hero shooter, for example. Or the battle royale. One such genre that has just burst onto the scene is the Auto Battler – also known as Auto Chess. So what is it?

This genre has split off from popular competitive genres such as the MOBA (multiplayer online battle arena) and the CCG (collectable card game). The basic idea is that it takes elements from the game Chess – namely pieces and a grid-like board – and apply them to a new universe.

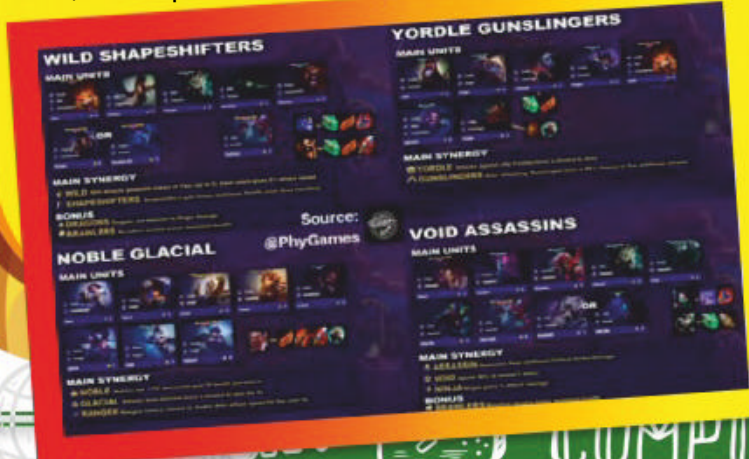

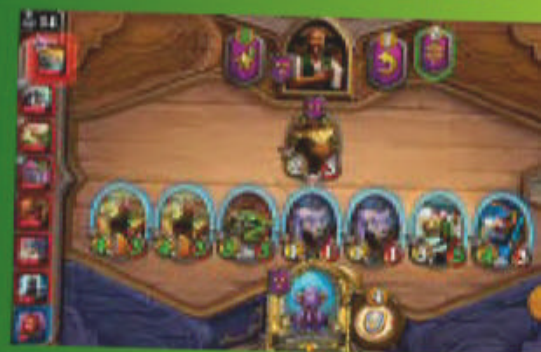

This genre usually involves eight players who jump into a game together. They are then randomly selected to face-off against each other in one-on-one battles until there is only one player left.

At the start of each game is the preparation phase. Here you can buy new units, level-up units with experience earned in previous matches, and even combine units into more powerful forms. You then place them on the board in a way you think will give your units the best tactical advantage over your opposition. Usually individual units can carry items or buffs that help other units, allowing you to come up with multiple ways to defend and attack.

Now here's the kicker; you don't do any battling. That's why it's called an Auto Battler. Your job is to manage your little army and to command its position on the battlefield. After that the fighting itself is automated in order to keep the gameplay purely down to just tactics and strategy. There's no need to worry about internet speeds, the best hardware or killer reflexes, like in a first-person shooter.

Three big games have just released Auto Battler spin-offs. Dota has Underlords, League of Legends has Teamfight Tactics, and Hearthstone has Heathstone's Battlegrounds. We're certain there are plenty more to come.

FRESH PICS

A stack of new games have been revealed this month, let's take a closer look at them.

TEMTEM (PC)

Landing in 2021, TemTem is like an MMO version of Pokémon. You go out into the wild to capture TemTem creatures that you then level-up, add into your party and take into battles. But what's cool about this game is you can team up with someone else to play co-op battles. In these you control one Pokémon while your teammate controls the other. Plus, certain TemTems give each other buffs, so there is plenty of strategy in finding the right pairing to get the best attack any defence for any given fight.

FAST & FURIOUS CROSSROADS (PS4, XBO, PC)

Guess which mega movie series is getting a game? It's not a tie-in either, but has an all new story that follows Dom, Letty and Roman. They'll be played by the real actors, too; Vin Diesel, Michelle Rodriguez and Tyrese Gibson. We've been promised exotic locations, street racing, high-speed heists, car combat and lots of stunts, as well as a range of cars and gadgets to try out. Early footage is looking pretty sweet, and we've been promised multiplayer, too. We don't have long to wait either as it's out in May.

