HOTTEST headlines... /

Adam makes his vows to Sarah, while secretly vowing to avenge Gary

The Barlow and Platt families come together this week, for what is arguably the Street wedding of the year – as Adam makes Sarah his wife in a gorgeous fairy-tale ceremony!

However, with the bride and her daughter Bethany at loggerheads – and scheming groom Adam taking every opportunity to rub salt in the wounds of Sarah's former fiancé Gary (see p9) – the road to the swanky hotel venue for their marriage is anything but smooth...

"This is Weatherfield, so there will always be drama whenever anyone ties the knot," scoffs our cobbles insider. "However, in the grand scheme of soap weddings, Sarah and Adam get off pretty lightly. The massive smiles on their faces say it all!"

Although, at the start of the week, Sarah is anything but the beaming bride-to-be as she continues to quarrel with Bethany – while also conscious that her daughter's dramas could spill over into the wedding day itself!

"Bethany's relationship with Adam's uncle and best man Daniel hasn't won them many friends on the Street, with his late wife Sinead's auntie Beth publicly shaming the pair at every opportunity," sighs our source. "Sarah's primary concern, of course, is that Bethany is making a huge mistake getting involved with a man who has just buried his wife. However, there is the added fear that another row could kick off during Sarah and Adam's nuptials, given that Bethany and Daniel are key members of the bridal party – and half the Street is on the guest list. Daniel can forget his best man's speech if gobby Beth ends up getting hold of the microphone!"

In the hours leading up to the service, Sarah is heartbroken knowing that she and Bethany are on such bad terms. Adam is unable to stomach seeing his fiancée so unhappy, and heroically steps in to calm Sarah down.

Relations between bride-to-be Sarah and Bethany are strained

Thankfully, the bond that mother and daughter share is too strong to be broken by the stress of the past few weeks – and Sarah and Bethany reunite in time for Bethany to slip on her chief bridesmaid's dress.

“Hotshot solicitor Adam has spared no expense on the 1920s-themed wedding,” grins our sneak. “Sarah – who is flanked by Bethany, little bridesmaid Lily, and page boy Harry when brothers Nick and David walk her down the aisle – looks absolutely breathtaking in a flapper-style frock, topped off beautifully with a feathered shawl and sparkly headband. Adam’s a lucky man!”

After exchanging their vows in a romantic ceremony, the new Mr and Mrs Barlow seal the deal with a passionate kiss. However, before whisking his new wife away from gloomy Weatherfield to an exotic location, Adam begins married life by channelling his energy into making Gary’s life a misery – setting off a cataclysmic chain of events for him, Maria and Ali. Could the honeymoon be over before it has even begun?

Kicking up a stink!

Star Tina O’Brien (Sarah) skirts around the truth of her alter ego’s gorgeous gown...

Sarah’s marriage to Adam isn’t actress Tina O’Brien’s (Sarah) first soap wedding – with her character having tied the knot to Jason Grimshaw back in 2007. On both occasions the bride looked stunning, although Tina confesses that her TV nuptials are never as glamorous as they look...

“You’re wearing the dress for a long time, so it can get a bit smelly!” confesses the actress who, in real life, wed husband Adam Croft on New Year’s Eve in 2018. “By day four, you’re like, ‘Is that me that I can smell in my dress?’ The costume department will kill me for saying that!”

Bethany leaves the Street – after Daniel proposes!

...BUT WILL HE GO WITH HER?

After weeks of being treated like a pariah over his relationship with Bethany, Daniel is determined to prove that he's in love – by popping the question!

But as Daniel makes his public grand gesture, hollering up to Bethany's window while he kneels on the cobbles below, she realises that he is proposing with his late wife Sinead's wedding ring...

"Bethany is very confused, because Daniel is really drunk," reveals star Lucy Fallon, who plays her. "He is slurring his words and can't properly stand up. It's a Romeo And Juliet kind-of moment with Bethany up high on a balcony – although really she is just hanging out of the window! But after Bethany realises the significance of the ring – and then Daniel calls her by Sinead's name – she is completely devastated."

The crushing reality of knowing that Daniel isn't over Sinead, and won't be for a long time yet, hits home for Bethany as she resolves to leave the Street and accept her magazine internship in London.

"When the day comes, she is one hundred per cent ready to leave," Lucy tells us. "Everything that has happened recently, and everything that has gone on in Bethany's past, cements in her mind that there is no reason for her to stay. She needs to go and do this job in London, grab the opportunity and see what happens."

So, when Bethany says her goodbyes to her family and friends, how will Daniel react?

Adam tells Gary Maria cheated!

HE TAKES GREAT DELIGHT IN SPILLING THE BEANS ON DR ALI'S SPECIAL EXAMINATION...

Hot on the heels of his ex Sarah's marriage, Gary tells Maria this week that they should set a date for their own nuptials.

However, just as the pair excitedly look to the future, Adam knocks the wind out of Gary's sails – by revealing all to Maria's furious fiancée about the afternoon delight she shared with doctor Ali on Valentine's Day!

"The ink has barely had time to dry on Adam and Sarah's wedding certificate when he takes pleasure in revealing the scandalous truth of Maria's fling," frowns our cobbles source. "Seeing Sarah go ahead and marry Adam has to sting for Gary, who secretly probably still holds a torch for her deep down. So after Gary commits to Maria, and then learns that she has been unfaithful, it is doubly hurtful."

Maria regretted her reunion with Ali once it transpired that Gary had secretly been planning to propose, and has since told the disheartened doc to keep his distance.

But when Adam realises something could be going on between the pair, he makes it his mission to get the truth out of Ali.

"Adam tricks Ali into telling all, and assures him that his secret is safe," reveals our spy. "Yet that couldn't be further from the truth, as he delights in informing Gary what his wife-to-be was up to on Valentine's Day."

The irony of Gary's situation is that he's turned over a new leaf and, prior to learning about Maria and Ali, rejects an offer to join forces with his old debt-collecting buddy Sharon when they bump into one another.

Meanwhile, Maria waits for Gary in the Rovers to toast their engagement as he hunts down Ryan, demanding to know if anything is going on between Maria and Ali. Ryan insists that Adam is telling a pack of lies, before finding Ali and warning him that he's just saved his skin.

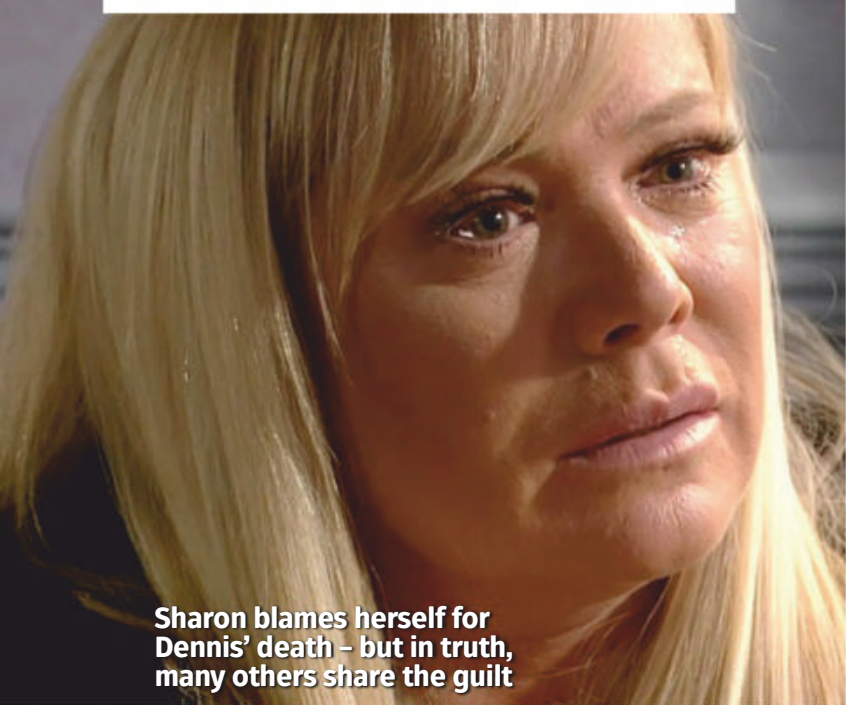

However, when Gary eventually joins oblivious and tipsy Maria in the pub, he is quietly seething – and later puts in a call to Sharon offering her loan shark Rick Neelan's old client list in return for a favour. What sort of awful revenge is Gary cooking up for Ali and Maria?

Sharon blames herself for Dennis' death – but in truth, many others share the guilt

The residents of the Square do their best to return to normal this week, following the horrors of the boat party – but it's clear that lives have been changed forever by the events of that night...

As shattered Sharon prepares for the funeral of her son, she's blaming herself for his death. But little does she realise quite how deeply her supposed friends and family were involved in the tragedy. And as Ian struggles to keep his own secrets, the truth is revealed in the form of an incriminating voicemail...

A MOTHER'S NIGHTMARE

"It's no surprise that Sharon has gone to pieces," sighs our Walford source. "She's led a life beset by tragedy, and thought she had already lived through the worst imaginable grief. But nothing compares with losing her Dennis. And this is in the immediate aftermath of a traumatic childbirth. She's in the worst place she's ever been."

A large part of Sharon's agony stems from the fact that she holds herself responsible for Dennis' death. If only she'd been more focused on him – she thinks. If only she hadn't become caught up in her affair with Keanu... So now, when Sharon looks at her new baby, she sees only a reminder of her mistakes – a reminder that she herself started the chain of events that led to Dennis being on that ill-fated boat.

Sharon's lack of interest in her new child is noticed by Linda, who offers to take care of the baby as a distraction from her own problems. Meanwhile, Kathy and Ian, whom Sharon has been living with, notice how badly she is struggling. Although Ian, of course, is trapped by his own crushing guilt...

IAN'S SHAME

Only a few people know that Ian was gunning for Dennis on the night of his death, and as the week begins, it's clear that Ian's son Peter holds his dad responsible for the tragedy.

"Peter's giving Ian the cold shoulder for sure," says our spy. "But after talking to Bobby and Dotty about the online bullying that had set Dennis and Ian on a collision course, Peter agrees to hear Ian's side of the story."

However, it's Dotty herself that Ian has most reason to fear. She knows how angry Ian was that night – and this week hears a damning voicemail left by Dennis, pleading for Ian to let him out of the locked room.

"As far as Dotty is concerned, this is proof that Ian killed Dennis," notes our insider. "It's incendiary information. Imagine the ways she might use this to her advantage. Remember that this is Nick Cotton's daughter we're talking about!"

WHERE'S PHIL?

One person who seems to have gone completely to ground since the accident is Phil. And with good reason. After all, it was his fight with Keanu in the wheelhouse of the boat that caused the crash – and Dennis' death.

"This responsibility will weigh heavily on Phil's conscience," muses our mole. "After all, it was one of Phil's feuds that also led to the death of Dennis' father – a secret that Phil kept from Sharon for many years."

The same guilt will also fall on Ben's shoulders. His kidnapping of Sharon just before she went into labour stopped her from leaving with Dennis, leading to the boy joining the boat party.

So as Sharon struggles to come to terms with what's happened, she will eventually emerge from her grief in search of someone to blame for Dennis' death. How will she feel when she learns that her husband, her best friend and the boy she once thought of as a son are all responsible?

Why Dennis had to die!

We asked the EastEnders bosses how they chose their latest victim...

Kate Oates [Head of Continuing Drama, BBC] and Jon Sen [EastEnders' executive producer] talked us through the planning of Walford's most shocking death in years...

So, the big question: why poor Dennis?

Kate The main thing you want from any soap, any drama, is consequences. And that's what comes out of Dennis' death. It's about where the story goes next, and the people who are left behind. The EastEnders story conference room is a vibrant place, and we discussed lots of different options, but we knew in our hearts that this was the twist that would power us through months of future story. It has an epic, Greek tragedy feel to it.

Jon As Kate says, I think in retrospect there was only one candidate who could generate the type of story we wanted to tell going forward.

How did Bleu Landau react when you told him that his character was going to die?

Jon Professionally! He was incredibly excited to be at the heart of such a big week. Whenever you're talking to an actor about a story like this, they want to know how big the story is going to be, and are always excited to go out on something as adrenalin-fuelled and moving as this.

What will life be like in Walford for the survivors?

Kate The whole point of a disaster of this magnitude is that it has a huge impact. If you can imagine a real community facing this, it would have long-standing repercussions. There will be consequences of this story in a year to come, and we know where it is going. That is one of the joys of how we are all working together as a team on EastEnders at the moment. We feel as if we have a real clarity – knowing where we are going with these characters in the long term. The boat tragedy will have hard-hitting consequences for a lot of people.

James Burrows departs...

