Family Arrowwords Selection

Issue 24

Hello!

A very warm welcome to Family Arrowwords Selection. We've listened to what readers want and we're proud to present not only a whole host of regular arrowwords but also some fun variants to make things a bit different. There are ABC arrowwords, where you need to unscramble the clue letters to fill in the grid, and Quiz arrows, which include four general knowledge questions as well as regular clues. The Arrowfit is a challenging jigsaw-style puzzle where you have to fit the clue boxes into the grid before answering them, and last but not least, the Arrowcode puzzle is a fun cross between an arrowword and a codeword. Don't forget to enter our super £2,500 cash competition on page 13 – and see you next issue!

Arrowcode

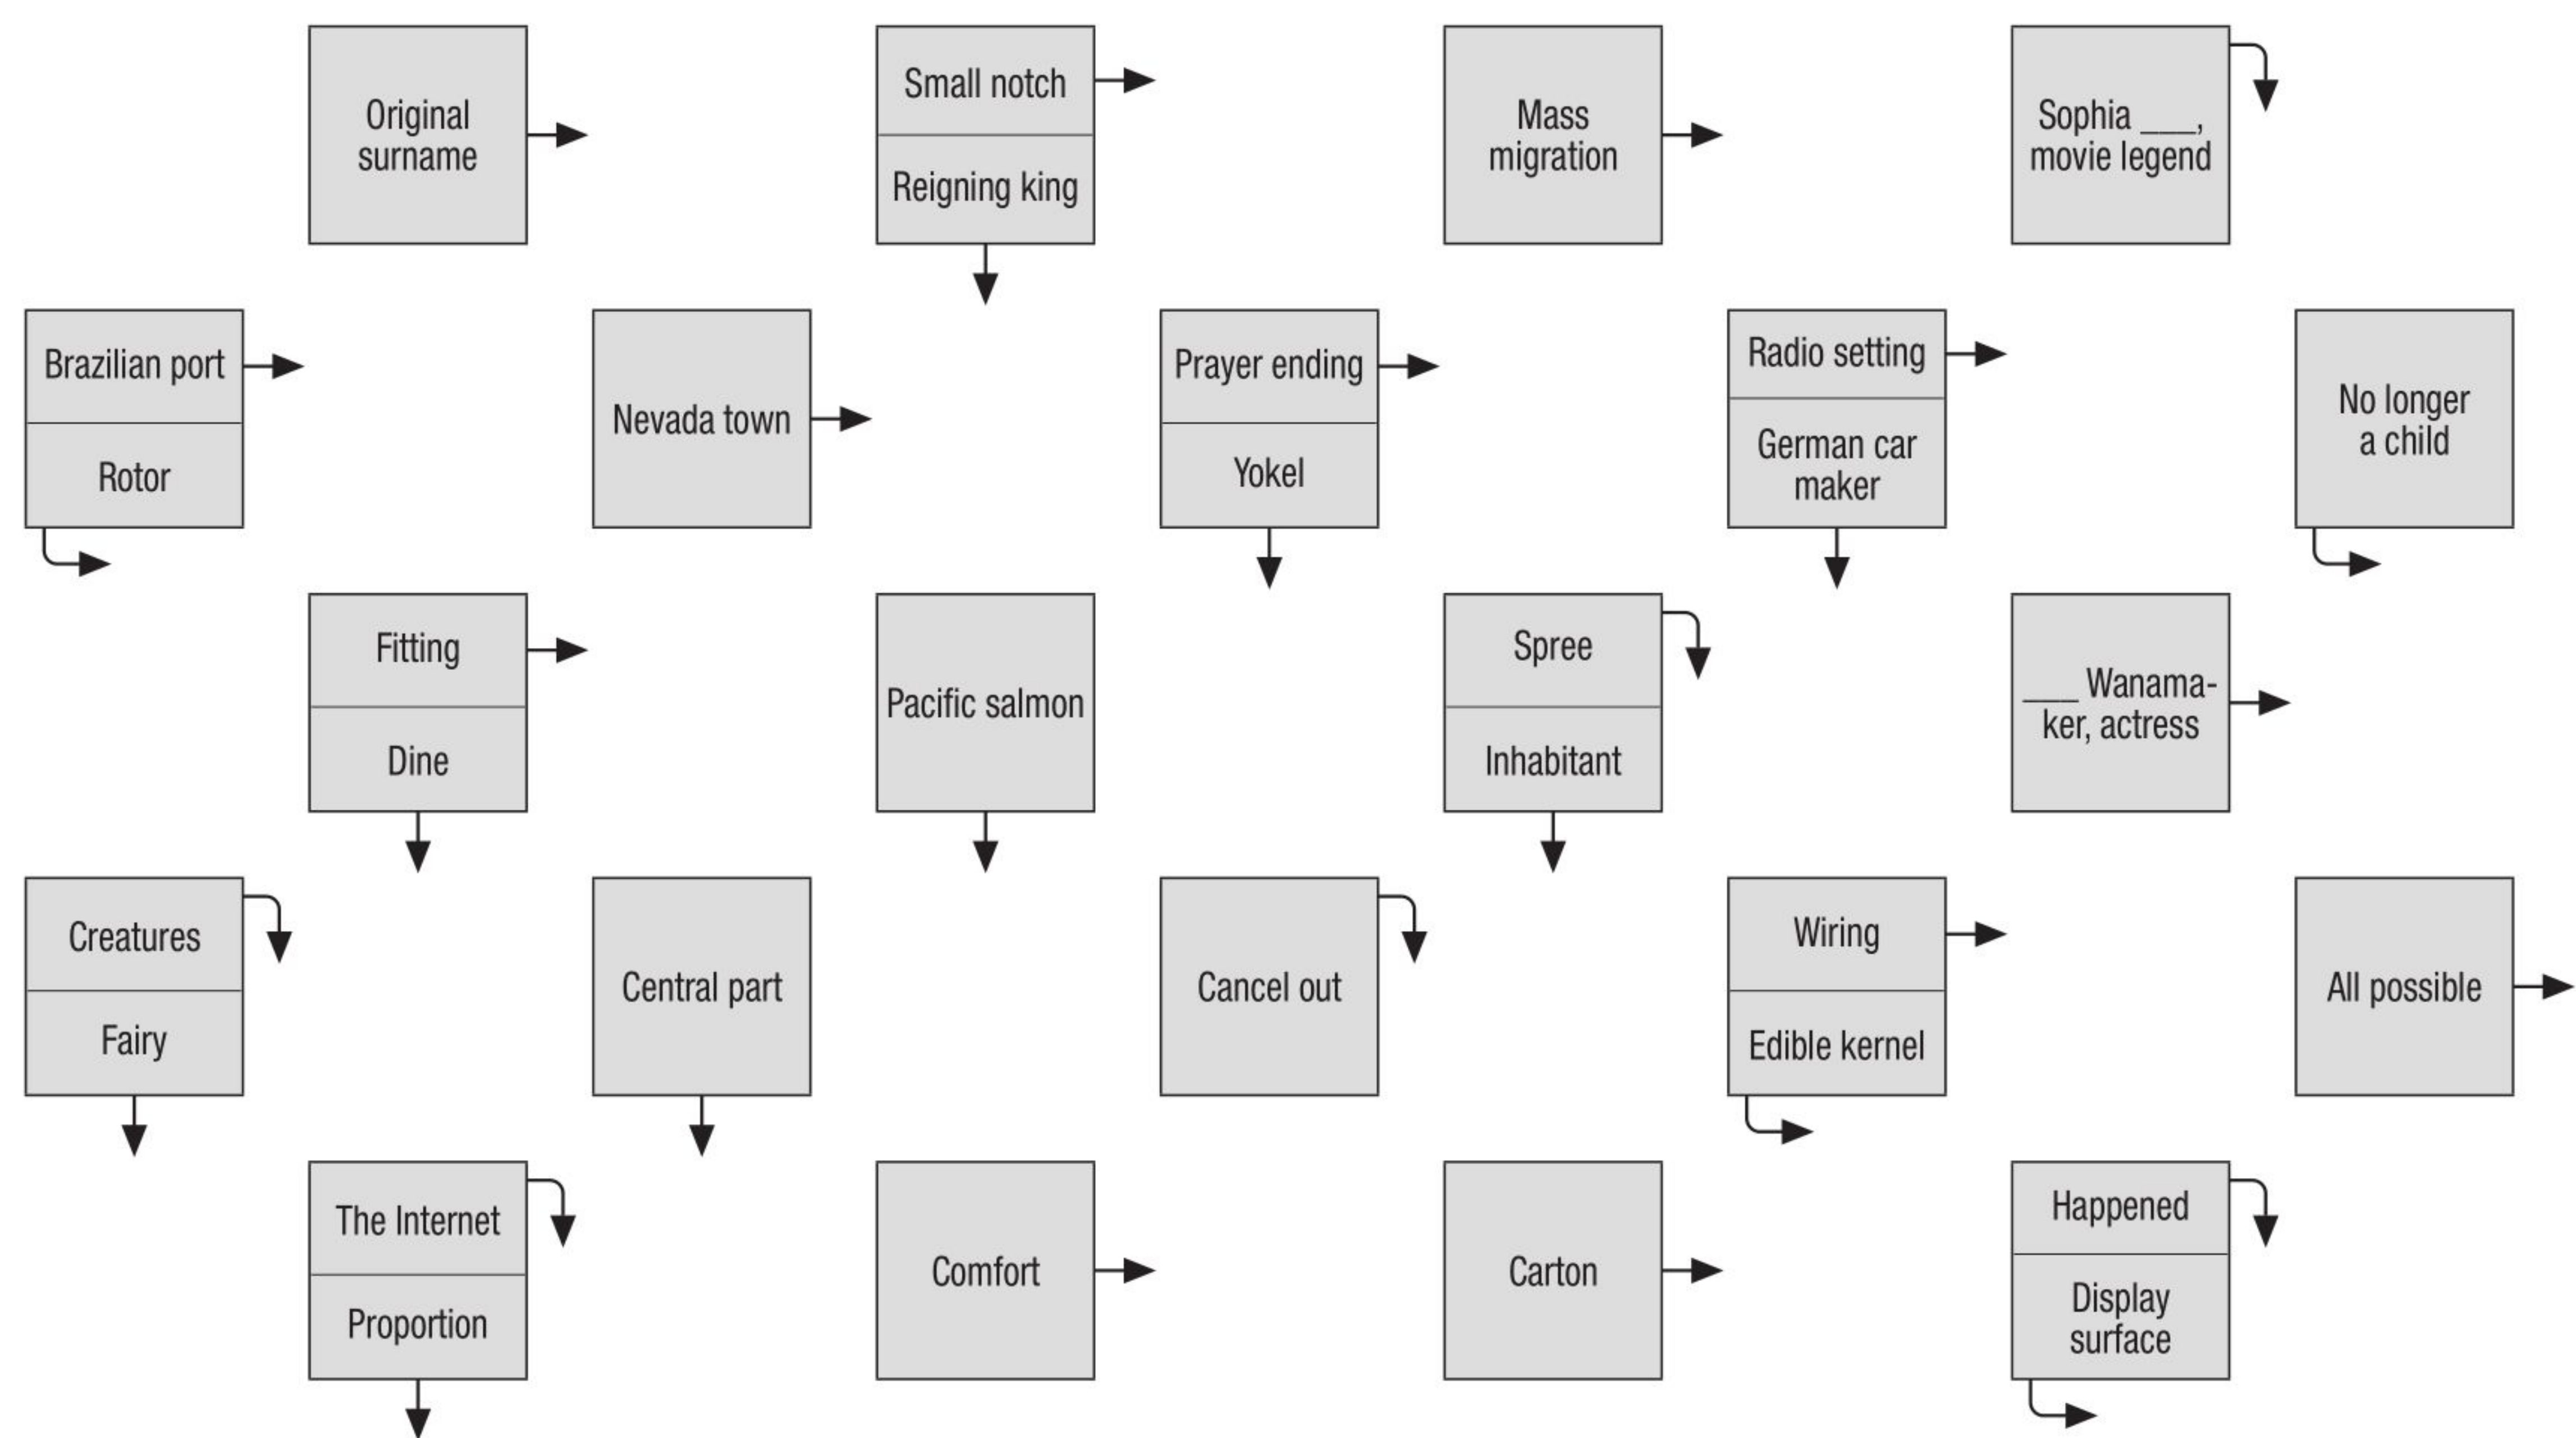

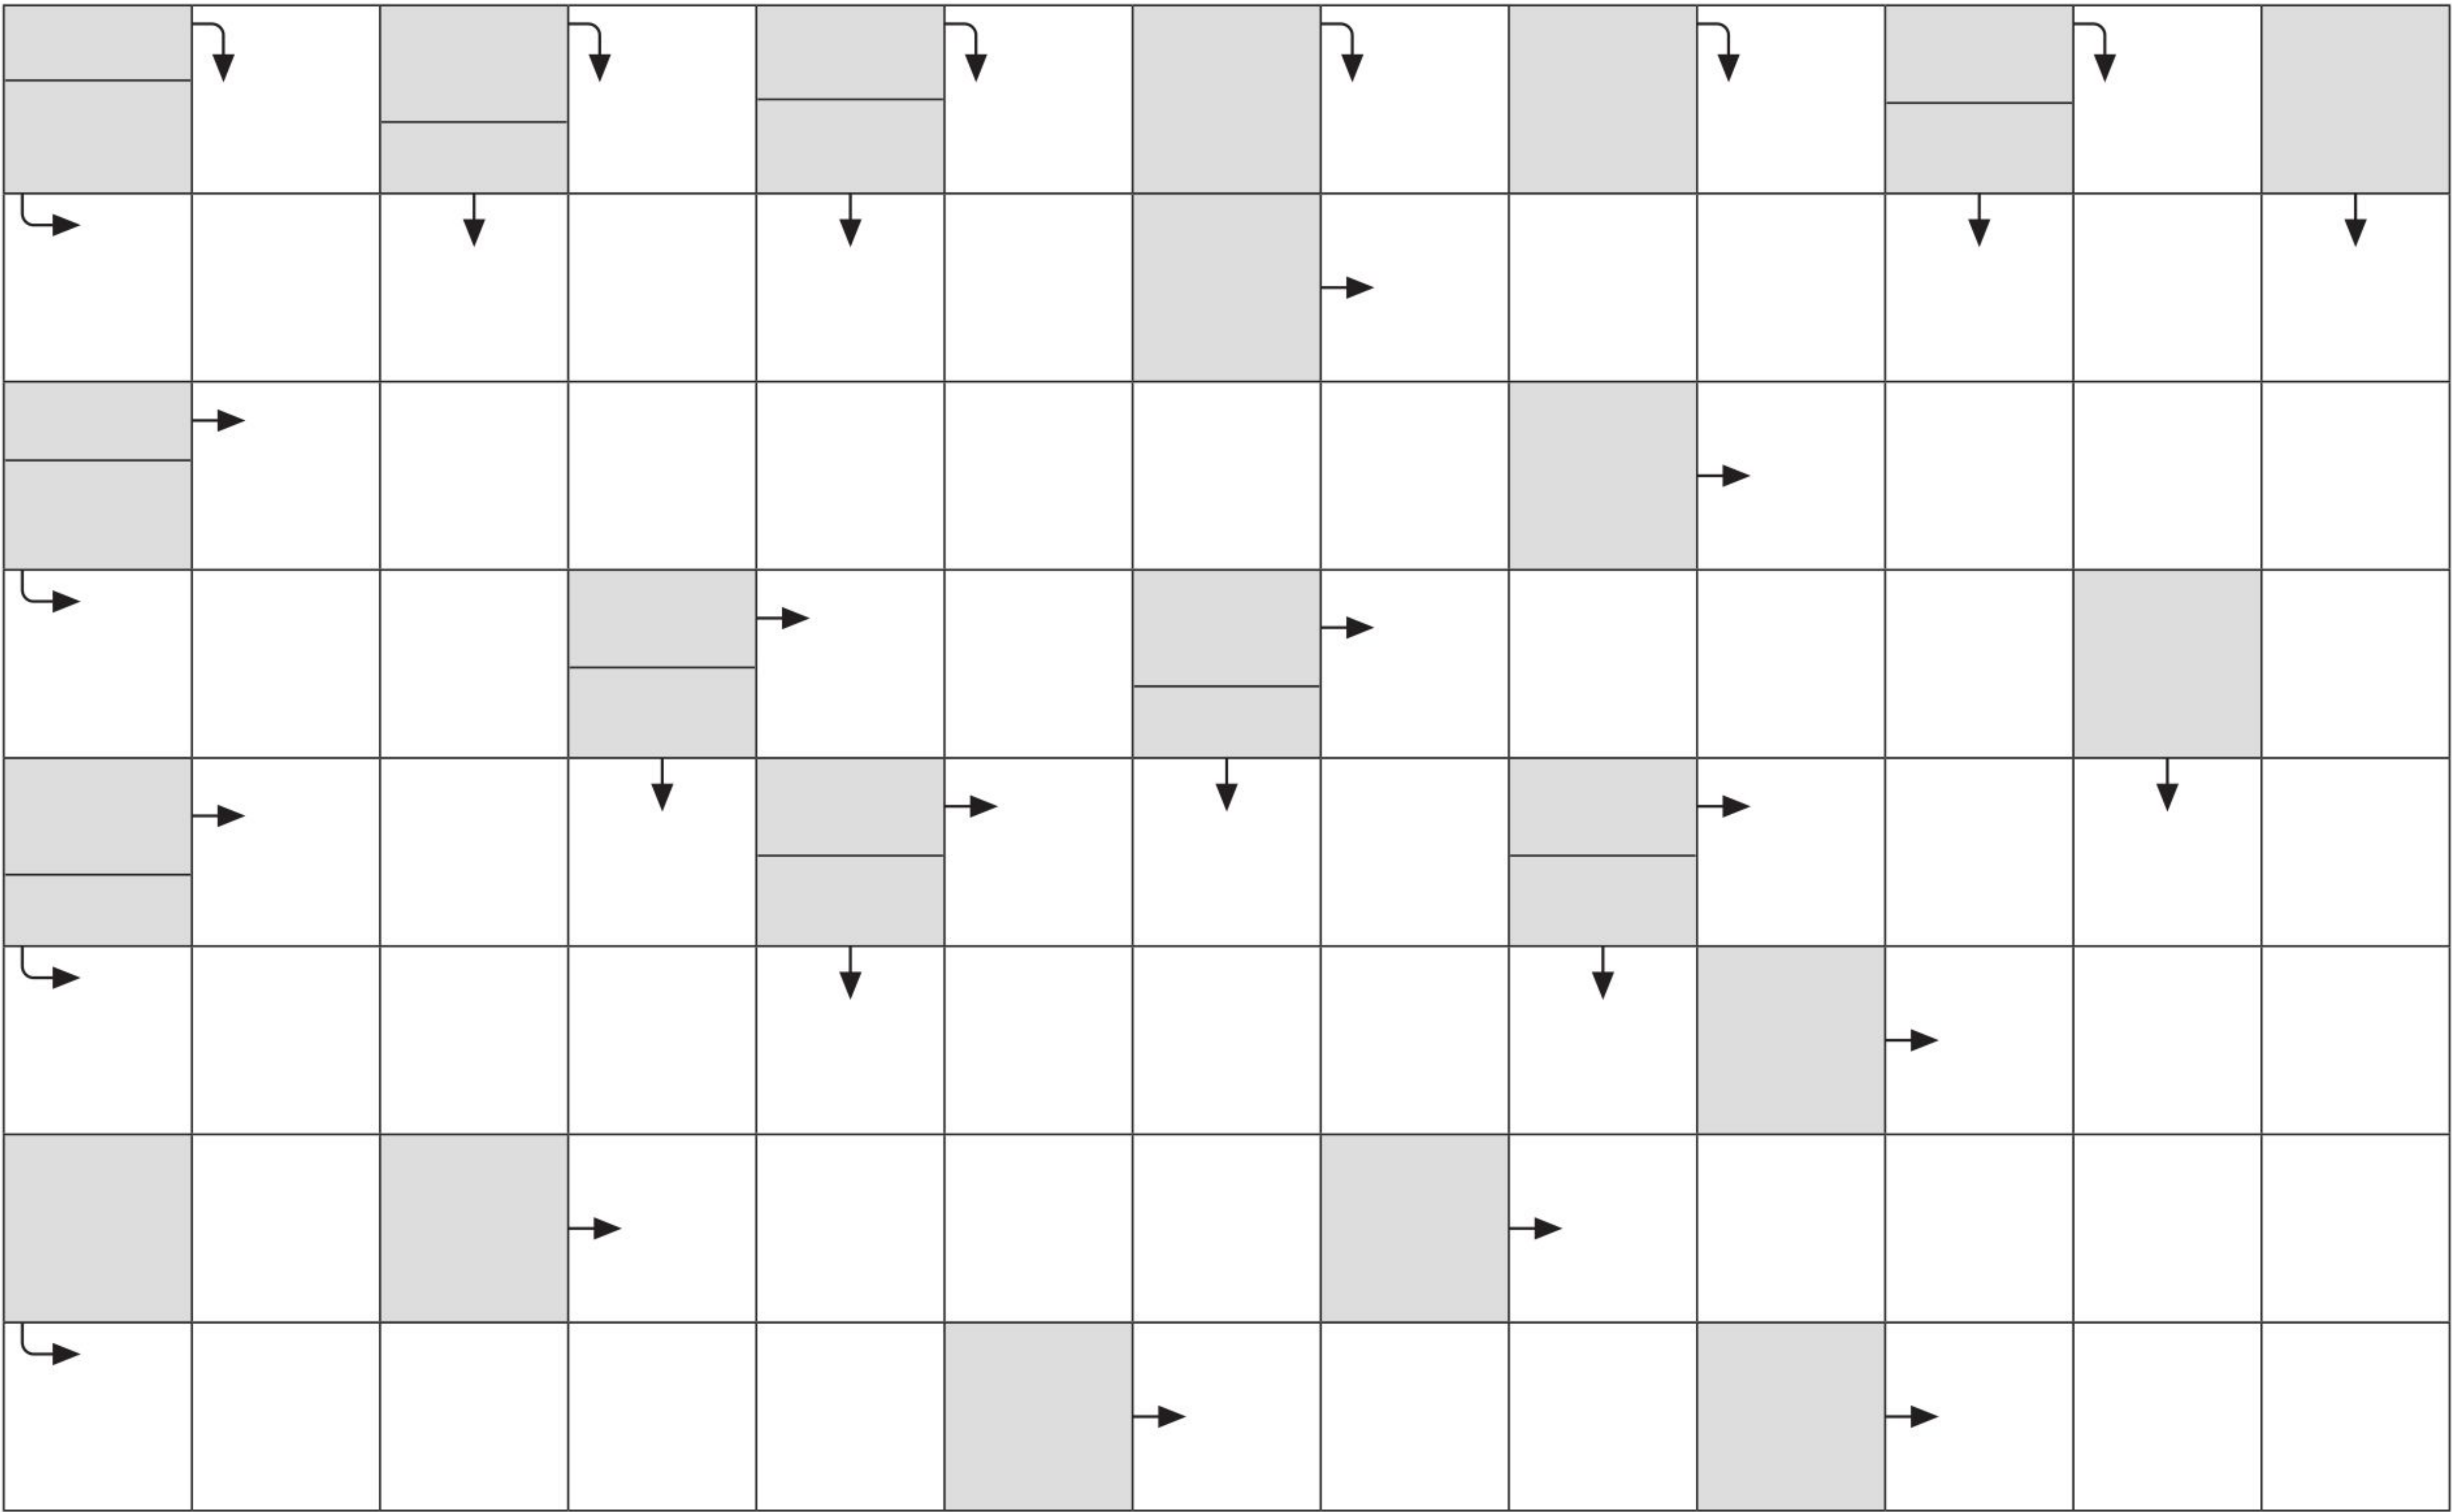

Is it an arrowword? Or is it a codeword? It's both! The answers in the bottom part of the grid have no clues, but their letters have been given a code where a number represents the same letter throughout. By solving the partially coded answers, you'll be able to start cracking the code and fill in the grid.

Arrowcode

Is it an arrowword? Or is it a codeword? It's both! The answers in the bottom part of the grid have no clues, but their letters have been given a code where a number represents the same letter throughout. By solving the partially coded answers, you'll be able to start cracking the code and fill in the grid.

Arrowcode

Is it an arrowword? Or is it a codeword? It's both! The answers in the bottom part of the grid have no clues, but their letters have been given a code where a number represents the same letter throughout. By solving the partially coded answers, you'll be able to start cracking the code and fill in the grid.