SUPERMASH (PC, PS4, XBO, SWITCH)

This strange title is like a random game generator. You choose two genres, and then the game mashes them together into random game experiences that play like the two genres you selected. There are then Dev Cards you can play that had modifiers like faster enemies or different music. Whatever you create you can then share with friends. It looks like it has a pretty retro vibe and so far the genres we know about are; Shoot 'em Up, Stealth, Platformer, JRPG, Action-Adventure and Metroidvania.

GLEAMLIGHT (SWITCH)

We're really intrigued by the indie platformer for two reasons. The game world is a stained-glass window. You can see in this image how all the elements look like different bits of coloured glass. We've never seen this before in a game, but what we've seen so far suggests it's going to look very pretty. Also, your actual character is the sword itself, with different people wielding you during the game's story. How strange!

PAPER BEAST (PSVR)

Ever wanted to be a scientist conducting experiments on an alien world to see what it's all about? That's kind of what this game is like. You're on this mysterious planet filled with animals made of paper. You can then interact with the animals and the trees, putting them in strange situations to see how they react. You can even change the terrain itself and bodies of fluid. By doing these experiments, you'll slowly unravel a fascinating mystery about this world. Looks like a great idea for VR.

EMBR (PC)

Given that we've just had so many fires in Australia, we had to mention this game. Now the bushfires are certainly a very serious threat, but sometimes it's nice to treat things that are scary as silly just so you can feel better about them. And this game does just that. Your goal is to go into burning buildings with your trusty firefighting equipment, find people who need to be rescued and then make a path to lead them to safety. But because the way characters react isn't predictable, funny things usually happen.

WHAT'S HOT

Summer ends with plenty of heart thanks to these great games.

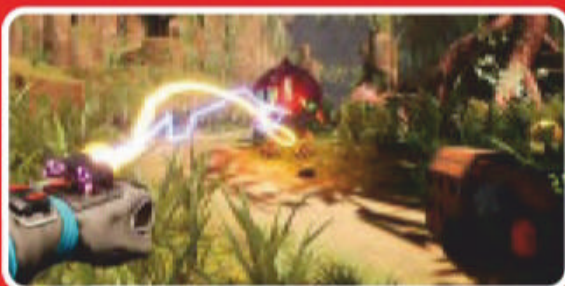

JOURNEY TO THE SAVAGE PLANET

PS4, XBO, PC

We love a good sci-fi shooter, but often they are way too violent, serious or gory. Despite its savage name, this game does the opposite. It's bright, colourful, imaginative, funny and charming all at once, while still offering plenty of combat. All the action takes place on an unknown planet a long way from Earth. You work for an exploration company, and your job is to make your way around the various environments of this planet discovering and scanning all the plants and animals to ensure its safe for Human occupation. We love the diversity in this game, with some weird and wonderful creatures to discover at every turn. It's also cool how you can keep crafting bizarre tools and how they help you get access to new areas of the world. The controls work well, be it platforming or fighting, although combat is bit too repetitive. Exploring is fun enough though, especially in co-op with a friend.

GAMESTA VERDICT: IMAGINATIVE AND FUNNY

GIGANTOSAURUS: THE GAME

SWITCH, PS4, PC, XBO

Have you caught the new cartoon TV series Gigantosaurus?

It's pretty new, but it's already big enough overseas to get its own video game. Even if you haven't seen it, however, this 3D platformer with racing gameplay is still worth a look. Like the show, the game follows four kid dinos, (a Ankylosaurus, Triceratops, Brachiosaurus and Parasaurolophus) as they try to find the biggest dinosaur of all - the Gigantosaurus. Then they must work together to survive extinction. As you'd hope, the game can be played in co-op, which is a great way to explore the pretty cool world and solve its puzzles. Where the game differs from other titles in the genre is that you get in a kart and race your way between adventure zones, mixing up the gameplay. It's aimed at pretty young gamers, however, so don't expect the deepest and most polished game in the world. But fans of the show will still love it.

DID YOU KNOW

The real Gigantosaurus was alive around 98 to 97 million years ago!

GAMESTA HEAT 🔥🔥🔥🔥🔥

GAMESTA VERDICT: ROAAAAARRR!