Ali played with fire by getting involved with Maria again

Maria's love triangle in Corrie will reach a thrilling conclusion when Dr Ali blasts out of Weatherfield!

Her fiancé Gary is set to learn this week that the exes slept together on Valentine's Day (see p9), and his discovery will lead to a dramatic exit for Ali. Meanwhile, star James Burrows is bidding farewell to the cobbles after two years in the role.

"I've had a great time on Corrie," he says. "It's a brilliant show to have been a part of, and I've made lifelong friends. I'm not allowed to say how Ali leaves, but it's exciting!"

"I handed in my notice as I wanted to go back into the TV drama side of things, and I'm in talks with a few people," adds James, whose previous acting credits include shows such as Mount Pleasant and Happy Valley – as well as hit movie Fighting With My Family last year. "I miss the creative side of things and would love to go back to that. It's exciting times."

James took over the role of Michelle Connor's estranged biological son in 2018, after Ali began working as a trainee GP at the local medical centre. He has already filmed his final scenes, and Ali's exit will air next month.

Ali and Michelle had quite a rocky reunion at first

Will Dr Ali's feud with villain Gary see his time in Corrie come to an end?

THE STREET'S NEW BADDIE!

Ray is gunning for trouble – but who will be his next target?

Corrie bosses are lining up Bistro boss Ray to take over as the show's new villain! It'll turn out that the sleazy tycoon has an ulterior motive for being on the cobbles and taking over the local businesses – and he has a particular target...

"Ray might be discounted by the audience as someone who is going to disappear soon, but he's the new baddie on the block," shares our Corrie insider. "After his indecent proposal to Abi, Ray blackmails Kevin into selling him the garage, meaning that he now owns two premises on the Street."

"This is just the beginning as he becomes a destructive force on the cobbles. Ray is around for the long haul – and he's going to ruffle many more feathers going forward..."

So, just what is Ray's interest in Weatherfield? He will soon unveil the new-look Bistro and will be Kev's landlord – but why is he so interested in the lives of the locals?

STOP PRESS!

Come home!

Tanya Branning ought to be set for a return to Walford, if EastEnders star Jake Wood – who plays Max – has his way! “If anyone reading this sees Jo Joyner [who played the actor’s on-screen wife], please ask her to come back nicely!” he pleads.

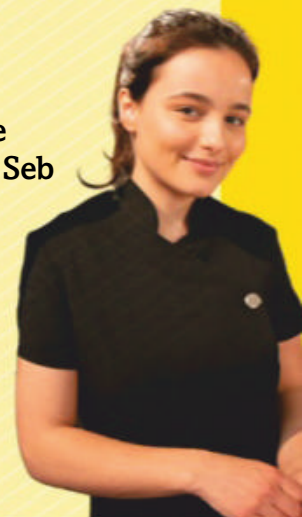

Role reversal!

Meanwhile, Tanya nearly had a different face altogether! Actress Kellie Bright, who plays Linda in the BBC soap, auditioned for the part. “I screen-tested for the role of Tanya and read with Jake Wood,” she reveals.

New love for Alina!

Emma might not have cause to worry about Seb falling back into the arms of his ex, Alina, says Ruxandra Porojnicu, who plays her. “Maybe someone else will catch her eye...” teases the star.

“I’VE QUIT EASTENDERS!”

June Brown says Dot won’t return...

The celebrations for Walford’s 35th anniversary have been blown out of the water by the news that actress June Brown, who has played Dot since 1985, has left the soap for good.

The 93-year-old actress – who is not currently on screen, after Dot decided to visit family in Ireland – has announced that she has no intention of going back.

“I’ve sent Dot off to Ireland where she’ll stay,” explains June, who appeared to be back in the Square fold when Dot arrived home with her granddaughter Dotty last year, only to leave again a few weeks ago after Martin told Dot he’d stolen from her bank account. “I went back to do a good story, and when I got back it had gone up in smoke. I will never go back.”

June’s remarks appear to have baffled Walford bosses, with insiders saying that the star’s dressing room and all of its contents are still there.

“As far as EastEnders is concerned, the door remains open for June, as it always has if the story arises and she wishes to take part,” explains a spokesperson. Please stay, June!

Dotty has only recently joined her grandmother in Albert Square

Soap SPY...

Job swap!

The actress behind Corrie’s Gemma – aka Dolly-Rose Campbell – had a taste of what it’s like to be on the other side of the camera lens recently, after swapping places with the Coronation Street production crew for the day. So, that would be why they call it a camera dolly!

BUT WILL HE BE THE ONLY ONE KILLED?

Poor junior doctor Mason is killed this week, when armed men storm the hospital and a hostage situation ensues. And as he ends up dead, will the rest of the locals manage to make it out alive?

"It starts out like any normal shift, then, out of nowhere, these thugs burst in and hold everyone hostage," says Orpheus Pledger, who plays doomed Morgan brother, Mason. "Then it's a matter of how to deal with the situation and how to escape..."

With Alex, Jasmine, Bella, Mackenzie and Marilyn all being held hostage, Mason – along with newcomer Ari Parata – attempts to get everyone out. However, it doesn't go to plan.

"Mason basically makes a sacrifice," Orpheus tells us. "He is very willing to present himself and stand up in the face of adversity and danger to protect everyone else."

"Mason stands up in the face of adversity"

As news of the siege spreads across Summer Bay, scared family and friends of the hostages wait outside for news about their loved ones. But unbeknown to them, Mason loses his life.

"I think it shows Mason's character," Orpheus tells us. "It's a testing time – he has to choose whether to take the noble path, and he does. He fights until the end..."

The hostages are in grave danger during the siege

Back in the Bay, Justin and Tori are unaware of the tragedy that's unfolding at the hospital. And after all the family has been through, will the news of their brother's death finally break them?

"I hope they'll be all right," shares Orpheus. "One way for them to look at it is: if he doesn't do what he does, there'd be more casualties."

With Orpheus having waved goodbye to Home and Away after three years, he tells us that he'll really miss playing his alter ego.

"Mason just tried to do the right thing all the time," grins Orpheus. "We can always go back and know that Mason's a good guy. One of the plots I enjoyed was the medical marijuana trials with Raffy. The concept of that was really controversial, especially in Australia at the time, and the idea of getting a storyline like that was very exciting."

Marlon disowns the Dingles!

IT'S NO MORE MR NICE GUY AS HE DISCOVERS THE TRUTH...

From now on, Marlon's number-one priority is his daughter, April

Furious Marlon tells the Dingles that they are dead to him this week, after finding out the shocking truth about his time in prison.

In the aftermath of his release, Marlon is struggling to fit back into normal life, especially given the injustice of his imprisonment. So things are already bad this week when he discovers April is being bullied because of her 'murderer' dad. But when Rhona reveals that Charity sat on evidence that could have secured his release, Marlon is apoplectic with rage.

"What Charity and Ryan have done is pretty bad, but Marlon over-reacts massively," shares Mark Charnock, who plays the angry chef. "He knows that if they had just come forward and been straight with the police, it would have proved that there are other people who could have murdered Graham and he would have got out. Marlon really goes after Charity!"

Marlon's anger is understandable, but worse is to come when he hears from Rhona that Kim hired a hitman and that Al was implicated,

"The Dingle ethos is that you have each other's backs..."

Marlon is at the end of his tether, and tells his family he's done with them all!

“I love all the shouting!”

Marlon's misery is mounting, but his alter ego Mark is having a ball...

Hi, Mark! Marlon is in a bad place, isn't he?

He's broken! He's like a firecracker that's gone off and now he's very damaged. The consequences are going to be really interesting in the late spring. There's some great stuff coming up – I'm really excited!

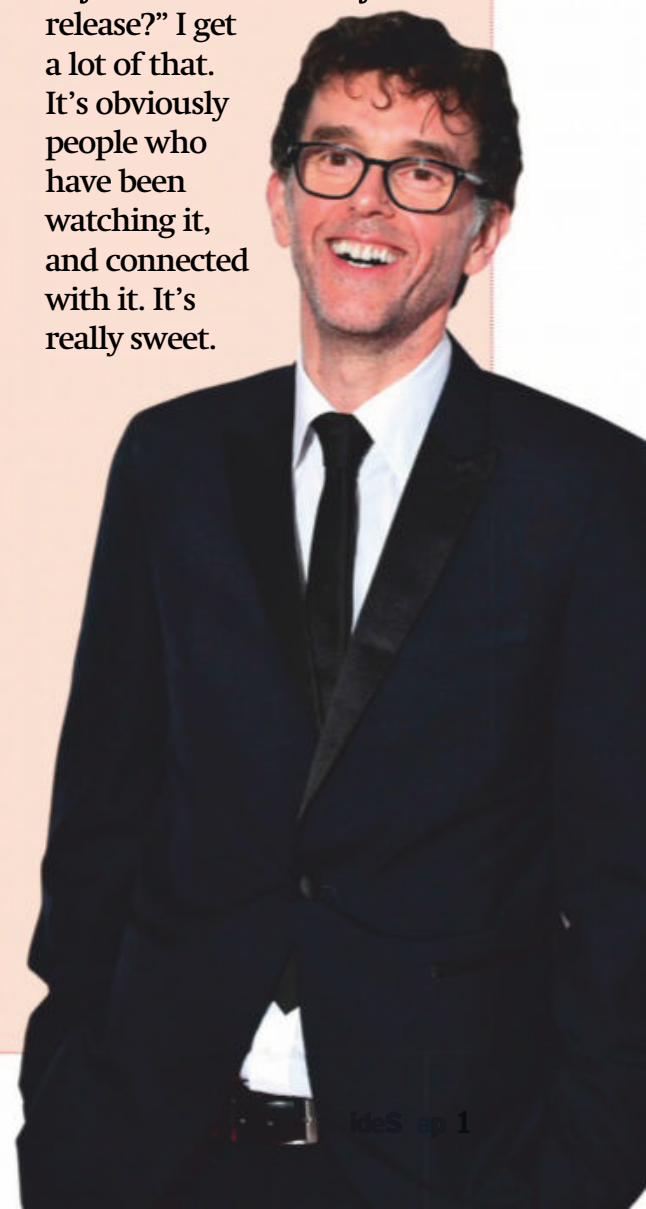

Are you enjoying these big dramatic scenes?

Yes, they're brilliant. I love all the shouting! There have been some belting speeches where I really go off at people, and then some tender stuff with April. The rug has been pulled from under his life, and Marlon is creating a distance between himself and other people wherever he goes.

Are you touched by the fan reaction to Marlon being in prison?

Yes! I mean Twitter's been amazing, but out on the street as well! Everywhere I get, “What are you doing here? Shouldn't you be in your cell? Out on day release?” I get a lot of that. It's obviously people who have been watching it, and connected with it. It's really sweet.

leading to another blow-up. He goes over to confront Al and punches him, and as Marlon tells Ellis to get the police, yet another relationship breaks down.

“Marlon is really close to Ellis and treats him like a proper stepson, but Ellis chickens out because he doesn't want to report his dad to the police,” shares Mark. “So, Marlon kicks him out. And when Billy tries to defend Ellis, Marlon kicks him out too! In a way, what Marlon is doing is getting rid of anybody in his circle apart from his children, who he wants to focus on.”

Even Mandy – who's been a rock for Marlon and April – will feel his wrath.

“The stress levels build and build with Mandy,” explains Mark. “She's invited a reporter to the village for Marlon's release. So while he's trying to be reunited with April, there's this journalist in his face. Mandy did it to get money and Marlon can't believe what she's done.”

Fed up with his family's behaviour, Marlon marches into the Woolpack to tell them he's done with them.

“I don't think Marlon realises how much he needs them,” warns Mark. “But the Dingle ethos is that you have each other's backs – and they didn't. Marlon believes they've broken the code!”

Warren squares up to his rival – which bloke are you putting your money on?

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

Liam vs Warren!

WHO WILL WIN THE BATTLE OF THE HOLLYOAKS BAD BOYS?

Liam Donovan finally comes face to face with legendary villain Warren Fox this week, as the two men square up to each other during a tense stand-off in the Loft!

While Liam's been used to running all the dodgy dealings in the village over the past couple of years, now Warren's back, he's keen to be the king of Hollyoaks once again. So as the men go to war, who will reign supreme in the battle of the bad boys?

"Warren definitely isn't someone you should underestimate – you do so at your peril!" warns Jude Monk McGowan, who plays his new nemesis, Liam. "But I think initially, Liam totally does that! Liam's been top of the tree, dealing all of the drugs, and he hasn't faced any real competition that was all that serious. So this is the first proper head-to-head threat to his authority in the village."

Although Warren has been back for a few weeks, the men are only now crossing paths thanks to their mutual interest in Mercedes. Warren is currently bedding Liam's ex-squeeze – so when he hears that her former flame has smashed up the Dog, Warren storms round to confront Liam – with his heavies in tow...