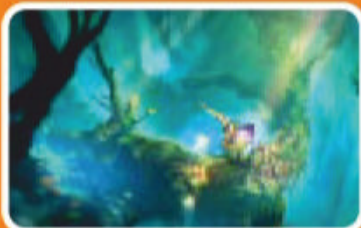

ORI AND THE WILL OF THE WISPS

XBO, PC

In 2015, Xbox surprised us all with atmospheric, exploratory platformer, Ori and the Blind Forest. This sequel ramps up the visuals, refines the gameplay and dives deeper into the lore of this fascinating world. As the spirit Ori, you get to venture out beyond the forest of the first game on a mission to uncover the truth about the Lost Ones and to discover Ori's role in the world's destiny. In truth, the gameplay hasn't changed too much. As you solve puzzles to make your way further through the world, you'll get a chance to learn new abilities. This gives you access to areas you previously couldn't reach, meaning you're always finding places you know you'll be able to come back to enjoy later. Those who played the first game will be happy to know there's a new autosave feature as well as a simpler upgrade tree. Plus, Ori is even more agile, with fast melee and ranged attacks that help keep him one step ahead of the weird and wonderful beasts this fill every level. Simply gorgeous.

DID YOU KNOW

The developer of the Ori games is Moon Studios, and they're from Vienna in Austria.

GAMESTA VERDICT: BEAUTIFUL PLATFORMING

ARISE: A SIMPLE STORY

SWITCH, PS4, XBO, PC

One of the biggest new genres going around is the walking simulator. Where the act of just moving forward and exploring is the gameplay, with the world and music telling a story as you go. Arise: A Simple Story kind of falls into that category before going one step further with a cool time travelling concept. But let's start with the story. You play as a wise old man from an ancient tribe who has just died and has landed in the afterlife. Your journey through levels that have you exploring the key memories from his life, starting at early childhood. You're accompanied by the main women in your life, but while the story is interesting, it may be too old for most Krash Heads. More fun is the time controls you have access to, allowing you to freeze the world around you, then fast-forward and rewind – sometimes whole seasons – to find safe passage. The platforming controls are a little loose, which is a shame, but it still can't stop this being a very memorable, quirky indie game.

ANIMAL CROSSING: NEW HORIZONS

SWITCH

A new Animal Crossing game is always good reason to cheer. They don't come out too often, but these epic create-your-own-world experiences can last you years. Don't let the cute characters fool you; this is a game of serious depth. You start out with a tiny little patch of land, and by completing activities – fishing, farming, crafting and more – meeting other characters and questing out into the surrounding world you can build out that patch of land into an awesome farm. And then even an entire town, all customised to your liking. This new game has you going one step further and taking ownership of an entire island. The idea is to build a thriving community on this island, and thanks to four-player local, or eight-player online co-op, many of the animals that come to visit will be human! With a full time-of-day and weather system that literally follows the real-world calendar, there's always something to do and a new idea to explore in this epic sandbox adventure.

GAMESTA VERDICT: IF MINECRAFT WAS CUTE

POKÉMON MYSTERY DUNGEON: RESCUE TEAM DX

SWITCH

As you know, Nintendo doesn't mind a remake and to be fair, we're not about to complain when the company keeps pulling gems like the from out of its library. Originally released in 2006 as a Nintendo DS game, this spin-off series features all your favourite Pokémon as the stars. That's right; you play as the Pokémon.

It's also less RPG and more dungeon-crawler. You and the Pokémon in your party venture into randomised dungeons to complete jobs picked up from the hub town. These frequently involve rescuing other Pokémon, as the title suggests. Gameplay retains the turn-based combat that sees Pokémon do battle, with a goal to level-up your team and unlock new parts of the story. But outside that, the look is quite different from the recent Pokémon Sword and Shield RPG. Expect a top-down view and a more cartoony feel. Like all remakes, it does feel a bit old-school, but new additions like mega evolutions and autosave help ensure new Pokémon fans will still find it fun.

DID YOU KNOW

When this Pokémon game first came out, it came in two versions; Blue Rescue Team and Red Rescue Team.