"Warren has overheard Liam making threats towards Mercedes, and takes that as proof that Liam was the one who shot her," explains Jude. "But smashing up the Dog was just Liam sending Mercedes a message that he's over her – it's a power move. So when Warren comes round issuing threats, Liam's not scared of him at all."

Given that Warren's body count is far higher than Liam's, he probably should be quaking in his boots! But Jude reckons his alter ego would fancy his chances in a straight fight...

"He would certainly put money on himself to defeat Warren!" chuckles Jude.

"He has the connections, and he has some powerful people behind him. And the thing about villains is that they're only ever as good as their adversaries."

"There is going to be a showdown and a battle of wills between these two – it's been a lot of fun to film," adds the actor. "It's not going to be completely one-sided, there's going to be a lot of to-ing and fro-ing between them. I know there are a lot of hardcore Warren fans out there, but hopefully some people will want to see Liam win, too!"

Sarah Ellis

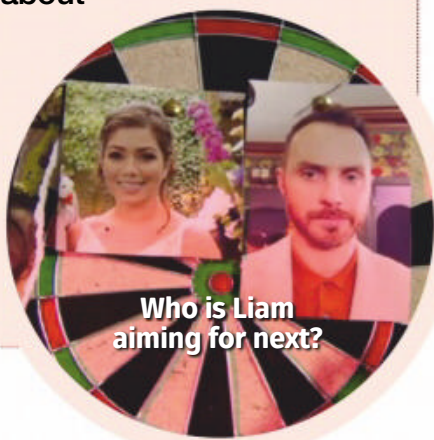

"This is the first proper head-to-head threat to Liam's authority..."

ON TARGET!

After this week's face-off, Liam could well be adding Warren to his dartboard of doom – and Jude tells us that he's been finding Liam's habit of throwing sharp objects at his enemies quite amusing off screen...

"I'm very fond of sending pictures to my co-stars on WhatsApp and teasing them about it," he chuckles. "Especially on the rare occasion that I've managed to get one of them in the eye or through the head – because there are many, many times when I've missed the dartboard completely!"

The burglar escapes scot-free

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

Tiff & Keegan's HORROR!

A GREAT DAY TURNS SOUR AS KEEGAN IS WRONGLY ARRESTED...

Keegan is handcuffed and dragged away by police this week, after he and Tiff are victims of a burglary – and Keegan ends up mistakenly collared as the culprit!

The horrifying incident happens when he and wife Tiffany return home to their flat and disturb a burglar, who violently pushes Tiffany out of the way. Furious, Keegan starts scuffling with the mystery man – but as the police arrive, the intruder is gone, and they arrest Keegan instead of the burglar!

“This is a grotesque act of racism, and Keegan is so angry he can hardly contain himself,” explains our Walford insider. “Keegan has had to deal with repeated incidents of stop-and-search over the past few months, and he knows that his race is why the police keep apprehending him. But for them to ignore the facts this time, and put the handcuffs on him, is too much for Keegan to bear. The injustice is appalling.”

Tiffany is shocked as the events unfold in front of her. She knows that Keegan has been stopped of late, and that the police encounters have troubled him. But as a white woman, Tiff hasn’t experienced the racism that people of colour often have to deal with.

She’s devastated for Keegan, who had been full of joy following a family lunch at the Atkins house. After Iqra revealed that her Uncle Masood had given them his van, Keegan had grand plans for what it could mean for their business. They’d even got as far as thinking about applying for a business loan to grow their company quicker. But in the aftermath of the arrest, Keegan feels as if the whole world is against him.

“When Keegan sees Tiff’s Uncle Jack, who is in the police force, he launches a tirade about how bigoted he reckons the Met is,” says our spy. “The pain he feels comes spilling out, and everyone is shocked by the depth of his anger. Mitch feels bad for his son, and tries to distract Jade makes a pass at Tyrone!

SHE'S TRYING TO STEAL FIZ'S MAN...

Jade gets the wrong end of the stick when Ty makes a gesture

Tyrone is left stunned and horrified this week, when wicked Jade attempts to plant a kiss on him.

She believes that he's the key to her having more contact with Hope, but a misunderstood moment sees Jade make an awful mistake. She's desperate to see her little sister, and goes to beg Tyrone to give her kindness for more... "Let's just say that Fiz is going to hit the roof when she discovers what Jade has been up to now!" warns our Corrie insider. "Ty is completely access to Hope. He isn't keen, yet feels bad when he sees how upset she is – however, Jade totally misreads his innocent in this, he was just trying to show Jade some compassion. The kiss comes out of leftfield for him, and he's horrified that Jade would think he was interested in her. Ty is committed to Fiz and would never think of Jade that way."

The misunderstanding comes when Jade explains it's her birthday, and Hope asks to get her a present. Feeling sorry for lonely Jade, Tyrone agrees to facilitate a visit and buys a cheap bracelet for Hope to give to her big sister. The problem arises when Jade quizzes Hope about the trinket, and the little girl tells her that Ty picked it out. Although what she says is true, Tyrone was only trying to do a nice thing for Hope because she'd begged him to. He didn't mean to send any coded message to Jade about having feelings for her.

Following Jade's pass at him, Tyrone is determined to put her straight. He follows her out to Victoria Gardens and explains that he doesn't love her and that he and Fiz are rock solid together. Fiz soon catches up with them, and she's spitting feathers. Could there be more violence?

Distraught Geoff begs Yasmeen to stand by him this week, as Alya gets ever closer to learning the truth about his abusive behaviour.

She heads over to No 6 to confront Geoff and demands to know why Yasmeen was overheard sobbing in the garden. He's rattled and evasive, so Alya eventually catches up with her gran and persuades her to go for a walk together. When Geoff arrives home to an empty house, he's certain that Yasmeen has left him – and breaks down...

"If only Yasmeen were ready to pack her bags and get the hell away from him," shares our cobbles insider. "Instead, she returns home and finds him in a terrible state. Yasmeen doesn't understand why Geoff thinks she was about to leave him, but she's quick to reassure him that she's not going anywhere. What's it going to take for her to break free?"

Following his meltdown, Geoff is soon back to his old tricks as he continues his online campaign of abuse against Alya. But when she incorrectly assumes that shamed ex-boss Ray is behind it, Geoff starts to worry. There are ways for Alya to find out who posted the nasty comments, and Geoff's terrified she'll find out he was responsible. So, he attempts to convince the enraged businesswoman that she needs to rise above it and ignore the abuse.

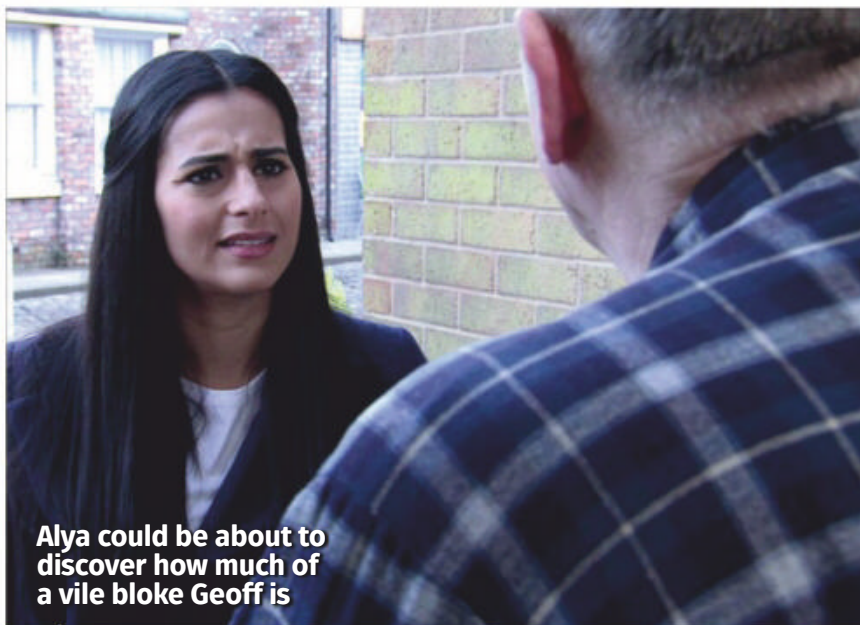

Will Alya take his advice, or will her digging lead her to the truth about Geoff and his wicked ways?

"Don't forget that Fiz is Cilla's daughter, and she's been pushed to the edge by Jade," shares our spy. "This woman has lied, manipulated and tried to frame her for child abuse. The last time they had a ferocious argument like this, Fiz assaulted Jade. Her rash decision is the reason that they still have to grant the twisted nanny access to their little girl. Will Fiz go too far, and give Jade the ammunition she needs to have her sent down?

"Gray has done a fine job of dispatching legal advice and swanning about in his sharp suits since moving to Albert Square – but now that the future of one of his neighbours is in jeopardy, he is under pressure to get a result in court," points out our EastEnders insider. Who would Cain land in it to keep his own nose clean?

As Will's daughter Dawn delights in the news that she's to get full custody of her son Lucas this week, there's barely time for celebrations before disaster strikes!

Will is left with a major problem when the police inform Cain of new forensic evidence concerning the gun used to shoot Nate, which was leant to him by Will. And as Cain and Will meet up to plan their next move, they're already being spied on by eagle-eyed newcomer DI Malone. Emmerdale has already revealed that Malone is to become a major character over the coming weeks – so what will his arrival mean for Will and Cain?

"This gun looks as if it will lead to even more trouble," says our Dales insider. "Moir learns that the police have unearthed further evidence relating to the gun, and she's forced to admit that it's buried at the top of Butlers Farm. All Cain cares about is keeping himself out of the frame. It might already be too late for that, though – because while he and Will discuss the urgent matter, they're being watched!"

In a car parked not far away from the pair, detective Malone is secretly observing the scene – but neither Cain or Will is aware of his presence. Later, Will isn't happy when PC

"He's well used to dealing with police questions, however, and is determined to keep his involvement under wraps at all costs. But when DI Malone appears, there's a definite change in Will's steely demeanour..."

Will is very clearly shaken by the unexpected arrival of the senior officer, and the situation turns sinister as DI Malone takes over the questioning – with a definite air of menace. But how do the two men know one another? And why is Will so afraid of him?

Will Nate agree to Cara's suggestion?

Nate has a big decision to make this week, when his mum Cara invites him to leave the village with her. But will he decide a fresh start is what he needs? Jurell Carter, who plays him, mulls it over...

Hello Jurell! So how is Nate feeling about Cara being in the village now?

They're trying to understand one another's actions, and they're finally on the way to building their relationship. Cara's presence is giving Nate a comfort away from home.

But Cara's a bit mean to Nate's girlfriend Tracy...

Yes. But there's no bad blood really. It's because Nate is Cara's baby boy – it's a situation quite common with over-protective mums! Tracy's actually very understanding, considering. Nate's a player and doesn't really stick with one girl, so he must see something special in Tracy. He's attracted to strong characters and family-orientated people – and he likes that she's cheeky!

When Cara asks Nate to go off with her, is he tempted?

Well, Nate has a lot to keep him in the village – a hell of a lot. He's starting to develop a relationship with the Dingles now, and then there's Tracy, too. And he also has his own business.

Are you enjoying working with former Family Affairs star Carryl Thomas, who plays Cara?

FUTURE TWIN

Surely I can't be the only one loving Charity's new hairsyle in Emmerdale! Now she looks the spitting image of Corrie's Abi – they could be long-lost sisters! One of them could do a bit of soap hopping for a great storyline. Abi would go down really well in Emmerdale – I'm sure Cain would welcome such a pretty and feisty new mechanic at the garage.

I think it's time that all the soaps became a bit more interactive. Why not have a disaster week, like the EastEnders boat accident or Graham's murder in Emmerdale, but let the viewers vote and decide which character should be the one to be bumped off!

THE MOURNING AFTER...

We're all still recovering from the EastEnders boat party, which left many Albert Square favourites clinging to life and our readers gripped by the show's 35th anniversary episodes!

It was hilarious when Shirley and Linda started brawling in the Vic as the special episodes started. It was unexpected, but not the first time a catfight's happened in the Square. Hopefully the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law will make up soon.

👤 | Manisa, Harrow

Wow! Sonia's in trouble this week, isn't she? Not only has she found out Bex is back on

Even just looking at the murky waters of the Thames

👤 | Michael

I'm worried that, after Kathy's emotional spiel to Sharon when she was in labour, young Dennis might not survive. But would they really kill off the last and only Den in Sharon's life? I don't know how she'd cope with gaining one child and losing another in the same week!