GAMESTA HEAT 🔥🔥🔥🔥🔥

GAMESTA VERDICT: REMAKÉMON

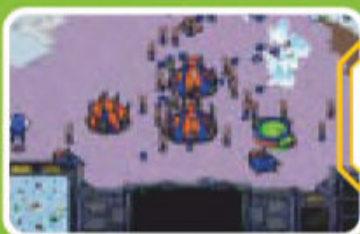

STARCRRAFT: CARTOONED

PC

Hot on the heels of its Warcraft III remake, legendary developer Blizzard has reinvented its other classic RTS series. StarCraft takes the best of sci-fi action games and gives it a big strategy twist, where you need to use your brain as much as your reflexes. Building out your base, managing your forces and resources, and commanding units into battle as you complete story quests is just such fun gaming. When StarCraft originally came in 1998, it was very dark and mature. For this remake, however, the visuals have been completely overhauled to give it a cartoon flavour that strips out a lot of the intense detail. It's an odd concept, which makes the game feel a bit like a mobile title. But the core gameplay and multiplayer features remain intact. So, if you find RTS games a little too intense, this could be the game that gets you into the genre. The good news is, the Cartooned version comes with the 2017 Remastered version of the main game.

DID YOU KNOW

Next up, developer Blizzard is working on Overwatch 2!

DOTA UNDERLORDS

PC, MAC, IOS, ANDROID

The super popular MOBA game Defence of the Ancients (better known as Dota) received a fan mod in early 2019 called Dota Auto Chess and it was very, very popular. In fact, it basically spawned a whole new genre. Now, just over a year later, an official version of this idea has been released by famous developer Valve. Dota Underlords is a competitive strategy experience that takes the universe created in the main game and combine it with Chess. You know, the real board game Chess. If you read our Big Question article about the genre, you will have an idea how it plays. Dota Underlords allows you to enter mini tournaments of eight people, competing in one-on-one duals in a knockout system to find a winner. It also allows for a two-player mode, where you team up with a friend and share health and levelling, despite playing on different boards. The game is pretty much a clone of the original mod rather than a new experience, but at least it's free-to-play, so there's no harm in checking it out.

GAMESTA VERDICT: PROTECT THE KING

THE TOP 10 GAMES BASED ON MOVIES

Since the early 1980s, gamers have had no shortage of fun playing video games based on movies. Sometimes they followed the movie's story exactly, and other times they took the same characters and universe, but provided a whole new tale to enjoy. So, which are the best of the best? Let's look through this month's Top 10.

9. PETER JACKSON'S KING KONG

One of the launch games for the Xbox 360, when it came out King Kong wowed gamers with its cinematic gameplay, something we hadn't really seen before. The game did a great job of capturing the atmosphere of the film, plus there were sections where you actually got to play and fight as Kong himself.

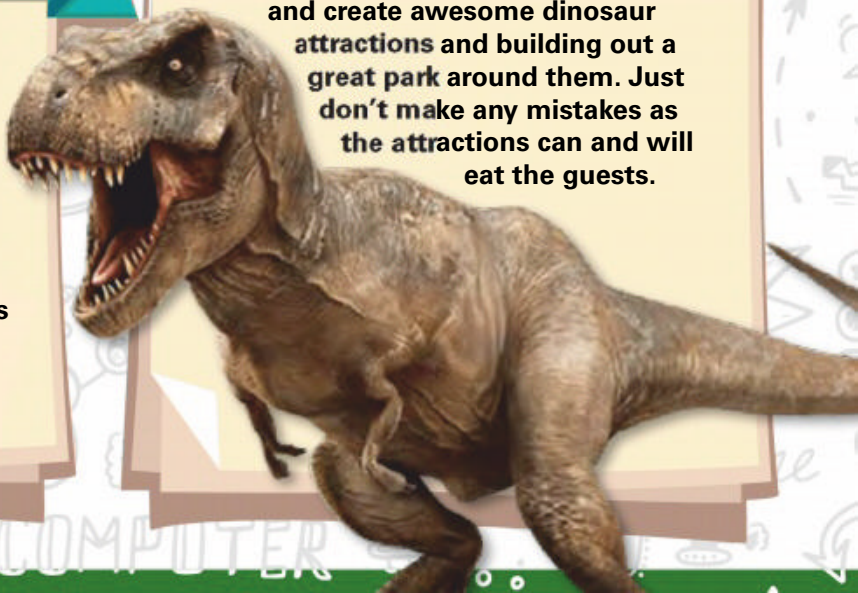

10. TOY STORY 2

Just as the 3D adventure genre was getting started, one surprise hit came in the form of Toy Story 2. Playing as Buzz Lightyear, it did an amazing job of making you feel like you in the film, while giving players the freedom to explore and interact with the world in new ways.

7. JURASSIC WORLD EVOLUTION

If you were building Jurassic Park, what would you do? You get to find out in this theme park simulator that goes into loving detail letting you clone and create awesome dinosaur attractions and building out a great park around them. Just don't make any mistakes as the attractions can and will eat the guests.

8. SPIDER-MAN 2

Based on the second Toby Maguire film, Spider-Man 2 was a huge release in the evolution of the open-world genre. At the time it came out in 2004, the genre was just getting started. So, imagine how amazed gamers were when you could web-sling through the streets and climb any building you liked. It was epic!

6. GHOSTBUSTERS: THE VIDEO GAME

Imagine if the original cast of Ghostbusters made a third movie together, where they wrote it, starred in it and used it as way to dive deeper into the lore of the series using its famous locations? Well that's exactly what happened with this 2009 action game, a hidden gem which was just been remastered and re-released!

5. MAD MAX

Car combat in an open-world apocalyptic desert is just as cool as it sounds.

However, this Mad Max game went further than sticking to customising your car and going on missions. It was full of atmosphere and wonder, with full on-foot gameplay and combat, and a huge world to explore.

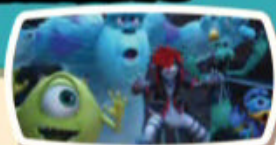

4. STAR WARS: KNIGHTS OF THE OLD REPUBLIC

There's plenty of great Star Wars games we considered for this list, including the recent Jedi: Fallen Order blockbuster, but in the end, we had to pick this epic RPG. It was the game that gave us our first chance to really live in a galaxy far, far away. Eventually it even spawned an MMO.

3. KINGDOM HEARTS SERIES

We're kind of cheating a bit with this one. The epic RPG series from Square Enix has its own story, lead character (Sora) and lore, but its magically intertwined with the worlds of famous Disney movies. From Toy Story to Frozen to Monsters Inc and plenty more, not only do you get to meet with the characters, but you get to explore the environments from these films in a way you never would have thought possible.

2. GOLDENEYE 007 (N64)

James Bond is the perfect character to transition across to games, but most of his titles have been quite average. Not GoldenEye 007, however! With its incredible mission design and brilliant multiplayer mode, It was not only a huge hit, but is considered one of the most important games in the evolution of the first-person shooter genre.

1. ANY LEGO GAME (ALL FORMATS, 2004 TO NOW)

Almost all the LEGO games have been based on a movie or movie series. Star Wars, Indiana Jones, Pirates of the Caribbean, Harry Potter, Lord of the Rings, Jurassic Park and we could go on. The thing is, rather than getting boring and repetitive, each LEGO game has managed to stay fun. The sense of humour, ever improving technical achievements and fun co-op gameplay never fails.

RIPLY EFFECT

There's no stopping Adelaide-born Rhea Ripley, who at only 23 has won the NXT Women's Championship from former UFC fighter Shayna Baszler.

KRASH: How does it feel to have taken the NXT Women's Championship from Shayna Baszler?

RHEA: It feels incredible to be the person who dethroned the person who claimed to be unbeatable. I don't really know how to put it into words, especially because I wasn't on NXT for long. I was mainly based on the UK brand and then as soon as I came to NXT I had to go, go, go. I'm glad I got to make Australia proud.

KRASH: Who have you got your eye on as the biggest threat in the NXT locker room?

RHEA: Well you know us Aussies, we like a good fight so I'm ready to face anyone. But I guess the main person I want to face would be Dakota Kai because I never really got back at her for WarGames. She left Candice and I stranded and beat her friend up so I wouldn't mind having a go at her, especially because we have the Kiwi vs Australian angle.

KRASH: What obstacles have you had to overcome to make it to the top?

RHEA: The main obstacle was learning not to care too much about what people say. I've gone from trying to please people and do things by the book to not caring about what people think anymore and it's really helped me be me.

KRASH:
What's been your favourite match so far?

RHEA: My favourite match would be the second of the Mae Young Classic where I got to face Io Shirai. It was never supposed to happen but it did and we went out there and absolutely killed it. It's a match that's going to stay with me for life because that definitely changed my career here and it made people realise I am one of the best and I should be in that top calibre of athletes. It was a career-defining night for me.

KRASH: How do you feel about there being so many talented Aussies in NXT now?