THE BIG interview

Bye, bye, Bethany:
Her loved ones gather to say their farewells

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

When Lucy Fallon arrived on the cobbles to play Bethany, the then-20-year-old was a novice – taking over the role of Sarah’s daughter at the eleventh hour, after the original actress who won the part was forced to drop out.

That’s easy to forget considering Lucy leaves the Street just four years later as one of its brightest talents, with many awards on her mantelpiece – most notably for the show’s grooming storyline in which Bethany was sexually abused.

Lucy’s time on the show has been an incredible journey, and one that she will never forget...

“I couldn’t have asked for a better role,” beams the star, as she joins Inside Soap for the final time to reflect on five fab years as Bethany. “I was trusted with hard-hitting stories, and I’m grateful for that.

“I think it’d be really sad if Bethany was killed, or if something horrendous had happened to make her leave,” adds Lucy. “After all that’s happened, it’s nice that Bethany is leaving because of a decision she has made for herself.”

We take the opportunity to wish Lucy all the best as she heads out into the big wide world of acting – but not before taking a trip down memory lane to reminisce over some of Bethany’s best bits...

“I am really going to miss Bethany!”

As her alter ego waves goodbye to Weatherfield, Lucy Fallon reflects on the soap role that changed her life...

Street MEMORIES!

Lucy looks back fondly on her time spent playing Corrie's Bethany Platt...

WHAT'S MY LINE?

"I remember my first scene was in the salon with Sue Nicholls, who plays Audrey, and Samia Longchambon [aka Maria]," says Lucy. "I don't remember my first line, but I remember I had to say the name 'Anna Karenina' pronounced 'Karen-in-a', and I said 'Karen-neen-a'! I was really embarrassed as they had to correct me. Everyone was very nice, but all day I was thinking, 'This is the worst thing that could have possibly happened!'"

FAMILY FORTUNES!

"It's tough to choose, but the people I've enjoyed working with the most are my on-screen family, the Platts," beams Lucy. "I started my time at Coronation Street with them, and I ended my time here with all of those actors as well. My journey wouldn't have been the same if I wasn't with them. They are like a second family to me and, when I was leaving, Ben Price [who plays Nick] said to me, 'We will always be here', which was just really nice."

"I would have loved some more scenes with Kate Ford [aka Tracy]," continues Lucy, grinning. "She and Bethany could have become an evil double-act!"

TOP OF THE PLOTS!

"The plot that I am most proud of is Bethany's grooming storyline, because of how important it was," reflects Lucy. "It helped and encouraged people to open up about things that they might not have felt they could talk about. Not so long ago, someone messaged me to say that, between the ages of 10 and 21, they had been abused. As they were watching the plot play out, they realised that's what was happening to them. Now their abuser has been jailed for 17 years."

BETHANY TAKES THE STAND

"The court scenes towards the end of the grooming plot were the most challenging as they were so emotional," explains Lucy. "There were a lot of people there, and I had a lot to say. Even during rehearsals, I got upset reading my lines."

GIRL ON FIRE!

"My most memorable moment to film has to be when Bethany smashed up the Platt house!" exclaims Lucy.

"Although it was amidst the emotional grooming storyline and I was crying and screaming, it was really fun to play, because I just let go, went crazy and smashed everything!"

"Sometimes there are scenes where the director will go through with you what the character is feeling, but this was left up to me to go for it," adds the star. "There was Jack P Shepherd [David], Tina O'Brien [Sarah] and Mikey North [Gary] in the scene and they were all like, 'Where did that come from?' It felt good."

THAT'S A WRAP!

"From the set I have taken a mug with Bethany's name on, a couple of dresses, and Bethany's coat," laughs Lucy, whose real-life family joined her for her last day on set.

"When we were on our last week of filming, I began to feel as if I was going to miss her. It's easy for me to come to Corrie and be Bethany, as I can switch to her easily – she is my alter ego. Bethany will always be there."

AS VIEWERS REEL FROM VANESSA’S CANCER DIAGNOSIS, DALES STAR MICHELLE HARDWICK RECKONS HER CHARACTER WILL COME OUT FIGHTING...

I’ve known about this storyline for quite a while – I just didn’t know when it was going to be played out on screen,” explains Emmerdale star

Michelle Hardwick, as she joins Inside Soap for a chat about her character Vanessa’s cancer diagnosis.

“When Jane Hudson first arrived as executive producer of Emmerdale, there were a few stories she wanted to do, and one of them was Vanessa’s cancer. She wanted to show a relatively young mum, just going about her normal business, when she suddenly gets struck down.”

But while Michelle has had plenty of time to get her head around Vanessa’s illness, it came as a bolt from the blue for us poor viewers. The first we heard of it was when wicked Pierce listened to a message from the hospital on Vanessa’s phone while he was holding her captive – and it certainly left fans of Vanessa’s romance with Charity reeling...

“It was a massive curveball, wasn’t it?” muses Michelle. “It does come out of nowhere, and I think the way the viewers found out was really shocking. I don’t generally look on social media when stuff like that happens on screen, though. I look when Emmerdale wins awards, and things that are more light-hearted!”

It’s not just viewers who are finding it hard to take in the news that their beloved ‘Vanity’ are facing this huge hurdle, however – Charity herself is also struggling with the bombshell. She’d only just got Vanessa back from Pierce’s clutches when she was dealt

Tied up: Vanessa’s had a tough time recently, as she was held hostage by Pierce

Confide in me:
But Charity has react to Vanessa's bad news

this devastating blow, and in typical Charity fashion, she's burying her head in the sand.

"The reason Vanessa didn't confide in Charity to begin with is because she thought she would run a mile," Michelle reminds us. "She was scared of her reaction, and it's not until Manpreet points out that Vanessa can't do this on her own that she finally tells Charity the truth.

"Charity's reaction is everything that Vanessa fears – she just panics," adds the star. "Charity keeps her distance from Vanessa, which only makes her feel more alone than ever.

She just wants Charity to tell her that they can get through this together."

Having known about this storyline for so long, Michelle has had plenty of time to do research. And she tells us that it's been really useful, as she's thrown herself head-first into filming.

"We've had conference calls, spoken to charities, and I've been talking to an expert called Professor Mark," she tells us. "He was telling me all about the symptoms, and how people react when they're told they have cancer. It's interesting, actually, as he said that it's generally the people around the patient that cry more, whereas the person it's happening to is often more stoic. That's how I'm playing Vanessa, she's being strong for everyone else. It's the people around her who are breaking down.

"I was also interested to know whether Vanessa could carry on with her work as a vet," continues Michelle. "She can't go near the animals, in case she gets an infection, but she's okay to do light duties."

Michelle doesn't know yet what her character's prognosis will be, although she does tell us that Vanessa will be undergoing treatment soon on screen. And as you'd expect, she won't be wallowing in self-pity...

"Vanessa's tough, so she's just getting on with things," reckons Michelle. "In the scenes I've filmed recently, she's been like, 'Come on Rhona, we're going out, like we used to at uni!' Rather than sitting around in her dressing gown and waiting for it all to happen, she's getting out there and living her life.

"I've been chatting to some people who are going through this, and it's been a real eye-opener for me," she adds. "I was so nervous and excited about doing this storyline, so I just hope that I do it justice."

KNOW THE SYMPTOMS

Seek help if you're worried about bowel cancer...

Although we never saw Vanessa investigating her symptoms on screen, the clues were there. Michelle gives us a run-down of things that people should look out for – and seek advice from their GP about if they are worried...

"Vanessa was tired and losing a bit of weight," explains Michelle. "She had pains in her tummy and was bloated, but she was just putting it down to IBS, or maybe a gluten intolerance. It wasn't until she noticed the blood in her stools that she made an appointment to speak to Manpreet.

"At that point, Manpreet was the only one who knew what Vanessa was going through," she adds.

"She sent her for tests at the hospital, which is when Vanessa then found out she had cancer."

“Casualty has been such a wonderful ride!”

AS ZSA ZSA MAKES A RETURN TO HOLBY THIS WEEK, SHARON GLESS TELLS US WHY SHE'LL KEEP COMING BACK...

We love it when our soaps attract big-name stars from the US – so the fact that former Cagney & Lacey actress Sharon Gless is returning to Casualty for another guest stint this week is proof that the medical drama really does have global appeal! And as Sharon speaks to us from her home in Los Angeles, she admits she's a huge fan of British telly...

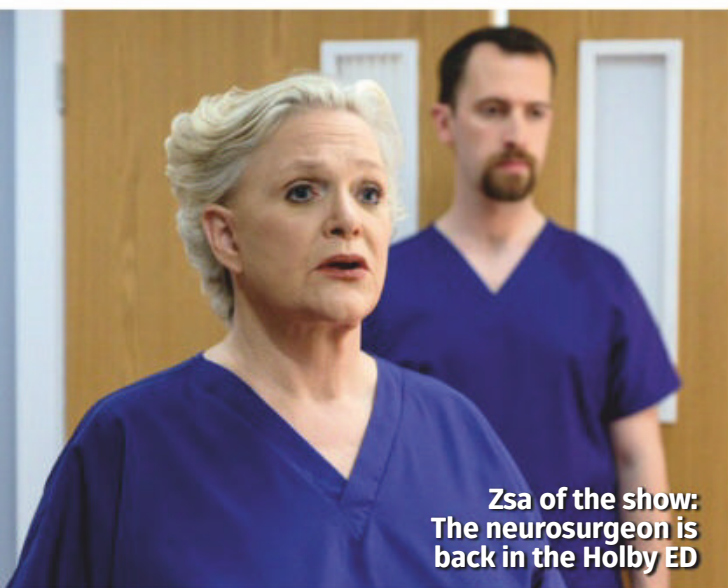

“There are so many wonderful shows in the UK,” she enthuses. “I love your television – just love it! The US used to be better at it, but you have surpassed us now, and my favourite shows are all from the UK.

“I’ve done three stints in Casualty, and every year I wait to see if they will invite me back again. I love the cast and crew, and I love being in Wales [where Casualty is filmed]. It’s such a wonderful ride, I’ve had so much fun!”

Neurosurgeon Zsa Zsa returns to Holby this week following a request from her good pal Dylan – whom she rather affectionately calls Dee Dee – to carry out a tricky operation on young patient Luka.

Zsa of the show: The neurosurgeon is back in the Holby ED

Keeping Faith: Will Zsa Zsa be able to save her colleagues' child?

Will you do this for me?' And she always does. I'm sure it was her ego waiting to act, as she's not without ego – she arrives and announces to everyone that she's the most famous brain surgeon in the world!"

Viewers will know that young Luka is the son of ED medics Faith and Lev, and was recently diagnosed with a brain tumour. As Zsa Zsa meets with the couple, she reassures them that she'll do her best to help save their son – but she can't help but think that Dylan may have had an ulterior motive for calling her to help with this operation...

"Zsa Zsa keeps checking out Faith, as she suspects Dee Dee is emotionally involved there," teases Sharon. "I said to the producers, 'Is Zsa Zsa in love with Dylan? Because she's a bit old for him!' They said they weren't playing it that way, but her nose is put out of joint by Faith."

Zsa Zsa's nose is put out of joint by Faith!

"I think Zsa Zsa is way too close to Dee Dee to ever develop a relationship like that," adds the 76-year-old star. "In a way, she's raised him – certainly in his professional life, and a great deal in his emotional life, too. He's vulnerable with her, in a way he isn't with anyone else."

Although the medics are reunited under serious circumstances, Zsa Zsa and Dylan are certainly happy to see each other. And Sharon was just as delighted to get to work with co-star Will Beck, who plays Dylan, once again.

"Will's such a wonderful actor, I just love working with him," she grins. "I didn't get the chance to work with him as much for this episode, because I was mostly in the operating room. It's a more complicated script this time around, and Zsa Zsa's focus is on this child, so there's not much emotion between her and Dylan. But we do have a lovely scene together after the surgery, which is sort of sad – it's when they have to say goodbye to each other."

Zsa Zsa may sweep in and out of the hospital in a haze of superiority, but Sharon admits she doesn't fancy working in medicine herself – as it was hard enough just remembering her lines for this episode!

"Well, first of all, human functions are not my favourite thing!" she laughs. "Plus, the dialogue is difficult. The cast is so generous, though – they let you know that we're all frail and I'm not the first person who has a hard time with medical dialogue. If it's over four syllables, I get a little confused!"

Sarah Ellis

TELLY ADDICT!
Sharon would love to be in more British shows...

It's clear that Sharon loves working in the UK – "I've done three plays in the West End," she tells us, "the people in Britain are so warm and lovely" – so we wondered what other TV shows she might fancy being in next time she pops over...

"Oh my God, there's plenty I'd want to be in!" she gushes. "I loved Fleabag – just loved it! And what's that other programme that's just like Cagney & Lacey? Scott & Bailey!"

"The actresses in that show are wonderful, although it's an absolute steal," continues Sharon. "They gave the Cagney character a mother, which we didn't have in our show. The mother was kind of a whore, and they named her Sharon! Thanks for the tip of the hat, guys!"

10 totally true FACTS about... Danielle Harold

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' LOLA...

1 Danielle Amy Louise Harold was born on 30 May 1992 in south London.

The star struggled at school, gaining just one GCSE. "I used to bunk off a lot," she shares. "I didn't understand maths and English, and was more into drama and sports. I fell ill during Year 10 and was in and out of hospital. At that point, I gave up and didn't try with GCSEs."

WORDS: ALICE PENWILL. PHOTOS: GETTY, TWITTER/DHAROLDOFFICIAL, TWITTER/LUKEWHITEOFFICWENN

3 Danielle joined EastEnders in 2011 as Lola Pearce

– the granddaughter of Billy. Lola started off as a troublemaker – even stealing her grandad's wallet at one point. She later fell pregnant after a one-night stand with her gay cousin, Ben, and gave birth to daughter Lexi. Danielle left the show in 2015 but returned in 2019. "It was my first job and I was terrified," admits the star on taking on the role. "But it was just amazing."

2 After school, Danielle worked as a waitress before taking part in Jamie's Dream School in 2011. The show enrolled struggling teens on courses taught by celebrity specialists, such as historian Dr David Starkey and actor Simon Callow. "It was either continue waitressing or do the show," reveals Danielle.

"I worried quitting my job would be a mistake, but it turned out to be the best decision I've ever made. Jamie was lovely." The actress thrived on the show, and even won a scholarship!

4 Danielle brushed shoulders with Hollywood stars while attending the glitzy 2018 Cannes Film Festival.

"It was one of the best experiences – I was in a queue to get an ice cream and Uma Thurman was in front of me," begins Danielle. "She dropped her wallet, and I picked it up and gave it back to her. I also saw an anniversary screening of Grease. I was dying, as Grease is one of my favourite films. John Travolta spoke to the audience and I ended up touching his hand!"

5 Danielle has always been tight-lipped about her love life, but in 2017 she was rumoured to be dating X Factor and Love Island star Luke White. The pair were pictured together numerous times – but it seems that she is now single.

7 Danielle is one of five British soap actresses to perform a labour scene live! Lola gave birth during an Olympic-themed episode of EastEnders in 2012 – which also saw Billy carry the Olympic torch. “It was the best day – the buzz on set was amazing,” grins Danielle. “But I didn’t see the torch – I was stuck in the chicken shop with my legs open! I had Ann Mitchell [Cora Cross] looking in my legs for two days during rehearsals.”

6 Between her Walford stints, Danielle has enjoyed movie roles. In 2017, she was in Fanged Up – a tale about a group of people who break out of prison during a zombie apocalypse. The star attended the Fright Fest Film Festival covered in fake blood to promote the film! The following year, Danielle starred in the thriller Two Graves alongside ex-EastEnders Katie Jarvis (Hayley Slater).

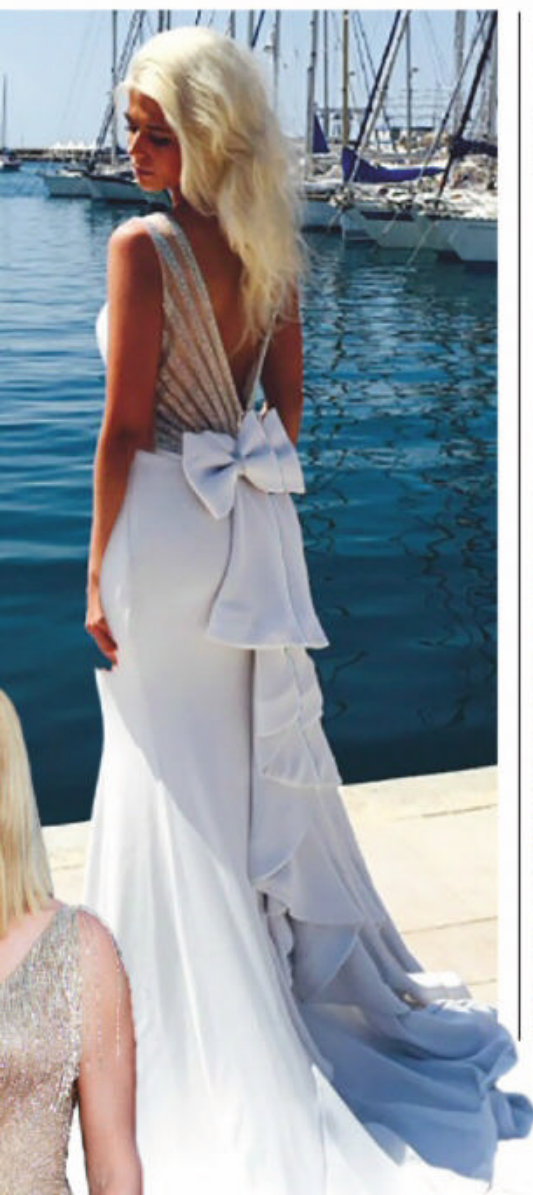

9 Danielle is addicted to caffeine, and tells us that her habit hasn’t gone unnoticed by her colleagues. “I drink about three Red Bulls a day!” laughs the actress. “I’m renowned for it on the EastEnders set – although I know that it’s really bad for me.”

8 Viewers and critics have praised Danielle’s performance as Lola. In 2012, she won Best Newcomer from TV Times and the All About Soap Best Baby Drama award in 2013. The same year she was also shortlisted for two Inside Soap Awards, and a British Soap Award in 2014.

10 Despite her good looks and crop of platinum hair, Danielle was in disbelief when she was nominated for Sexiest Actress at the 2014 British Soap Awards. “I get a lot of attention as my hair’s so bright – I’m like a human light bulb,” laughs the star. “I’m not sexy at all. It was so embarrassing. At work I can’t get my nails or hair done, and my roots are down to my ears! So when I heard I’d been nominated I just laughed.”

LORNA LAIDLAW

Corrie's Aggie Bailey

...faces your questions!

Weatherfield's Aggie is used to keeping her wayward family in check – but can star Lorna keep her cool as she answers our probing reader questions?

“Who is your best friend in the Corrie cast?”

That's tough – it's such a huge cast. The person I spend most of my time with is David Neilson [aka Roy]. We're often in that café together! I'm good friends with Stirling [Gallacher, aka Paula], who I know from Doctors, and Jane [Hazlegrove, aka Bernie], because I share a dressing room with her – we just laugh like drains!

“Who is your best friend in the Corrie cast?”

“You seem to play characters related to the medical profession – do you think you'd be any good at it in real life?”

That's really funny! I've climbed up the ranks, because I was a receptionist to begin with, and now I've worked my way up to a nurse! But my niece is a nurse, and I literally bow at this woman's feet, as I think it's a very thankless profession.

She's incredible, and I think anybody who does anything in the medical profession absolutely deserves a little hero badge, because it's not easy. I'm constantly inviting her round mine for lunch, because I know medics never have the time to eat properly.

Tembe job: Lorna has experience in playing medical roles

I'm going to be really honest with you, it's not very often people recognise who I am. The wigs are my friend! But just after I'd left Doctors, I was in the bank, I walked up to the desk and this woman literally screamed, “Oh my God, it's Mrs Tembe!” I've never felt so embarrassed before! I went, “Shhhhhh!” I didn't know where to put myself. She was so excited! I think it's also that thing of people not actually realising that people from the telly have to go to the bank! They don't expect to see you in places like that, and they can't quite get their heads around it.

“Who would you rather go on a night out with – Aggie or Mrs Tembe?”

Both, but for very different reasons! I'd like to get Mrs Tembe drunk – I think she'd be a bit wrong, ha, ha! And Aggie I'd like to go out with because I know that she'd drink me under the table. She'd absolutely be the life and soul of that party. I'd sit and observe Mrs Tembe, as you know she'd hit the deck first. Aggie would be putting everyone into a taxi at the end of the night.

Bailey watch: Lorna with her on-screen family

Funky beats:
Lorna loves dancing
to Bruno Mars

“What track gets you up and dancing on the dance floor?”

Anything by Bruno Mars. Have you seen that video of the New York policemen doing the dance to Uptown Funk? I was thinking, how amazing would it be to do that down the corridors of Corrie? Wouldn't it? With everyone coming out of their dressing rooms and singing and dancing!

“Did you put any of your own touches to the house?”

“You’ve said that your mum is a big Corrie fan. Would she fancy a cameo?”

Oh my God, my mum would fall over herself to do that! She did a little cameo on Doctors, where all she had to do was sit with a magazine so you can just see her face. But she was so nervous, she put the magazine right up in front of her face! You could see her little hands shaking! And they very kindly, without her knowing, had filmed her getting direction, and rehearsing – so we had all the grandkids and great grandkids go to her house, and we all watched it together. She is the cutest woman ever!

“Have your real-life sons and on-screen sons met each other yet?”

No, they haven't, because I live in Birmingham, but I'm filming Corrie up in Manchester. They are very similar ages, my boys and my on-screen family. I need to sort out a family dinner! My boys have been up for a quick visit to Manchester, but we really need to make this happen at some point.

Born bright: Lorna shares a dressing room with pal Jane Hazlegrove

Home improvements:
Lorna made her own contributions to the Bailey house

“Did you get to put any of your own touches to the renovation of the Bailey house?”

Yes, I did! My biggest thing was that the house had to be modern, it needed to have wooden floors, a wood burner, as these are all things that people aspire to now. They've come from Alderly Edge with a massive house and a big garden, so they'd want somewhere lovely to sit. I also thought it was really important to get a sense of history with this family, so there's pictures on set of my mum – there's one when she was 20 in Jamaica at a wedding, and there's another lovely one of my mum and dad getting married.

And there's a picture of my great uncle, who's just turned 100! The other thing you'll notice about the Bailey house is it's never quite finished, because Ed's too busy doing everyone else's houses...

“Do you have any hidden talents?”

I have just started doing a pottery class – and it's amazing. When I first started, I made this little egg cup, which was so rubbish. But the great thing is you can just squash it, and put it in the bucket and start again. So the next time I just threw the clay at the wheel, and I made this pot that was so fantastic – I thought it must have been the biggest fluke ever! But then I went back the next week and made another one. I've made coasters, and I've just finished this massive platter. I also taught myself to crochet, just because I wanted to. I love YouTube!

“What would be your dream storyline?”

...asks reader
Alexandra from Derby

I actually think it would be fun to see Aggie going to a pottery class – she could bring Roy! And he would turn out to be a great potter, it's probably one of those things that he's been doing for years and never told anybody about. They could recreate the scenes out of Ghost – that would be hilarious!

LYSETTE ANTHONY
DETERMINED TO BRING SOME
CONTINENTAL
HOLLYOAKS...

Say fromage: Lysette smiles for the camera with co-stars Owen and Niamh

I'm going on strike if they take the Salon De Thé De Marnie away from me – they'll have to pull me out of there by my feet!" declares star Lysette Anthony, as we chat about her alter ego's new business venture. "It's just absolutely brilliant working there – and what's so delicious about it, quite literally, is those cakes. I've got to stop eating them! As soon as we go into the Salon we can really play with the comedy, and I'm loving it."

Presiding over her pride and joy definitely suits Marnie, but she's going to be knocked from her perch this week as she pursues Tony's dad, Edward. Smitten Marnie is delighted when he comes to her rescue at the Salon, yet little does she know that Edward is only trying to make Diane jealous...

"Marnie's hosting a music recital, and we've already seen that Edward is a proficient cello player," explains

Lysette. "She is one musician short of a quartet, and she manages to persuade Edward to play. She's just in a complete lather of love and excitement, watching her man with his bow, but Edward's being very wicked. Rest assured, though, whatever happens next, Marnie won't take it lying down."

Despite Marnie's troubles, Lysette tells us that she and Joe McGann – who plays Edward – get along fantastically on set.

"We have worked together a lot before, so it's a real joy," reveals the star. "We were husband and wife on [early 2000s ITV soap] Night And Day, and we did a play together following that too. We just have such an easy shorthand, and Joe's probably one of the best-read people I've ever had the pleasure of working with."

Voulez vous?: Marnie would love a spot of passion with Edward

With her love life falling short, it's lucky that Marnie has a big family support unit waiting for her at home. And they're even more united now that Juliet and Romeo have changed their last name from Quinn to Nightingale.

"Well, that was Marnie's idea, so she's feeling very pleased with herself," laughs Lysette. "Marnie just adores them, and I adore the both of them for real. They're both fantastic, and they're like brother and sister in real life. The other day Niamh [Blackshaw, who plays Juliet] was trying to have a little snooze and Owen [Warner, who plays Romeo] got the scissors out to pretend to cut her hair. He's very naughty!"