RHEA: It's super-cool there are so many Australians in NXT now. It's sort of funny because when I was growing up and watching wrestling there were people like Brendan Vink and Bronson Reed. To actually make it to NXT before them and wait for them here is insane. It's such a good feeling to see Australians getting their shot. I'm proud that you can watch WWE these days and hear the name Adelaide, South Australia, because that's something that's never been done before and I'm happy I can be the one to represent Adelaide and Australia in general within the WWE.

FREAK

TERRIFYING TALENTS

We bet these guys wowed the class at show-and-tell time. Unless you want to wind up in hospital, do not try these tricks at home.

IRON GUTS

Famous Frenchman Michel Lotito could eat anything, and we mean anything. In his lifetime, he ate 15 shopping carts, seven televisions, two beds, a pair of skis and an entire aeroplane. He died soon after his 57th birthday... of natural causes. And Lotito claimed he didn't have any problems 'passing' his unusual diet.

AIR HEAD

Why blow up a balloon using your mouth when you have two perfectly good ears? When Chinese factory worker Wei Mingtang discovered his ears leak air he decided to put his 'talent' to good use and inflate balloons with his ears using a pipe. He's also very good at blowing out candles with his ears, so be sure to invite him to your next party!

STRETCH APPEAL

Garry Turner, from the UK, has skin so loose he can turn his belly into a table that holds three jugs of beer. He can also lift his tummy skin up so it covers his mouth. Turner's talent is due to a rare medical condition called Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome, which he's been able to turn into a real money-spinner.

VOMIT COMET

Talented Scotsman Stevie Starr can swallow all sorts of stuff... and throw it back up again on demand. Coins, lightbulbs, balloons, billiard balls and even live goldfish have all disappeared down his gob only to reappear a minute later – and yes, the goldfish was still alive. It's lucky goldfish only have a three-second memory though!

BUG EYES

Brazilian man Claudio Pinto can pop his eyes out of their sockets so they stick out a whopping four centimetres. Check him out on Youtube for a real eye-opening experience.

NOSTRIL KNOW-HOW

Claire Hawes left Britain's Got Talent judges speechless after playing not one but two recorders with her nostrils. She was buzzed out by all three judges in record time. Let's just hope no-one accidentally tried to play the recorders with their mouth after she'd had them up her shnoz.

MR METHANE

'Processional farter' Paul Oldfield discovered his, um, gift for trouser trumpeting when he was doing yoga one day. He's able to suck in air with his rear end and blow it out at any time and can even 'play' entire songs using his butt. Better known by his stage name, Mr Methane, the Englishman says he puts 'the art into fart'.

INCREDIBLE RUBBERMAN

Norwegian contortionist Captain Frodo was born double-jointed, which means he can dislocate joints. His body is so flexible he can push himself through the head of a tennis racquet. Oh and did we mention he also swallows swords for fun?

PRANK

Terrorise your friends and family with our black list of classic pranks,

THE PRANK:

Marshmallow Mash Up

TOOL KIT

- ❑ A PACKET OF MINI MARSHMALLOWS
- ❑ A STURDY CHAIR
- ❑ A CEILING FAN.

THE SET UP: Buy a packet of mini marshmallows and find yourself a sturdy chair or step ladder to stand on. Make sure you don't use a swivel chair. Place the chair or step ladder beneath a ceiling fan – make sure it's turned off -- and carefully place the marshmallows on the blades of the fan. When the next person turns on the fan, the marshmallows will be flung across the room!

THE PUNISHMENT: You'll probably have to spend the next hour cleaning up marshmallows, but all's well that ends well, so that should be all the punishment coming your way.

LAUGH METER

THE PRANK:

Doughnut Gross Out

TOOL KIT

- ❑ CREAM-FILLED DOUGHNUT
- ❑ JAR OF MAYONNAISE
- ❑ A TEASPOON!

THE SET UP: Secretly buy a cream-filled doughnut and carefully scoop out the cream without damaging the doughnut. Now refill the doughnut with mayonnaise and put it centre stage in the fridge so everyone will notice it. Wait for a thief to knock your doughnut and watch as they get a mouthful of gross mayonnaise.

THE PUNISHMENT: No punishment for this one. After all, it was the victim who stole your doughnut.

LAUGH METER

TOOL KIT

- ❑ A BAR OF SOAP
- ❑ PAPER TOWEL
- ❑ CLEAR NAIL POLISH

THE PRANK:

Super Soap

THE SET UP: Grab the bar of soap out of the shower when nobody is looking. Use the paper towel to make sure the soap is nice and dry, then carefully paint the soap with the nail polish. Let it dry in the sun and then put it back in the shower. The next time somebody has a shower, they'll be completely confused about why the soap will not lather.