Now that Romeo is working as a waiter at the Salon, Lysette informs us that she's been trying to educate Owen in the art of speaking French!

"I'm constantly trying to teach him, but all Owen does is look at me with that charming smile and say 'Enchanté'," sighs Lysette. "But I've got a plan because Billy [Price, who plays Sid] wants to learn some more French, so I'm going to bring out their competitive spirit with one another."

The Nightingales may be more united than ever right now, but Lysette warns that their happiness isn't set to last long.

"Unfortunately, I think there's trouble ahead," she sighs. "Marnie refuses to see bad in Juliet, which is probably a mistake! The drugs story is so important because of what's going happening on our streets, and Niamh is just superb!"

"Plus, our resident drug dealer Connor [Calland, who plays Jordan] is just as charming off camera too," adds Lysette. "So at this precise moment, all is fabulous in Marnie's world – which, as we know, means it's all going to go horribly wrong pretty soon!"

Alice Penwill

Marnie is one musician short of a quartet...

OOH LA LA!

Just like Marnie, Lysette is a sucker for all things Francais...

"One of my favourite places in France is Paris – I lived there many years ago and I worked in France quite a few times. I did a French course there, which was completely immersive and very hardcore!"

"Something I admire about the French is how protective they are of their own language and their way of doing things. Plus, their sense of style is just a treat!"

"France does have some very complicated named pastries, and the show's writers seem to be taking delight in finding tricky ones for me to remember! I managed to go through 17 takes recently, as I kept messing up on the complex culinary words."

"I also get to practise French at home too. My son's doing his GCSEs at the moment. I do love the language, so I must say it's a treat pour moi!"

"If I opened my own French patisserie, it would be called Salon De Thé De Lysette, of course! But to be honest, I could quite easily live on the French peasant food – bread and cheese."

We love these photos of EastEnders' Emma Barton (who plays Honey) dressed up to the nines – and possibly even the tens – as Breakfast At Tiffany's's heroine Holly Golightly. Perfect casting, we think!

It's all to support the charity Dementia UK and its annual Time For A Cuppa campaign, which raises funds for Admiral Nurses, who provide specialist support to families facing dementia.

Emma – who ran the London Marathon last year in support of the charity – was delighted to rally to the cause once again.

"Not only do I get to dress up as my hero, Audrey Hepburn, but also to do it in memory of my great uncle, who died from dementia," reveals the star.

"Admiral Nurses does such incredible work, and the Time For A Cuppa campaign is a really fun way to raise money with family, friends and colleagues – so I encourage everyone looking to make a difference to take part. Who doesn't like to go to a tea party?"

Time For A Cuppa week runs from 1-8 March, and if you would like to help Dementia UK by hosting a tea party, head to www.dementiauk.org to register for a fundraising pack.

There was a work's night out for the Corrie cast recently, as they screamed their way through Ghost Stories at Manchester's Lowry Theatre. Kate Ford and Alison King – who as Tracy and Carla are no stranger to grisly tales of murder and revenge – clearly enjoyed watching rather than taking part in the drama for a change, while Jimmi Harkishin (Dev), Jack P Shepherd (David), Colson Smith (Craig) and Ben Price (Nick) were also up for a spook. But the best reaction of the night goes to Sue Cleaver (Eileen) – we haven't seen a look like that since Pat Phelan suggested a nighttime stroll by the sea!

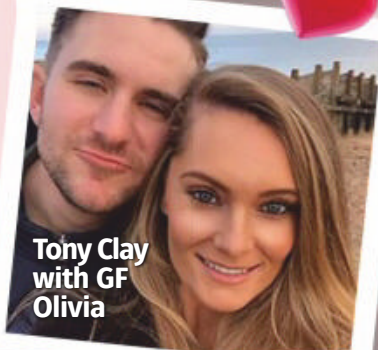

LOVE IS IN THE SQUARE

While the residents of Walford spent Valentine's Day on a sinking ship, real life was much more bouyant. Here are some snaps shared by cast members from date nights with their beloveds – and don't they look happy?

Best of all was Rob Kazinsky (Sean Slater) wishing a Happy Valentine's Day to his "true love" – pizza! "You never judge me, and you're there for me in the middle of the night," he posted. "Even when you're cold in the morning, you still love me." Aw. Even Linda's voicemail to Mick was less heartfelt than that!

We love a cute soap baby, and right now, the sweetest smile around belongs to Reggie Speed, the four-month-old son of Hollyoaks' Rory Douglas-Speed (Joel) and Nadine Mulkerrin (Cleo). Whether at the pool with his mum "splashing like a giddy kipper" or dressed as a "wee Scottish Peaky Blinder", as Rory puts it, we could just eat him up!

Bag of nerves:
Laura is in the frame for killing
Andrew

LIAR | ITV MONDAY

The last time we saw evil Andrew Earlam, he was lying dead in the Kent marshes after wreaking havoc on his seaside town. The renowned surgeon was found guilty of 19 cases of sexual assault, with local primary school teacher, Laura Nielson, among his victims – so it's no wonder someone wanted him dead!

However, now the case is turned on its head, with Laura in the midst of his murder investigation as the main suspect. Yet given that many people wanted Andrew to pay for his crimes, did Laura kill him? Or could the perpetrator be someone else?

"The first time we see Laura, she's relatively together and happy," explains Joanne Froggatt, who plays her. "But then very quickly, the police discover Andrew's body and Laura is under suspicion – along with every other character in the show! Laura feels really angry about the injustice of all that's happened to her, and she quickly switches back to her determined, forthright self."

There's a new face on the scene, too, with hard-talking DI Karen Renton – played by Katherine Kelly – brought in to take on the case. She doesn't give the suspects an easy ride, but is it just Laura who she has her eye on?

"You can't start off soft and go hard, you have to come in hard," grins Katherine. "Remember, Karen's job is to gather evidence, not actually to find justice. Although you'll see her accusing Laura on screen, what you don't see is Karen telling everyone else she thinks they've done it, as well! She's just like a bowling ball. She has to get a strike, knock them all over – and then start. Her tactic is to accuse everyone behind closed doors."

And despite his character being killed off at the end of the first series, Ioan Gruffudd is back too, as we search for the truth behind Andrew's death.

"We see Andrew in flashbacks along with some new characters," explains Ioan. "We witness how Andrew became who he was, and more about Laura's path. In the first series, Andrew was hiding everything so well with his confidence and his charm. But when we see him on the run before he dies, Andrew's life is completely falling apart."

As DI Renton continues to delve into what really happened to Andrew, Joanne tells us that her character won't be sitting on her hands – she might be doing some investigating of her own, and she won't be entirely alone either...

"Laura is not one to sit on her laurels," reveals Joanne. "She's on her fight for justice. And even though Andrew's turned up dead, he's still haunting her and still affecting her life. He continues to control her life from beyond the grave. We're introduced to a new character, Winnie, as well as DI Harmon from last series – and all of these women feel the same as Laura. So we go back over those three weeks to see who did it. Who killed him? And who's the liar?"

Dracula

Like many other people, I watched Dracula over Christmas – one of our stars in Home, Youssef Kerkour, is one of the main guys in episode two, so I was looking out for my man on the boat! I often use Netflix to catch up on old stuff I never got around to seeing. It sounds ridiculous, but I've just been watching the second series of Happy Valley that I never saw – Sarah Lancashire is amazing!

There's an American show on BBC2 called Better Things, which is about a single mum of three kids, and it's a very gentle comedy that's beautifully done. There's also a US sketch show on Netflix called I Think You Should Leave, which is absolutely hilarious. And Stath Lets Flats is another one – Jamie Demetriou is incredible.

I have four-year-old twin daughters, so I tend not to go to the cinema any more. But I saw Little Women, which is brilliant, and I took my nephew to see The Rise Of Skywalker, which turned me into a giddy 10-year-old again.

Being in a US comedy would be a dream – Transparent was a brilliant ensemble piece that I would have killed to be in! And Arrested Development – I remember watching that and thinking, 'This is the apex of American comedy'.

When I was 10 or 11, my dad used to let me stay up and watch LA Law – that was such a huge deal as I could tell that it was an adult show, with adult content! It made me feel like a little man to be engaging with all that stuff, so I really remember that!

THE GREAT POTTERY THROW DOWN | More4 WEDNESDAY

WE WERE WORRIED THAT THIS ceramic-based series might have ended up a casualty of the great BBC/Bake Off split of 2016 – so we're very grateful to Channel 4 for giving it a new home. We're pleased to report that it hasn't suffered in transit either, as new host Melanie Sykes is fitting in seamlessly, while judges Keith Brymer Jones and Sue Pryke are the ideal mix of encouraging and critical. We're more fascinated by this show than by *Bake Off, too – we have a basic understanding of how to knock up a cake, but not how to sculpt a vase! So, this is like peering behind the magician's curtain...

“Maggie makes a mistake that we could all make...”

THE TROUBLE WITH MAGGIE COLE | ITV WEDNESDAY

JULIE HESMONDHALGH AND DAWN FRENCH STAR IN A DRAMA WHERE LOOSE LIPS SINK FRIENDSHIPS...

The coastal town of Thurlbury is a quiet, picturesque sort of place, where nothing out of the ordinary ever happens. Well, unless you get Maggie Cole a bit tipsy and ask her some probing questions...

In this new six-part drama, Dawn French stars as Maggie, who's delighted to be invited to do an interview for local radio to promote Thurlbury's upcoming anniversary celebrations. However, after the unscrupulous journalist plies her with free drinks and starts asking her about local life, Maggie says a lot of things about her fellow residents that she really shouldn't – which makes the party she throws to celebrate the transmission of her interview really awkward.

We caught up with Dawn and Julie Hesmondhalgh, who plays Maggie's best friend Jill, during filming, to find out more.

Dawn, what was the appeal of this project for you?

Dawn I just thought it was a good idea for a central conceit – somebody makes a mistake that we could all make, then she's betrayed by the person who interviews her. She enjoys the moment when she matters a lot and somebody is listening to her, and she gossips. However, because of that brief little flirtation with gossip, her world falls apart. Maggie has to apologise – and she's somebody who wouldn't ordinarily be comfortable apologising...

Jill is one of the people who's particularly hurt by everything Maggie says, isn't she?

Julie I think she's always enjoyed the kind of person Maggie is – that friend who's just full of herself, a big fish in a small pond. And Jill gets that and loves her and accepts it. Jill's the deputy head at the school where Peter – Maggie's husband – works, and in the interview Maggie says something about Jill not being particularly bright, which I think is wrong, actually. I think she's pretty smart, and she's just someone who doesn't wear it on her sleeve. But it hits a nerve for her.

Dawn It's heartbreaking. Especially – and forgive me if this is a bit sexist – in women and in their very strong, best-friend relationships, it's just unthinkable to do that.

Maggie may: Her thoughtless comments cause heartache

And Maggie is an idiot for betraying her in that silly way, and she risks losing everything. When it all falls apart with Jill, to be given the cold shoulder is devastating for Maggie.

How does it end up affecting their friendship?

Julie It really cuts deep for Jill – for a friend to say it publicly. To say that she doesn't think I'm up to the job of taking over from Peter when he eventually retires, it causes a lot of pain. That's the betrayal.

So Maggie and Jill are set to have a tough time on

READY STEADY COOK | BBC1 MONDAY-FRIDAY

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

RYLAN CLARK-NEAL RUNS AN ECO-CONSCIOUS KITCHEN AS THE COOKING COMPETITION RETURNS...

Feeling hurt: Jill can't forgive Maggie for her words

Captain cook: Rylan takes over on hosting duties

Good news for red tomatoes and green peppers alike: Ready Steady Cook returns to our screens this week, after a 10-year break. The hardest-working man in showbiz, Rylan Clark-Neal, is the new host – and he tells us that he's honoured to be working on a show he always loved to watch.

"It was on throughout my school years," he recalls. "I'd just be getting home and Ready Steady Cook would be on, and it was my marker for 'Oh, dinner soon!' I don't know if it's just the way I've been brought up, but when the BBC asked me to do the show, the first person I rang was Fern [Britton, the original host] and the second was Ainsley [Harriott, who took over from Fern]. They were both so lovely – they told me to make it my own. They're two tough acts to follow, but they've both been so supportive!"

Rylan's no stranger to a chopping board or a saucepan himself – he was a finalist in Celebrity MasterChef in 2015 – but he explains that his role in the show is to be the voice of the viewer.

"The whole point is me not being a chef and just being a helping hand," he says. "If I was a chef, and someone asked me

Steady on: People have to prepare food on that table, you know to grab the sumac, I'd go, 'Yeah, sure, there you go' – but I'm not, I'm like Jean at home, making her custard, so I'd say, 'What's that?', and you then get told, and it's like, 'Great, now I know'."