THE PUNISHMENT: If you knicked the nail polish from your sister or mum, there could be a little punishment coming your way. It would be a good idea to have a replacement bottle up your sleeve.

LAUGH METER

THE PRANK:

Candy Crush

THE SET UP: Carefully open the M&Ms, making sure you don't rip the packet. Pour out the M&Ms and replace them with the Skittles. Use the glue stick to reseal the packet of M&Ms.

Wait for the glue to dry and give the M&Ms to the biggest chocoholic in your family. Wait for them to freak when they get an unexpected flavor surprise.

THE PUNISHMENT: We reckon you'll be fine with this one. A return prank is probably the worst punishment you can expect.

TOOL KIT

- ❑ A PACKET OF M&MS
- ❑ A PACKET OF SKITTLES
- ❑ A GLUE STICK.

LAUGH METER

THE PRANK:

Sweet As

THE SET UP: When nobody is watching, take the soap dispenser out of the bathroom, unscrew the top and pour out the soap. Now put the funnel into the soap dispenser and pour the honey into the funnel. Screw the top of the soap dispenser back on and put it back where you found it.

Stake out the bathroom and you'll get a good laugh when the next person to wash their hands gets a sticky surprise.

THE PUNISHMENT: Okay, so your mum or dad might be a little peeved that you wasted the soap and the honey. Prepare for a major cut in your pocket money.

TOOL KIT

- ❑ A LIQUID SOAP DISPENSER
- ❑ A JAR OF HONEY
- ❑ A PLASTIC FUNNEL.

LAUGH METER

ACID DROP OFF SLOPED BOX

STEP BY STEP

STEP 1: Choose where you're going to land and commit to that spot. Notice the angle Josh has his board so that it lands on the flat part first. You can step on with your front foot or back which ever is more comfortable for you.

STEP 2: Bend your knees a little.

STEP 3: Just before you get to the edge of the block you must do a manual, lift the front of the board up so you land all wheels down.

STEP 4: When acid dropping off high places bending your knees will help with balance but also prevent injury to your knees and lower back. Congratulations. You just landed an acid drop.

SHAME SHACK

Geez KRASH Headz. You are one crazy bunch! Check out these 100% REAL stories!

SHAME OF THE MONTH

Well, one day Mum and I were going for a bike ride. We got to the end of our road and I was suddenly busting for a poo! I said "Mum I need a poo badly" and Mum said "ride back to the house and unlock the door and go to the toilet." So I rode home as fast as I could and I thought my poo would fly out. I got through the gate and had to find the key to unlock the door. I couldn't unlock the door in time.

Well it was almost too late and I had to get my shorts down and poop near the wheelie bins. Wow I was glad I got my shorts down. Anyway I had no toilet paper so I had to ride back to Mum who was waiting for me at the corner of our street with a squishy bum. We did our ride and when we got home I went to show Mum where I pooped and I discovered that my dog Wilbur had ate my poo for his tea! Mum said he might get sick from it and that we need to keep an eye on him. Mum said she felt sick too! Anyway, Wilbur was fine he didn't get sick and Mum and me laughed about it for about a week!

Riley

When I was in first year we had a sub teacher and she was really boring but on the last day she was there we had a popcorn party and I had pooped my pants just before it started. I realised half way through and I told my sub and she started laughing. Everyone noticed the sub laughing so she told everyone. I rushed to the bathroom but I had started leaking everywhere. Plus the cleaner got annoyed. Worst thing ever.

Jackson

One day I was at my friend's for a sleepover and I really had to go to the toilet. When I sat down on the toilet seat a REALLY big spider jumped on my face and I got a really big fright and ran out of the toilet with my pants still down!

James

Last Christmas, I asked for a trampoline. On Christmas Day, I found a note under the tree saying to go outside. I went outside and TA DA! There was a trampoline! I was so excited, I went and started to jump on it straight away, even though I was only in my undies. I started to jump really high, but just then I heard my neighbours going outside into their yard! I started to panic, and fell over and got my b@lls stuck in the trampoline! It was so painful, I screamed really loud and my neighbour came and jumped the fence and saw me. It was sooo embarrassing!