While the competitive set-up of the show is essentially the same, with two home cooks teaming up with a professional chef each for a head-to-head contest, the series has moved with the times and now places a greater focus on sustainability.

"All the ingredients that we have, whether they are in the pantry or come in the bag, are in season," shares Rylan. "We're really lucky to have filmed in Glasgow, because we have the fishery up there and so much other stuff available – it's always in season, which means we're not flying things in!"

Village people: The locals are set against one another screen – but did you both enjoy working together?

Julie Oh yes – Dawn's absolutely brilliant! I grew up watching French And Saunders and it's a part of my language, my comedy. So when you find out that you're going to work with someone like that, it's quite 'Oh my God'! And you don't know how it's going to be, because sometimes really big stars have a pane of glass between you and them. But I can say there isn't a bit of that! She's just who she is – incredibly welcoming and warm and engaged. It's a proper joy!

McDONALD & DODDS | ITV SUNDAY

THE ODD COUPLE

TALA GOUVEIA AND JASON WATKINS STAR AS MISMATCHED DETECTIVES IN A NEW DRAMA...

When hotshot DI Lauren McDonald arrives in Bath from the Met Police, she wastes no time in establishing herself as a force to be reckoned with. But there's one aspect of the new job that she hadn't quite prepared for: DS Dodds, an introvert who has spent the past 11 years behind a desk and has only just been let out on operations again. Can the two of them find a way to become an effective team? We caught up with Tala Gouveia and Jason Watkins, who play McDonald and Dodds...

What is it that brings McDonald to Bath?

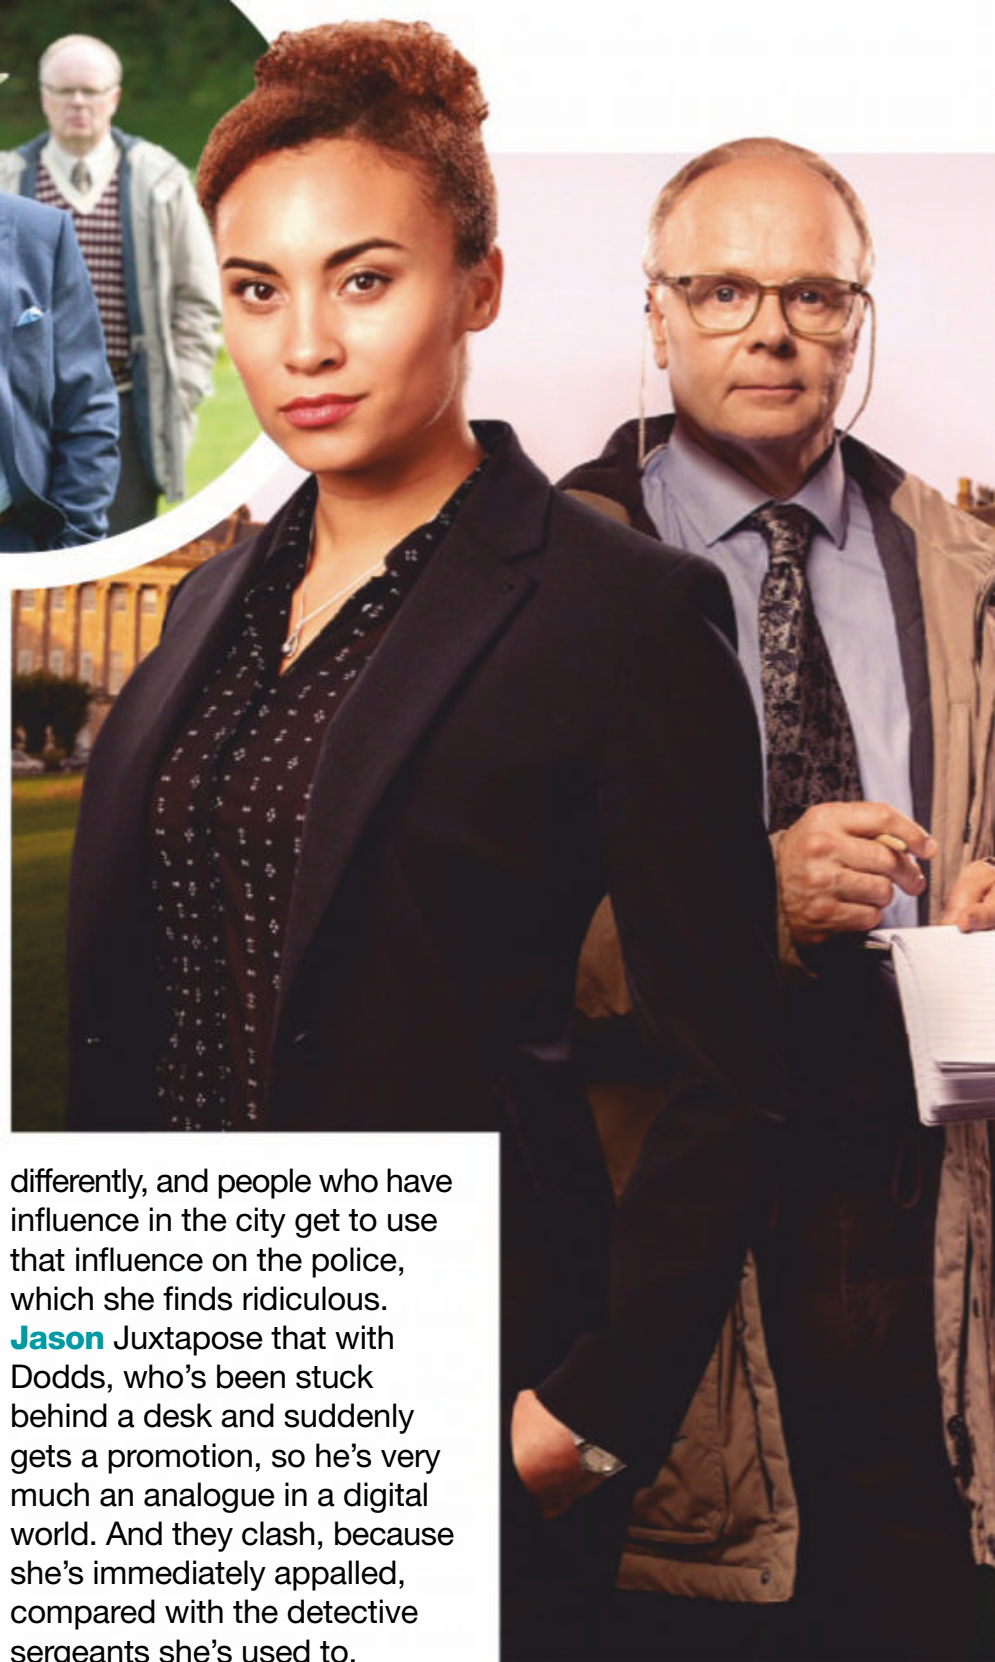

Tala The idea is that she's been given a promotion she perhaps wouldn't have had in the Met – she's leapt up the ladder a bit by taking a job in a quieter town, so it's a bit of a career move. But when she gets there, everything's a lot slower-paced, things work differently, and people who have influence in the city get to use that influence on the police, which she finds ridiculous.

Jason Juxtapose that with Dodds, who's been stuck behind a desk and suddenly gets a promotion, so he's very much an analogue in a digital world. And they clash, because she's immediately appalled, compared with the detective sergeants she's used to.

Dodds at odds: The DS is perturbed by the arrival of McDonald

SANDYLANDS | GOLD WEDNESDAY-FRIDAY

SHORE THING

NATALIE DEW AND SIMON BIRD STAR IN A NEW THREE-PART COMEDY...

The untimely death of her father, beachfront tycoon Les Vegas, in a pedalo accident sees 27-year-old Emily reluctantly summoned back to her childhood town of Sandylands. Luckily, star Natalie Dew, who plays her, didn't have to do too much research into seaside life...

"I grew up in Devon, so we'd go to the sea every weekend!" she recalls. "An amazing memory I have is going to a charity shop in a weird fishing village. In the shop there was a jar with an oyster in it for 50p – my mum thought we should get it, and when we opened it, there was a pearl in it! She Tala But you can't help but warm to him!

Why was Dodds behind a desk for so long?

Jason He's spectacularly dull! He's been doing cold cases, basically, and someone has gone, "Oh God, what are we going to do with him? Let's expose him, and get him out". And there he is, with his analogue pen, writing it all down, but he's actually rather good at it – that's one of the joys. McDonald and Dodds realise throughout the series, as opposites, what the other is capable of.

How did you find filming in Bath?

Tala It's very rainy, that's the only thing!

Jason Surprisingly rainy! I know people always say this, but Bath is another character in the piece – it's beautiful architecturally, but it has this underbelly. In the first episode, we deal with an investor/industrialist, played by Robert Lindsay, who's very much in the higher echelons of Bath society. Yet there's also a drug element as well. That sort of thing is invisible, which is something to explore...

must have been a mermaid – I don't know how she knew."

On her return to Sandylands, Emily is reunited with familiar faces such as B&B-running neighbours Derek and Jeannie (David Walliams and Sophie Thompson) – as well as her childhood crush Nathan Wild, now a police officer.

"I think Nathan's missed Emily while she's been away," reveals Simon Bird, who plays him. "I don't know what's wrong with Emily, that she's been holding out for Nathan! But they obviously get on very well – who knows what could happen?"

THE TRIP TO GREECE | Sky One TUESDAY

NEAR MYTH

ROB BRYDON AND STEVE COOGAN TELL US ABOUT THEIR ESCAPADES AROUND THE GREEK ISLANDS...

Having gallivanted around the UK, Italy and Spain, Steve Coogan and Rob Brydon are back for a fourth series of The Trip: this time to Greece. And as they explain to Inside TV, there's a fictional angle behind their joint jaunt...

"We're mimicking Homer's Odyssey, which is the trip of Odysseus from Troy to Ithaca," explains Steve. "Like Odysseus, it's his journey home from the war – I end up going back to the home I used to live in with my ex-wife in the series, so it reflects that."

Although Rob admits that he still doesn't get to do any driving ("it works with our relationship that I would just sit there!"), it's not only about the car this time round, as waterways play an important part...

Myth adventure: Will Rob and Steve make a good impression?

"We did a lot of travelling by water, didn't we?" muses Rob. "I rather enjoyed that. We covered a lot of ground by different means."

"Yes, we drove a lot, we sailed a lot, and what was wonderful was that when we went across a big stretch of water, the car would be there waiting for us," remarks Steve. "It was like a very high-end driving holiday."

"And it's all arranged," grins Rob. "We just close our bags in the hotel room, and the next thing we know, it's in the next place."

"It's a bit like a school trip," agrees Steve. "And we're the star pupils."

"Well," interjects Rob, "we're actually the only pupils..."

LAST TANGO IN HALIFAX | BBC1 9PM

Relative tension

"We can't fall out, can we?" asks Celia of Alan at the top of tonight's episode, in the wake of her rather harsh words to Gillian. "No," Alan assures her, "and we're not going to." But we can't help feeling that there's something not quite right between them – it's not tension, exactly, but definitely a sense of two people who aren't as aligned as they once were. Still, if there's one guaranteed way to relieve the pressure on a relationship, it's having family come to stay, right? Er, right?

Maybe this isn't the ideal time for Ted's visit after all...

At least Caroline and Gillian are still getting on well. Gillian even suggests some places where "posh lesbians" might go to find a date – prompting Caroline to open up about Ruth.

DOCTOR WHO | BBC1 6.50PM

We've reached finale time once again, so expect nothing less than the fate of the universe to be at stake in this bumper-length adventure. As we've come to expect, details of exactly what's going down in tonight's episode are being quite closely guarded, but we do know that the Cybermen are on the march and determined to find the last remaining humans – which means that Graham, Yaz and Ryan are in serious danger. This is the sort of situation where the Doctor would be pretty handy to have around – but she's trapped and alone, so things are looking pretty bleak for all concerned...

THE SPLIT | BBC1 9PM

The parent trap

Our standing appointment with the divorce lawyers has been moved this week to make room for Chelsea v Liverpool on BBC1 tomorrow night, although if you're looking for spectacular gameplay and the occasional dirty tackle, it's hard to know which of the two is more likely to deliver. Mind you, on the basis of tonight's happenings, we're leaning towards The Split being your best bet...

Hannah's due an awkward conversation with Christie after the revelations at her anniversary party, and to make matters worse, she thinks Nathan has cottoned on to her affair. Things aren't much better at work either, as Fi and Richie fail to reach terms over custody of the kids, prompting a potentially damaging confession from Fi.

ST DAVIDS - BRITAIN'S SMALLEST CITY | ITV 8PM

With a population of just 1,841, St Davids in Pembrokeshire is the country's smallest city in terms of inhabitants and urban area (although the City of London squeaks ahead of it if you define a city in terms of local authority boundary area – thanks, Wikipedia!). Despite its relatively tiny status, it has enough stories and characters to fill six half-hours of telly, hence this light-hearted series taking a look at events in the city last summer. With tourist numbers on the rise as the temperature soars, St Davids is preparing for its busiest summer to date – but what does that mean for the local residents?

Welcome to the Royal Preston Hospital's award-winning Maternity Unit, where nearly 4,500 babies make their entry into the world every year. This new six-part series follows the staff and a handful of patients through the arrival of a new generation, and we open with dance teacher Ashleigh, who has her hopes pinned on a more relaxing water birth after the traumatic delivery of her first child – will it all go to plan?

BLUE BLOODS | Sky Witness 10PM

The Reagans return for a tenth season of law enforcement this evening, and the premiere also happens to be the show's 200th episode. To mark the occasion, Danny and Baez return to a year-old homicide case, and Frank helps out his ex-partner.

DR RANJ: ON CALL | ITV 7.30PM

Medical marvels

This Morning's resident doctor sets out to get us all taking more control over our physical and mental health in this new four-part series. There's a lot of misinformation out there (and the vast increase in people using the internet to self-diagnose hasn't necessarily helped on that front), so Dr Ranj and his co-presenter Kylie Pentelow will be helping us to tell the facts from the fakery, and bring reports from the medical front line to reveal the latest breakthroughs in treatment.

In tonight's opener, Dr Ranj goes out on call with the West Midlands Ambulance Service and finds out more about the day-to-day reality of their work, while Kylie heads to Milton Keynes to learn about a major development in keyhole surgery.

BEN FOGLE: MAKE A NEW LIFE IN THE COUNTRY | Channel 5 9PM

For the final episode of the series, Ben's off to the Malvern Hills in Worcestershire to find out how things went for Hani and Sarah, who left London life behind to pursue their dream of starting their own brewery. As a finance executive and a teacher respectively, neither of them had any prior experience of the beer industry, so it was quite the gamble to invest their life savings into building the brewery inside an old chicken shed – especially since they had a limited amount of time to get up and running. Will the couple confirm that it was all worth it, or has the beer business gone flat for them?

TIGERS: HUNTING THE TRAFFICKERS | BBC2 9PM

Tiger feat

It feels a little strange for us to describe a programme as harrowing and sickening, and in the same breath to urge you to watch it with every fibre of our being, but that's where we find ourselves here, as Royal Marines Commando Aldo Kane reveals the horrifying secrets of the illegal tiger trade.

Most people in the West are unaware of the threat posed to wild tigers by traffickers, who stand to profit handsomely from illegal (and highly prized) products such as tiger-bone wine and tiger-bone glue – and despite the best efforts of campaigners, legal loopholes are letting them get away with it. But here Aldo shows the true horror of what they're up to, as he covertly films at illicit tiger farms in Southeast Asia.

At Bristol's Royal Hospital for Children, a team of specialists has assembled to tackle the country's growing child obesity problem by addressing all of the potential causes, whether they be social, medical or emotional – and that includes working with the parents, as well as the kids themselves. This documentary follows three patients who have reached the point where serious intervention is required: Tommy, who at age 14 is weighing in around 23st, five-year-old Liliana who is double the average weight for her age, and 15-year-old Harry, whose weight has led to the collapse of his hip...

ZOEY'S EXTRAORDINARY PLAYLIST | E4 10PM

We love a good high-concept sitcom, so this one is right up our street: computer coder and total introvert Zoey Clarke has the misfortune to be undergoing an MRI scan at the moment an earthquake happens, which somehow causes the massive playlist of the MRI technologist to be implanted in her brain. It also has the unnerving side effect of making her hear people's thoughts in song form...

AVENUE 5 | Sky One 10PM

Good news: this sci-fi comedy has already been renewed for a second season. Hurrah! Slightly less good news: they're being unusually stingy about revealing what happens ahead of each episode, so we can't tell you what's in store. Boo!

FINDING JOY | W 10PM

Things are looking pretty good in Joy's life, but that seems set to be short-lived after she has an encounter with the freshly recovered Flora. Throw in a hot yoga class that leads to heat-induced hallucinations, and disaster seems inevitable.

NOUGHTS AND CROSSES | BBC1 9PM

Cross words

Considering there was a point seven years or so ago where big-budget adaptations of dystopian young-adult novel series were everywhere, it's a little surprising that we've had to wait this long for Malorie Blackwell's Noughts & Crosses books (first published in 2001) to get the dramatisation treatment – but better late than never, as far as we're concerned.

The setting for the series is an alternate reality where strict race laws keep the black ruling class (the 'Crosses') and the white underclass (the 'Noughts') as separate as possible. Needless to say, love between the two is explicitly forbidden, and that becomes a problem for childhood friends Sephy (a Cross) and Callum (a Nought), as they grow closer and closer...

DON'T Miss!

Separation anxiety

HUNTED | Channel 4 9PM

Getting separated from your partner on this show rarely leads to anything good, and sadly Frankie hasn't bucked that trend. After splitting up from Dan, she gets captured by the Hunters, who put pressure on her to sell him out – will she be able to withstand their psychological games? As for Dan himself, he's still out on his own somewhere in Cheshire – but that makes him even more vulnerable to the possibility of betrayal at the hands of his new friends. Meanwhile, in another move that previous experience leads us to advise against, Hayley risks returning home to Wigan to see her dog.

WAR OF THE WORLDS | Fox 9PM

Just to clear up any confusion, this isn't the BBC adaptation that aired at the end of last year, but an entirely separate interpretation. This one takes place in modern-day Europe, as astronomers detect a transmission from another galaxy that heralds the arrival of extra-terrestrial invaders who leave humanity on the brink of extinction. The cast includes Gabriel Byrne and Elizabeth McGovern.

DIRTY STREAMING: THE INTERNET'S BIG... | BBC3 6AM

...Secret is the full title of this documentary, which looks at the ecological impact of the streaming revolution and the proportion of the world's energy used by the internet. Beth Webb asks if more could be done using renewable energy.

GREG JAMES' SPORT RELIEF HEROES | BBC1 10.35PM

A question of sport

Over the years some stars have gone above and beyond the call of duty for Sport Relief – David Walliams in particular, who took on not one, but three swimming challenges (the English Channel, the Gibraltar Strait and the Thames). He's not alone, either – we were full of admiration for Davina McCall taking a 500-mile triathlon from Edinburgh to London that lasted seven days, Eddie Izzard taking on 27 marathons across 27 days in South Africa, Zoe Ball riding a bike from Blackpool to Brighton, and John Bishop cycling, rowing and running back from Paris.

Ahead of this year's telethon, Greg James meets up with the aforementioned stars to find out what motivated them to take on these feats of endurance, and what happened afterwards.

Small wonder

WILD CUBA: A CARIBBEAN JOURNEY | BBC2 8.30PM

Cuba lays claim to some of the most stunning wildlife in the world, much of which outsiders will never see – well, not until tonight, anyway. In this two-part series, Colin Stafford-Johnson gives us a glimpse of the creatures and locations that make this island so special, and tonight's episode features a close encounter with the bee hummingbird, the smallest bird in the world, and one which can't be found anywhere else on the planet. We'll also get to see the spectacle of thousands of crabs migrating en masse – a bit like the crowds at Gatwick Airport in the middle of July, but with more legs...

Berlin Stock Market crash of 1929, and detective Gereon Rath and his enthusiastic apprentice Charlotte Ritter look into the death of actress Betty Winter on a film set, in suspicious circumstances...

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

LUKE JACOBZ

(Angelo Rosetta, Home and Away)

IN It's been a long time since we last saw Angelo in Summer Bay, but he's on his way back! "It's been 10 years since I was last here, so I'm really looking forward to meeting all the new cast, and to see some old friends too," says star Luke. "I'm so excited that my first scene back is with Ray [Meagher, aka Alf]. We all have so much to catch up on! I'm thrilled to be part of the talented family once more." Late spring

JANE HAZLEGROVE

(Bernie Winter, Corrie)

IN Given how tough Gemma is finding it looking after her quads, she'll soon be needing the support of her own mum, Bernie. But can proud Gemma bring herself to admit that she's struggling to cope without Bernie's help? We can confirm that star Jane Hazlegrove has resumed filming on the cobbles, and we only have a few more weeks to wait for Bernie's return. March

LACEY TURNER

(Stacey Fowler, EastEnders)

IN Although Stacey has moved away from the Square with her new man Jerome, we know that she will return sooner or later, as actress Lacey Turner is only taking maternity leave. However, the star may want to delay her comeback for as long as possible, because she's enjoying being a new mum so much! "I think it will be hard to go back to work, as much as I'm looking forward to working again," she commented recently, having given birth to daughter Dusty last July. "I will miss Dusty, because you get so used to spending all day, every day, together. She's great company." Later in the year?

THE EX FILES

Your update on the one-time stars of soap...

SAMANTHA'S SPORT RELIEF CHALLENGE!

Ex-EastEnder Samantha Womack (Ronnie Mitchell) is undertaking a task for BBC One's Sport Relief: a four-day 100-mile triathlon across the Namib Desert in southern Africa. The original idea was to trek across a frozen lake in Mongolia, but plans changed due to the coronavirus.

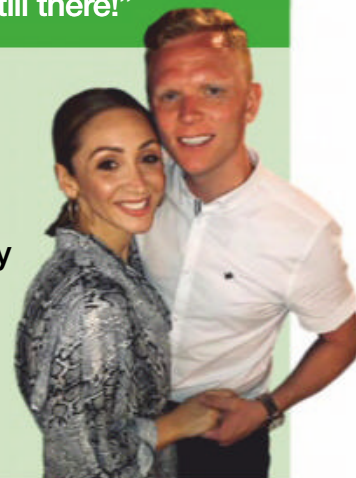

STAYING IN AMERICA!

Margot Robbie, who played Donna Freedman in Neighbours from 2008 to 2011, has spoken about her exit from the Aussie soap: "I told them I was moving to America, and then I asked if they would kill me off in like a really big dramatic way. They said no, because 'If things don't work out in America, we want you to come back and play the role again'. So my character also moved to America, and I guess she's still there!"

LUCY-JO'S FULL HOUSE!

Lucy-Jo Hudson (formerly Hollyoaks' Donna-Marie Quinn) has given birth to a son – her first with boyfriend Lewis Devine. "We are so in love with our baby boy!" posted the star on Instagram. "Our family is now complete!" The actress already has a six-year-old daughter, Sienna Rae, with ex-husband Alan Halsall (Corrie's Tyrone).

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

We don't know what they put in the water in New Zealand, but Peter Beale seems to have grown three feet taller. He's arrived in Walford like Hagrid at Harry Potter's house.

Do wobbly boats really store bottles of wine up on high shelves? Isn't that kinda dangerous? (PS. Drink responsibly.)

We don't think Mick has ever set foot in Dot's kitchen before. It was nice of him to dress to match.

Emmerdale's Dan could be to Mandy as Corrie's Ches was to Gemma. A completely lost cause... until she turned up.

Remind us why Nate's mum Cara isn't a Dales regular? She's the best new character in years!

BULLSEYE!

Of the many reasons to mourn the death of Dennis, what breaks our heart the most is losing the last link to our beloved Dennis Rickman – once equally cruelly despatched by the Story Gods of EastEnders – and to 'Shannis', the greatest soap romance of all time. It also means we'll never meet old Den Watts' great grandson, Dennis Jnr Jnr Jnr. How much more tragedy can Sharon take? How much more can we take?

We were amused by Neighbours' little anniversary tribute to EastEnders. We'll have a Linda Colada and a Wet Dennis please.

The Flanagan siblings are so talented they could have their own soap opera. Watch out, world!

We're not sure who looks more disapproving of Linda's carry-on.

We refuse to accept that Kevin Webster can possibly have a new bomber jacket. This beige imposter must surely be his old lilac one, faded by the sun.

Psycho rapist killer Pierce attempting to counsel Vanessa through her cancer diagnosis is some of the most twisted character interaction we've ever seen. Yuk!

If Cathy wasn't such a sweetheart, she'd be utterly terrifying.

Nothing says "I'm just not that into you" quite like "I'd rather stick with the bloke who killed a woman on her wedding day". It sure sucks to be Dr Ali in Maria's love triangle.

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists. We have been helping to combat the visible side effects of cancer treatment for over 20 years through free confidence-boosting skincare and make-up workshops across the UK and worldwide.
